01 December 97, 19:30

Brussels – Ahead of tomorrow's Defense Ministers meeting of 16 NATO countries, the so-called European Group, expanded by the US and Canadian Ministers, met with Javier Solana, NATO Secretary General, to discuss various topics on BiH: situation on the ground; staying of NATO troops in the country after expiration of their mandate in June 1998; etc. The idea now circulating in NATO circles, speaks of 20.000 troops with a defense task, deployed in the "hot spots" such as Mostar and Brcko. According to the diplomatic sources, a list of problematic towns has already been made. But differences which exist among the European countries relating to the tasks and participation of their troops in BiH, could drive the Americans to completely drop the Bosnian evil and keep only a supporting role. American Defense Minister Cohen insisted on the strong American-European team in BiH, and a larger contribution of the Europeans in order to prevent a new war. Only the mentioning of war reminds us of the horrors of war, the anchor said. Follows shots of mass graves exhumations and texts which must remind everybody of the most terrible war time. The war criminals still at large, were also mentioned.
