Election campaign officially started in BiH today, 45 days before the elections. At the initiative of SRT, a meeting took place between OSCE representatives and directors of press and media in Banja Luka today, which confirmed that there are still unclear things in regards to media-related rules and regulations. However, a two-hour meeting did not manage to resolve any of the dilemmas of its participants. A number of editors assessed that such an unclear situation would, eventually, lead to a number of misunderstandings in media presentation of political parties. The order of appearance of political parties and independent candidates on SRT will be known in few days. 2:01

The RS Government held a five-hour meeting today. Amongst other issues, including that of the work of regular courts and prosecutors' offices in the RS, the Government reaffirmed its earlier decision on the removal of editors and directors of 16 local radio and TV stations in the RS. According to Rajko Vasic, Minister of Information, the session described the decision as legal and as being aimed to ensure professional and objective reporting. Vasic went on to say that the Secretary- General of the RS Parliament had been tasked to investigate the misuse of a statement by Mirko Sarovic, the Head of the Legislative and Legal Commission, related to the recent decision by the RS Government.

According to representatives of the Serb Coalition for the RS, four political parties in the Coalition were not surprised at the decision of the RS Government removing directors of 16 local electronic media. They believed that this decision had put an end to the democracy here, and would make it possible for the ruling party to win the September elections easily. Lazarevic appealed to the IC to make sure that the information on financial support to RS political parties for their election campaigns should be made public. The Coalition appealed to the citizens in municipalities affected by the recent decision of the RS Government to resist and oppose the implementation of the decision. 1:19

The Spokesperson for the U.S. State Department, James Rubin, stated that the U.S. was now considering reports on the removal of directors and editors of local radio and TV stations in the RS, and that the reports indicated that some RS MPs had described this decision as being in violation of the RS Constitution. 0:46

SRNA reports that the RS Trade Union of Information and Graphic Business have described strikes of warning in some RS media which have started in reaction to the recent decision by the RS Government as unjustified, since personnel policy should not be the responsibility of the Trade Union. 0:26

President Plavsic met with representatives of RS invalids of war in Banja Luka today. 2:04

President Plavsic also met with representatives of SRNA news agency. Plavsic praised the professional work of the agency, and said that it was the backbone of the RS information system. Plavsic agreed that the agency should permanently be based in Serb Sarajevo, and that ways should be worked out to provide financial support for its work.
