Commenting on the RS Assembly session, RS Prime Minister Milorad Dodik said that the laws passed by the ousted Assembly on July 3rd, 1997 were void and added that for the following Assembly session the Government would spend a day preparing drafts to revoke the laws. Aleksa Buha, president of the SDS, informed press after the third Assembly session that two SDS deputies had voted for Banja Luka to be the seat of the newly appointed Government, because they and their families had been threatened. The Head of the Coalition for United and Democratic Bosnia, Safet Bico, stated yesterday in Banja Luka that the Coalition had decided to vote for Mr. Dodik's concept because the membership believed that such a concept supported the Dayton Agreement.

The RS Prime Minister and the Deputy Prime Minister, Mr. Djuradj Banjac, received a delegation from the Swedish Foreign Ministry in Banja Luka today and discussed the economic assistance that the Swedish Government intends to send to the RS. The RS Prime Minister assessed today's meeting as very important for future co-operation with the Swedish Government and the Embassy. This was the resumption of talks which had started in September 1997. Concrete assistance for the stabilisation of the economic situation in the RS was discussed. "We have defined the areas in the RS which will receive assistance from the Swedish Government. So this time the Sipovo area is highlighted, but we have also talked about the area of Ribnik," stated Deputy Prime Minister Djuradj Banjac.

Refugees from Serb Sarajevo currently accommodated in the Brcko area rejected any possibility of returning to Sarajevo and demanded that the Ministry for Refugees and the RS Prime Minister intensify negotiations with officials from the Federation about exchange or compensation for the abandoned property. At today's meeting they assessed that the former Government had not done enough for that section of the population, especially in terms of their status, housing, employment, health and social insurance.
