News Summary

Sarovic to act in capacity of RS vice-president until next elections

RS Vice-president Mirko Sarovic stated that he would only act in the capacity of vice-RS president until the next election in BiH. He added that he did not want to contribute to the destabilization of RS. He said that he wanted to assume presidential duties to enable the de-blocking of the RS presidential institution, but only if all RS political factors and the High Representative were accordant. According to Sarovic, "it is clear that there is no such accord, especially after the Sloga Coalition statement of 2 February. Sarovic concluded that one dilemma has been resolved, that is – the resolutions of key issues in the RS do not depend on the vice president of this BiH entity.

Ferguson holds press conference

OHR spokesman James Ferguson held a press conference in Banja Luka at which he stated that the fundamental obstacle to RS Vice-president Mirko Sarovic's assumption of presidential duties is the RS Constitution. Former High Representative Carlos Westendorp's request for Sarovic to take over presidential duties in 1999 was not in accordance with the RS Constitution even then, but the political climate was appropriate, said Ferguson. He added that, in case Sarovic had taken over the duties then, the High Representative would have used Article 10 of the Dayton Agreement to justify the move. Ferguson avoided answering why Biljana Plavsic was allowed to take over presidential duties from Radovan Karadzic when he was forbidden to appear in public. Commenting on BiH Council of Ministers Haris Silajdzic request for Dayton Agreement revision, Ferguson said that western countries and the OHR do not intend to rewrite the Dayton Agreement. In his opinion, the Dayton Agreement can only be changed if all the parties in BiH agree to change it. Ferguson stated that Silajdzic should first have presented his idea to the BiH Council of Ministers and BiH Parliamentary Assembly. He added that the IC does not dismiss those who criticize the Dayton Agreement but those who obstruct it. Commenting on a statement of BiH Presidency member Alija Izetbegovic, who said he would sooner be thrown out of the Presidency than allow any Bosniak to be evicted in Sarajevo, Ferguson said that the OHR had requested an explanation from Izetbegovic on this issue. The OHR spokesman expressed his concern over the fact that the RS Government did not adopt a memorandum on harmonizing taxation with the BiH Federation. He welcomed the resolution of the crisis in the Sloga Coalition.

OSCE and OHR issue joint press release

High Representative Wolfgang Petritsch and OSCE Head of Mission Robert Barry met with BiH parliamentary caucus leaders to discuss the BiH election law. The OSCE and OHR issued a joint release, stating that Petritsch and Barry invited all BiH parliamentary parties to give their position on democratic processes and reach a compromise that would lead to the adoption of the election law. Two years ago, the OHR and OSCE initiated a process with the aim of providing a modern and progressive election law in BiH. The first draft, signed by a group of domestic and foreign experts, was presented to the BiH Parliament in October 1999 and was considered in December. However, the parliament had then voted against considering amendments. The OHR and OSCE said they welcomed the effort of the SDP BiH, which offered a draft election law for discussion. With the aim of supporting the election law, the OHR and OSCE amended the first draft version by deleting the most controversial chapter. The imperative is for BiH to adopt the election law so that it can join the Council of Europe. The Council has set a 15 February deadline so that elections can be held in October using the new election law, said the joint OSCE/OHR release.
