Riots in Mostar after Brazil-Croat football match: six policemen, 18 citizens injured, one suffers grave injuries by firearm, 26 arrested	BHT1 by Seid Masnica – Following the football match between Brazil and Croatia on Tuesday night, a group of “hooligans” from the Western part of Mostar started vandalizing property at the Spanish square in city downtown, and subsequently clashed with another group of youngsters from Eastern part of the city. The Spokesperson for the Herzegovina Neretva Cantonal Interior Ministry, Srecko Bosnjak, said 18 persons, including 6 police officers, were injured in the riots while one person, Omar Torlo, was seriously hurt by firearm. In addition, 26 persons were arrested. BHT 1 criticised police for failing to respond to the violence in an appropriate way, claiming police was not prepared for this scenario. Reporter compared this situation with the celebration of success of the ‘Velez’ football club [from Eastern part of city] about a half month ago at which occasion police had increased its presence to good extend, whereas on Tuesday night only one police vehicle was patrolling at the location despite the fact that the supporters have been going around the city for entire day chanting the songs of support. Hayat – Bosnjak detailed that riots started when a group of supporters of the Croatian team gathered after the match and started vandalizing property and vehicles in the square and “on the other side, there was a group of persons, who were saying they supported Brazilian team. Soon afterwards, the two groups met and started throwing things at each others, result of which is great damage made.” Mostar citizens are more then terrified with the events. Central Bank of Serbia claims that, as in accordance with data in their possession, no such large breach had been documented. However, the Bank didn’t mention any exact amount that could have been taken. Former RS Prime Minister Gojko Klickovic stated for “Vecernje Novosti” that such intrusion wasn’t possible at all. Klickovic explained that Serbia has collected the custom taxes for goods exported from the RS during the period when Serbian Customs Administration was led by Mihal Cerkez. Allegedly, Slobodan Milosevic had promised to return this money, but it never happened. Klickovic explained RS authorities wanted to find a solution for this problem. Therefore, they decided not to return to Serbia ‘dinars’ [Serbian currency] it had located in the RS. He claims that the amount of these funds is 890 million dinars. Klickovic claims possession of all documents proving his claims.

Radosavljevic – carries a short interview with ICTY Spokesperson Antun Nikiforov who denied ICTY is investigating the use of BAM 230 million reportedly taken through RS intrusion into former SR Yugoslavian monetary system in 1997. Nevertheless, Nikiforov noted that ICTY Chief Prosecutor Carla del Ponte is quite interested in finding out whether any of the Hague fugitives is still using this money for hiding, adding: "If fugitives are using this money, then we can track it down, block it and deprive them of financial help."
SDS' Siljegovic: if all services say that Karadzic is not in BiH, than it makes no point punishing citizens and RS institutions	Oslobodjenje pg 8 'Not even SDS can't learn where Karadzic is' by A.Prlenda – The Chair of Joint Commission for Defence and Security Policy and surveillance of the security structures in BiH, SDS' Bosko Siljegovic , told daily in a brief interview it is not "right to keep BiH outside the Partnership for Peace" as everything points that Radovan Karadzic is not in BiH. Siljegovic argues there is probably a need for BiH Parliament to ask for additional information on Karadzic hiding from the authorized security agencies, despite the fact it receives regular reports about security situation in BiH. Stressing he could not be satisfied with work of these agencies as all conditions have not been met yet, Siljegovic said: "RS and BiH Parliament have shown they want BiH to meet all obligations towards the ICTY. But, if people who work in these agencies responsibly claim Karadzic and Ratko Mladic aren't in BiH, and so do the international institutions that are better equipped and more capable then we are, then it is not good to punish BiH citizens or RS institutions" . Explaining that SDS has contributed to cooperation with ICTY by supporting RS law on this issue and since the RS President Dragan Cavic gave full support to arrests of suspects at large, Siljegovic says there is not much more SDS could do to ensure Karadzic's arrest: "We don't have out intelligence and police services. Politicians and officials can't go searching for Karadzic. This can't be asked from a political party."

Commenting Russian failure to extradite ICTY indictee Dragan Zelenovic to The Hague, Shuvalov said: "He was therefore returned to BiH for he is a citizen of BiH," adding that Russia did not breach a resolution by UN Security Council on cooperation with ICTY: "The issue is that Zelenovic illegally stayed in Russia, breaching by that Russian law, for what he was punished, including deportation... He lived in Russia under false name. As soon as he was found, he was arrested." Commenting talks of referendum on RS secession, Russian Ambassador stressed: "It is necessary to view this issue from the framework of BiH Constitution... Dayton Constitution is the internal and external guarantee for the structure of BiH. The only way to change the Constitution is by following its provisions." Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Critics that Russia is not cooperating with the Hague are groundless' by ONASA – also carried.

BiH Presidency recognizes Montenegro : this would not affect lawsuit BiH vs. SCG for aggression; Montenegro argues Serbia is legal successor of all obligations; BiH Presidency objects HoR deputies have higher salaries	BHT1 By Svetlana Todorovic – At Wednesday session in Sarajevo, BiH Presidency decided to officially recognize Montenegro as an independent state. BiH Presidency Chair Sulejman Tihic noted Montenegrin independence would not affect the BiH lawsuit against Serbia and Montenegro for aggression and genocide or the Montenegrin's responsibility. However, Montenegrin Foreign Minister, Miodrag Vlahovic, told BHT 1 the lawsuit doesn't refer to them as Serbia is legal successor of all obligations. On the compensation issue, Tihic noted that if ordered by the International Court of Justice, compensation would be divided between Serbia and Montenegro in percentage they agree on. "Serbia did not automatically take upon itself all obligations. We expect this issue will see mutual agreement between these two countries" said Tihic. Head of BiH Legal Team in the lawsuit, Sakib Softic, also believes the Montenegrin independence will not affect the lawsuit. FTV – BiH Presidency has adopted the report on execution of budget of BiH Institutions and state international obligations, concluding it is necessary to adopt the regulations on salaries of civil servants to ensure more regulated resources' allocation. "BiH House of Representatives delegate has higher salary than a member of the BiH Presidency; members of the Steering Boards earn KM 2700 per month" said Tihic adding this includes ITA, Central Bank and other independent state Agencies. He argued his own monthly salary doesn't exceed 2700 KM and the highest salary should not exceed 7 average salaries, concluding the members of Steering Boards should be entitled only to 1 average salary for their services. RSNA passes law on higher education; rejects draft law on salaries of judges, prosecutors; initiative for law on rights of the deputies foresees better benefits	RTRS Milan Trbojevic – At the session that started on Wednesday [to last until Friday], the RS National Assembly adopted the report of RSNA Board for Science, Culture and Education on current situation in the education sector. The RS Education Ministry has been tasked to prepare a new proposal of law on secondary education and to complete the university integration process, i.e. regulate financing of these institutions. RSNA MP's also adopted the draft Law on higher education. RS Education Minister, Anton Kasipovic, stated that the draft law represents a high-quality base for the necessary changes of higher education system in accordance with the Bologna Declaration and EU standards. Kasipovic explained that the accreditation of the higher education institutions would remain at the entity level, while the supervision is going to be carried out by the state agency. Most deputies welcomed the passing of draft law, emphasizing that the final law should be adopted before the beginning of next school year. RSNA rejected draft law on salaries of judges and prosecutors, which stipulated the minimum salary at 2400 KM, and maximum up to 4400 KM. The RS Justice Minister, Omer Visic, said the RS NA could not directly change this law, as well as the law on attorney practice. He explained that both laws are going to stay valid, which is in line with the stance of the OHR. SRS "Dr. Vojislav Seselj" deputy Milan Lazic harshly opposed this proposal, claiming that it has been imposed by HR, which was also supported by the SNSDs Krstan Simic who however urged RSNA to adopt the draft anyway stressing salaries of judges/prosecutors need to be legally regulated. RTRS reported almost all deputies signed initiative for adoption of law on rights and duties of RS NA deputies which would significantly increase their salaries. It also allows pension of MPs in amount of 65% of deputy salary after completing only one half of their mandate and after reaching 55 years of age. Reforms Process Monitoring meets to discuss reforms in BiH; EU's Lange: Brussels doesn't note progress	BHT1 by Mirela Cosic – The 4th meeting of the Reform Process Monitoring team comprised of BiH and EU officials (which started in Sarajevo on Wednesday) stressed that official Brussels was not satisfied with the pace of adopting reforms in the BiH. Head of the EU Enlargement Directorate's Department for BiH and Albania, Dirk Lange stated "I do not want to hide that currently Brussels doesn't see the progress", expressing hope the further discussion would reveal more progress than it is believed to be at this stage. However, reporter comments that the police reform is still at the beginning as the adopted proposals were rejected by the RS politicians. Chairman of BiH Council of Ministers Adnan Terzic said: "The police reform issue in RS is the darkest cloud above the Stabilisation and Association Agreement [SAA] and I hope this issue will be solved. The negotiating team will finish negotiations by the end of September when we are going to have an agreement". Director Osman Topcagic underlined signing of the SAA would entirely depend on reforms. BHT 1 notes that while the police reform is the key issue to sign SAA, it is not the top priority for the politicians before the elections. Mirza Cubro from Banja Luka based Nezavisne Novine daily stated politicians now care about winning the elections which excludes progress in police reform. Reporter concludes that Serbia, Montenegro and BiH are last when it comes to the European integrations on the list in the region. PINK- After Thursday's session, representative of the EC Reinhard Priebe is expected to assess the progress made by BiH. RHB, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni List, pg 6 'Assessment of reform process', not signed, Nezavisne Novine pg 2 'Date of signing of the Agreement is unknown' by M. BiH Directorate for European Integrations Topcagic: negotiations successful, but it is impossible to pass laws if institutions do not function	Hayat by Asim Beslija – In interview to NTV Hayat, Director of BiH Directorate for European Integrations, Osman Topcagic, said that the Reform Process Monitoring team focused on the issues of judiciary, internal affairs, security issues such as visa regime, border crossings, exile, migrations, and fight against money laundering, organized crime and terrorism. "Certain conclusions have been made; the EC representatives congratulated us on results we have achieved in terms of these issues, but we have also been advised to continue passing laws and regulations and keep insisting on their implementation", explains Topcagic. Topcagic adds that it is of extreme importance for BiH to show that it has a constructive role in fighting all kinds of crime. Topcagic explains a plenary session is going to take place on Thursday, at which six crucial priorities, namely SAA preconditions [cooperation with the ICTY, police reform, Public Broadcasting System] will be discussed, adding: "I find these negotiations successful, despite the existing political situation; but, it is impossible to pass the laws, planned to be passed in this period, if the BiH Parliamentary Assembly, BiH Council of Ministers as well as other authority institutions do not function."

Schwarz-Schilling meets EU's Solana: BiH leaders must take over responsibility for the future	BHT1 by Elvir Bucalo, Brussels – EU High Representative for Foreign and Security Policy Javier Solana unexpectedly met with the High Representative Christian Schwarz-Schilling where they discussed the issue of reforms in BiH. It was noted that European Union couldn't be blamed for the failure of the reforms in BiH. Schwarz-Schilling stated that "This questioning of Dayton Agreement, mentioning of the RS referendum, questioning already agreed police reform are situations that do not support the process that we all care about – EU integrations". Bucalo stated that now "the ball" belongs to the BiH civil society, adding that with closing of the OHR, BiH is running off the excuse for the life under IC patronage while the situation in the region might push BiH forward on the waiting list. Schwarz-Schilling pointed out the difficulties in Serbia with suspended negotiations on Stabilization and Association Agreement, Kosovo status and Montenegrin independence adding, "if BiH decides to really follow the set obligations it might reach the front". RTRS- Solana and Schwarz-Schilling agreed that BiH leaders must take the responsibility for the future, understand the challenges of EU integration and show that they are capable of meeting them and transfer of authorities to the local level successfully. Schwarz-Schilling said that the international community is changing the nature of its engagement in BiH by establishing the office of EUSR. He stressed that BiH politicians must be more active in addressing the challenges that arise from this process. Inset 'Terzic should come to Lukavica as well' – Association of Families of Missing Persons of Sarajevo- Romanija region has welcomed the visit of Council of Ministers Chair Adnan Terzic to ICMP office in Tuzla and invited him to visit the office in Lukavica as well, in order to be informed about war crimes over Serbs. Asked to comment whether Lavrov's initiative is aimed to prevent possible replacement of RS Prime Minister Milorad Dodik after his statements on referendum, Brkic said that OHR does not want to comment speculations and conspiracy theories.

Tihic believes Dodik acted as an opposition leader and attempted to collect short-term points in pre-election campaign by giving the statements on referendum. 'There is a constitutional possibility of having talks and reaching agreement on whether there would be two, three, five or more entities or regions, but it is completely unconstitutional and anti-Dayton to behave in such way to advocate a separation of a part of BiH' , Tihic explained.

Oslobodjenje pg 9 'Inadequate reaction from OHR' – also carries.
GS op-ed scrutinizes HR's letter to RS PM Dodik on referendum	Glas Srpske op-ed pg 5 'About form and content' by Predrag Lazarevic – The author starts by noting that the journalists of all profiles represent the sole guarantee that developments behind curtains of politics and authority will not remain hidden from public, adding thanks to journalists he got a copy of a letter HR to BiH Christian Schwarz Schilling addressed to RS Premier regarding his statements on referendum. He is amazed that HR, from whom we expected to know much more about history, to write that he sees BiH "as something being temporary by its nature." He also commends HR for respecting traditional norms of conduct unlike numerous other western diplomats, in relation with which HR politely reminds of provisions of Agreement on Special Parallel Relations RS signed with SiCG (by which signatories would respect sovereignty of each other). He concludes by saying that application of double standards (including failure to penalize F BiH officials for asking abolishment of RS) in southeast Balkans, including BiH, gives a right to RS citizens to fight for referendum on self-determination.

Limov also notes that it is both the ruling parties and the IC that are responsible for the situation in BiH, saying the HR is at ease with such situation in BiH because he is not using his Bonn powers.
DA op-ed: BiH politicians on test before October elections	Dnevni Avaz pg 3 'Test for BiH politicians' op-ed by Admir Malagic – Editorial reads that BiH politicians should seriously take into consideration warnings that European path of BiH and Stabilisation and Association Agreement [SAA] could be endangered due to pre-elections campaigns. Author notes: "There are couple of very important issues. Police reform and Public Broadcasting Service [PBS] above all... But those who should deal with that showed that, for the reason of cheap politics, they are ready to talk about division of BiH, so we should not doubt that there would also be some who would dare to stop fulfilling mentioned obligations." Editorial concludes that BiH parties would have chance to demonstrate their political maturity before October elections: "If not, they could not sell BiH citizens story that they are standing for their better future, European standards, employment, larger salaries..."

DL, SD comments on Croat coalitions: Key to power rests with HSP Djapic-Jurisc's	Dnevni List , pg 8 'Jurisc hold key to power', by Dn. L. – DL comments on the situation on the Croat political scene in BiH i.e. formation of three coalitions of Croat parties led by HDZ BiH (with HNZ), HDZ 1990 Croat Unity (with HSS, HKDU, HDU and CCD) and HSP Djapic-Jurisc (with NHI). DL notes that none of the coalitions will be able to win more than 50% of the Croats' votes, therefore post-election coalitions among the three are inevitable. In this context, DL says a coalition amongst the two HDZs is impossible, therefore it is down to the coalition led by HSP Djapic-Jurisc and its leader Zvonko Jurisc to decide who will be the winner. Slobodna Dalmacija , pg 11 'Croat unity in battle against HDZ', by Marko Karacic – also comments on the Croat political scene in BiH. SD notes it is interesting that NHI, HSP Djapic-Jurisc, HDZ BiH and HNZ have formed a coalition for the RS and that the HDZ 1990-led coalition will fight for votes in the RS too, which means the Croat parties failed to agree to an all-Croat coalition for the RS, which could result in squandering of the Croat votes (due to high threshold).
