Representatives in the RS National Assembly continued their discussion about the New York Declaration. They still have different opinions about the Declaration. The National Assembly announced they had serious doubts regarding offered solutions for the establishment of BiH border police, joint passports and joint military units for the participation in the UN peace missions. The Parliament asked these decisions should be made in accordance with the original provisions of the Dayton Peace Agreement. The report was produced by OB reporter from Banja Luka, Tatjana Lajsic.

Sarajevo

A piece on the session of the BiH Council of Ministers followed. The representatives agreed to have regular sessions in the following period in order to implement all tasks of the Council's programme of work. The next session is scheduled for Wednesday next week. Today, the representatives discussed suggestion of the Republic Croatia to continue negotiations regarding the trade agreement between two states. The report was produced by OBN reporter, Adis Saranovic.

BiH Federation Prime Minister, Edhem Bicakcic, and the RS Prime Minister, Milorad Dodik, met recently in Banja Luka in order to agree the new customs law which should protect local production. However, according to the BiH Constitution, the customs policy and taxes are responsibility of the BiH Council of Ministers. One of the BiH Council of Ministers member, Neven Tomic, said that prime ministers wanted to show that they were more efficient than BiH joint institutions, although they did not achieve any concrete results. The report was produced by OBN reporter, Damir Kaletovic.
