Should the law gain support by the House of Peoples tomorrow, its adoption will be followed by its publication in the official Gazzette. The adoption of the Law on Privatisation of Companies and Banks in BiH, the most discussed issue at today's session, was postponed for the continuation of the session. Despite prior announcements that the issue would be solved by the end of day, the solution is yet again delayed until tomorrow. Hajric was then quoted as depicting the fact that Krajisnik refused to discuss the matter the main reason for the delay. Ivan Prskalo, Vice Mayor of Mostar sent an open, sharply-worded letter to all relevant international organisations, excerpts of which were read out: "I warn you that with your activities, especially lately, you have lost credibility and authority in the city of Mostar. With political farces that you organise and the consequences of which are disastrous for sovereignty, constitutivity and equality of Croat people, you want to... humiliate us. Your empty intentions to reach and sign an agreement on return are meaningless and empty, when in spite of the agreement and participation of Croat representatives you realise (refugee) returns in practice..." Referring to the recent return of Serbs to Ortijes, Prskalo continued: "You say that Annex 7 gives them the right (to return) and that nobody has any rights to condition the return. I agree. But, with your activities one or two nations may only exercise the right, and you help them in doing so. Simultaneously, you did nothing so that the Croats exercise their right to return. On the contrary, you're openly involved in sabotaging the return of Croats to Eastern Mostar...", Prskalo further accused the IC.
