Significant progress has been made in talks on a Stabilisation and Association Agreement, and EU foreign ministers have in their Salzburg Declaration from early March confirmed the future of this region and BiH in the EU. The Ambassador noted all further progress of BiH towards the EU will depend on the reform process, which is in the hands of BiH politicians and added restructuring of the police, education reform and reform of the public broadcasting system, as well as the creation of a single economic space all give an opportunity to BiH politicians to show that they take seriously the European road, even during the summer months and in an election year. He thinks that the last week's decision of OHR to replace OHR with the office of the EU Special Representative in one year represents an important step forward towards self-responsibility.

VL: stances on closure of OHR differ / Croat politicians comment on the closure, some say IC will remain in BiH, others think OHR had not done enough for BiH	Vecernji List pgs 4-5 'Departure of OHR' by Miroslav Vasilj – Referring to the announced closure of OHR, Vecernji List comments Croats poorly reacted on the announcement, Bosniak politicians agree it is too early to close OHR while only Serbs welcomed the decision on closure. VL further comments there are both good and bad sides of the closure for BiH and Croats in BiH: 'the good side is that the colonial relation towards BiH would be abolished' but, as a negative consequence, VL notes BiH still had not regulated constitutional-legal organisation of BiH and the timing for the decision was not good considering "separatist-like threats coming from RS". Some circles even interpret the closure of OHR as a penalty for non-adoption of constitutional changes. The article carries comments of HDZ's Dragan Covic and HDZ 1990's Bozo Ljubic who say the closure of OHR does not mean the international community would leave BiH and they note this means domestic politicians would have be more responsible. On the other hand Zvonko Jurisic from HSP Djapic-Jurisic says OHR should not be closed until division of BiH in two entities is abolished, Mladen Ivankovic-Lijanovic from "Radom za Boljitak" party says BiH would neither lose nor gain anything after OHR is closed while Chair of Croat Block Mario Vasilj says the fact BiH does not have a constitution even ten years after signing Dayton Peace Agreement speaks enough about success of OHR in BiH.

Hayat criticized recent FBIH laws on contributions to delegates	TV Hayat By Nevzeta Skrijelj – Reporter criticised the recently adopted FBIH Law on contributions to delegates at FBIH Parliament saying that they have adopted only laws that improve their lifestyle while laws of vital interest to the citizens are still in procedure. Head of BiH Independent Trade Union Edhem Biber agreed with the above statement adding that the laws in personal interests to the delegates are rapidly adopted. OHR's Spokesperson Mario Brkic deems that this law and in this form is not needed especially "if we all know how BiH citizens live" . Brkic said that delegates should be adequately paid but also BiH citizens should have adequate service in return. "These assets would be better used for reconstruction of the hospitals, improvement o schooling conditions etc." added Brkic. Skrijelj expressed hopes that better times would come for the adoption of laws important to BiH citizens, which delegates are undeservedly paid for in the first place, and that more responsible delegates would be elected.

Pusic - Following the recommendations of Council of Europe, which foresee abolition of Cantons and entity voting, brought after the adoption of PACE Resolution, Vinko Zoric from HDZ 1990 thinks this idea would be acceptable but not in the context of de-centralisation of F BiH and one-sided abolition of Cantons and added the Cantons should not be completely abolished, only the number of Cantons should be reduced because Croats cannot survive without federal units such as Cantons. Deputy President of HNZ Mate Bandur welcomed the abolition of entity voting and noted several regions should be established in the state in order to avoid forming of a unitary citizens' state. SDP's Tomislav Limov said SDP has included a version of forming of regions in BiH in its program. DEPOS's Bukejlovic: Ivanic should have reacted before PCAE Resolution was adopted	Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Ivanic should have reacted before the Resolution was adopted' by Fena , Nezavisne Novine pg 8 'It is incomprehensible Ivanic had not reacted' by D. Sa. , Glas Srpske pg 3 'Reply' - DEPOS Presidency member Pero Bukejlovic criticised BiH Foreign Affairs Minister Mladen Ivanic on Friday for failing to react to the PACE Resolution. Dodik said the resolution is proof that all that comes to BiH from Europe is not always good, said and added that this document would unnecessarily create fresh political tension in BiH. Dodik said it was obvious that all this was contrived somewhere in Sarajevo and is aimed against RS, but BiH would end up suffering the most from it.
VL int with BiH Presidency member Jovic: there are attempts to create state named Bosnia and nation called Bosnians	Vecernji List pg 6, announced on cover 'It is dangerous to build Bosnian nation' by Zoran Kresic - In an interview to VL, Croat member of BiH Presidency Ivo Miro Jovic commented on PACE Resolution as well as on the recommendation the Venice Commission had presented in past with regard to abolition of Cantons and suggestion of Council of Europe to introduce a single official language in BiH and he said he thinks this recommendation was counter-productive and he added a model of two languages was already introduced to information services. Jovic added: 'This is only a confirmation of earlier thesis on creation of the state of Bosnia. If you read the text carefully, you will not be able to see anywhere that this state is called Bosnia and Herzegovina. The determination exists to create a new nation in Europe and a state that had never existed. The state's name would be Bosnia and citizens would be called Bosnians'.
