Delegation of BiH Education Officials Visits Northern Ireland

Eight members of the Coordination Board for the Implementation of the Interim Agreement on Accommodation of Needs and Rights of Returnee Children and representatives of the OSCE Education Department left yesterday to Northern Ireland for a four-day study trip. The study trip is hosted by the OSCE Mission to BiH in cooperation with the University of Ulster UNESCO Centre .

During their stay the participants will visit primary and secondary schools and meet with representatives of the UNESCO Centre and Northern Ireland education authorities. The education system in Northern Ireland still largely reflects the two main cultural traditions. However, all schools receive state funding and must implement the common curriculum.

The main purpose of this visit is to observe best practices in the development of integrated learning communities and to identify potential solutions for Bosnia and Herzegovina 's educational system. It will also show how to design an education system that is more responsive, culturally diverse and that fits the needs and interests of all students in Bosnia and Herzegovina .

EUFOR

Harvesting a Safer Future

As a result of assistance from the BiH public, further unlicensed weapons were removed from local communities for safe disposal by EUFOR this weekend. Recovered as part of the Harvest Campaign run jointly by the Civil Protection Agency, Local Police and EUFOR, on Saturday in the towns of Poklecani and Hadzici, over 2500 rounds of ammunition and 14 hand grenades were received. On Sunday in the town of Doboj to the North West of Tuzla, a local man handed in a bag of 15 hand grenades to a collection point for safe disposal.

Excess illegal weapons and ammunition continue to cause accidents, frequently involving children. Like all accidents, these could be avoided. Anyone with information on the location of un-licensed weapons or munitions should notify their local police or the Civilian Protection Agency to ensure that they are safely removed and disposed of.

EUFOR praise the trust and support of the individuals that assist the local authorities in this matter and recognize such actions reflect to everyone the growing confidence that citizens place in both the safe and secure environment and the progress made in terms of stability and security by the BiH authorities.
