At today's session held at the National Museum in Sarajevo, the BiH Presidency has reached a long awaited agreement on establishment of the single Central Bank and a single currency to be used throughout the country. John Cornblum, US Special Envoy-in departure, attended the presidential session for the last time. For an interim period, until the design of a single currency is completed, a coupon called "convertible Deutsche mark" will be used for all financial transactions as well as Deutsche mark. The participants have jointly concluded that the achieved agreement has greatly contributed to fulfilment of conditions for a donor conference.

After a long discussion, the FBiH Government has endorsed the draft on constitution of municipalities in FBiH at its today's session. Deputy HR Michael Steiner attended the session. Amendments to the FBiH Constitution related to the organization of the cities of Sarajevo and Mostar have also been endorsed. According to Amendment 25, the city of Sarajevo will be a local administrative unit within the Sarajevo canton.

The city administration will be structured in such a way to reflect its multi-ethnicity and its special status as the capital of the FBiH.

Amendment 26 regulates the status of cantonal capitals in the Federation and the status of Mostar.

In addition, the Government endorsed amendments on drafts on privatisation of banks and the 1997 federal budget.

At press conference in Mostar, Sir Martin Garrod, OHR Regional Head expressed his satisfaction with the situation in Mostar and the achieved compromise on the city administration. UN Spokesperson Kelly Moore stated that IPTF was not so much worried that deadline for constitution of cantonal police had not been met, since joint police forces had been formed in the central district of Mostar.

FBiH House of Representatives will hold a session tomorrow morning. Deputies are supposed to debate on a large number of issues, among which the most important are : draft on restitution and privatisation, purchase of state-owned flats, amendments to the FBiH Constitution, etc.

Ljubinje – RS President Plavsic and her delegation talked to authorities of this little Herzegovina borderline town about improvement and development of economy, and the security situation. 'The border regions must be very strong in the economic sense... I will leave it up to our Army HQ to find ways to provide security in these regions in accordance with the DPA, because when the Serb people know they are protected on that level, then they can easily devote themselves to economy. I could see the people are full of enthusiasm: they will fight for their economic prosperity like they have fought during the war.'

In the afternoon, Plavsic met the First Secretary of the US Embassy to Sarajevo, Pontenau, and gave him the Njegos of the First Order medal as a present to John Kornblum whom she thanked for good co-operation.
