ICTY's Nikiforov: ICTY did not open the investigation on intrusion of RS into Yugoslav monetary system; RS authorities expected to investigate this	BHT1 by Boris Gagic –ICTY Prosecution Spokesperson Anton Nikiforov confirmed that ICTY Prosecution didn't open the investigation on intrusion of RS authorities into the monetary system of former Yugoslavia in 1997, taking away 230 million former German marks [DEM] illegally. Nikoforov stated that he expects from RS authorities to investigate if these funds were used for protection and hiding of ICTY fugitives. He confirmed the case is very interesting for ICTY. When he was arrested for organised crime and protection of ICTY indictees in 2004, Momcilo Mandic claimed that he didn't finance Radovan Karadzic's hideout. However, he claimed that he had provided evidence on illegal intrusion of RS authorities into Yugoslav monetary system to the OHR. According to Mandic, in April 2005 he submitted documents on invasion of the payment operation system to the advisor of former High Representative Paddy Ashdown [name of the advisor was not stated]. OHR didn't confirm the possession of these documents. Former RS Finance Minister Svetlana Cenic said she helped Mandic to contact the OHR in Banja Luka. According to Cenic, Mandic's documents were to prove that illegally gained funds were used for protection of Karadzic. However, Cenic claims that the documents provided by Mandic didn't include any specific information. A commission tasked to investigate the entire case was established in 1998, but it fell apart already after its first session. RS Minister of Interior Stanislav Cadj o stated the Mol is investigating the case. Dnevni Avaz pg 12 'Tribunal wants to know if investigation would help in arrest of Karadzic' by E.Sarac – Nikiforov confirmed to daily that ICTY is "interested in importance of this and whether it could help in arresting remaining war crime fugitives, first of all Radovan Karadzic." Nezavisne Novine pg 5 'Central Bank of Serba forwarded data to the Tribunal' by P. A commission that was established in 1998 found out RS Government had withdrawn approximately BAM 230 million from then SR Yugoslavian monetary system, but the Central Bank of Serbia claims that, as in accordance with data in their possession, no such large breach had been documented. RS Minister of Interior Stanislav Cadj o stated 'the RS Mol, as in accordance with its legislative obligations, is conducting orders of prosecutor offices in BiH upon all the issues including this one'.

Klickovic said there was no breach into SRY monetary system simply because there could not have been one since RS had never had its primary issue of money nor its Mint of money.

As main reason for rejection of the coalition he mentioned constitutional changes, stressing that Croat Block was advocating for Peoples' Constitution with three federal units. The second reason, says Bacak, are "series of actions by Dragan Covic [HDZ leader] during my membership in HDZ... It is known that our people left the HDZ because they were tricked and just like that Covic was prepared to sign anything and to deny [that same thing] tomorrow." He concludes that additional problems is HDZ attitude towards the Catholic Church. RHB, Oslobodjenje pg 6 'Independently-to elections' not signed – Also carries that Croat Block would not found coalition with HDZ.

DL: HDZ BiH builds strategy by attacking the Church	Dnevni List pg 7 'New attack of HDZs to Church' dignitaries', mentioned on cover by Zvonimir Jukic - DL article carries that at the last session of the HDZ Western Herzegovina Cantonal Board the Church high-ranking officials were assaulted, and the author notes that this criticising of the Catholic Church and its clergy is new strategy of the HDZ BiH and leader Dragan Covic, in an effort to decrease influence of the Church in everyday life, especially of those who are members of the party. Aware of the fact that they have lost the Church's and Cardinal, Vinko Puljic's support, Covic and others "have decided to openly fight them through public discussions and meeting of the local boards of the party and thus have the Church's influence to the minimum before the elections. Only this way, strategists believe, it is possible to save HDZ from full break up and loss of electoral trust " DL source from the Western Herzegovina Cantonal Board said the leading role in this campaign was taken by Velimir Jukic, lately becoming Covic closest ally. Jukic allegedly harshly criticises the Church, and claims "it is irrelevant", demonstrating this by the "fact" that Cardinal's latest visit to USA was "embarrassing". Same source claims some partisans did not like the accusations, however notes that HDZ Board in Grude has also accused the Church for being ignorant for status of Croats.
HSP Djapic- Jurisic: prepared to stand up to both HDZs	Slobodna Dalmacija pg 12 'We will bring down both HDZ parties', mentioned on cover, by Emil Karamatic - In an interview to SD, Dr. Zvonko Jurisic, president of HSP Djapic-Dr. Jurisic, speaks about the forthcoming elections and his party's coalition with Kresimir Zubak'sNHI stressing that party members support the coalition and that the party membership has doubled in the last several days. Asked about the origin of the 'unnatural' coalition with NHI, Dr. Jurisic says he blames both HDZ parties for the poor standing of the Croat people and wants to restore its dignity by fighting crime, reverse criminal privatization and repossess illegally gained property. "We are not just accusing but telling the truth about the disastrous reign of HDZ in BiH...We are talking about both HDZ parties. These people broke the law on repossession of property and have been in power for fifteen years already. Only with NHI as a strong opposition party can we fight this evil...Remember, no one in our coalition has been charged with crime. There are many reasons for forming this coalition and I believe that our voters will recognize that and, in the end, we will hear the famous saying 'both are down', I mean both HDZ parties."

In order to prevent breaking unity of the party, I am ready to accept such thing and not make any problems in this regard." Asked to comment whether Tihic is trying to get rid of him, Terzic noted: "there are perhaps some private issues in here. SDA headquarters could not deny nor confirm will Terzic appear on lists, adding that the lists have not yet been created.

DL: clashes within SDA last since death of Izetbegovic; how will Bakir Izetbegovic react on dispute btw Terzic and Tihic?	Dnevni List pg 3 'Tihic doesn't allow Terzic to the election list', mentioned on cover by R.Dautefendic - After his statement in FTV's 'Central Prison' late night show that SDA is not going to nominate him at the following elections, the Chair of the BiH Council of Ministers, Adnan Terzic , denied all speculations of " his colleagues from SDA " that he is going to establish new party, move to the SDP or the SBiH. He added that instead he would continue to work hard, hoping that someone would notice. On the other side, SDA leader and Chair of BiH Presidency Sulejman Tihic didn't want to comment to these statements. In addition, Tihic's secretary told DL that the " President Tihic doesn't want to comment bar talks and that is why he is not answering your calls ". As DL stresses this dispute wouldn't end here, as the clashes within SDA have never stopped since death its founder Alija Izetbegovic . " The question is how would his son Bakir [Izetbegovic], and even common members of the party, react to all this considering that Terzic already enjoys sympathies of a large number of citizens, at least when it comes to FBiH " concludes DL.
Oslob op-ed condemns work of BiH CoM Chair Terzic	Oslobodjenje pg 9 'Prosperity' op-ed by Senka Kurtovic - Commenting on Council of Ministers Chair Adnan Terzic 's resentment of SDA decision not to appoint him as a list-holder for the parliamentary elections, the editorial reads that Terzic is prone to self-promotion and likes taking credit for VAT implementation, reforms, admission to the EU and that without him the state would not function at all. The editorial goes on to say that, contrary to his claims, Terzic was not able to make his ministers attend BiH CoM sessions, let alone have the law on Public Broadcasting System [PBS] adopted or implement the police report. "[Former German Chancellor Gerhard Schroeder ...is one of rare European politicians who bothered to come to Sarajevo and speak with Terzic. On the other hand, [Croatian] Prime Minister Ivo Sanader and the old-new prime minister of Serbia Vojislav Kostunica prefer coming to Mostar and Banja Luka than to Sarajevo. Evidently, they do not have much to talk about with Terzic... Our relationship with the neighbors is worse than ever and the neighbors know it. According to Terzic, all is OK and the problems are not our fault, i. e. his fault. He is doing his job well... Even after the elections, things will be good for him, our PM consoles himself. Politics gives and takes, but it cannot take away one thing - prosperity... Prime Ministers of normal countries believe in capable co-workers, good economy and stable society. Our PM believes in 'prosperity'."

DL: Citizens under the surveillance Sokolac	Dnevni List pg 8 ‘Citizens under magnifying glass of secret services’ by Danijela Kozina – BiH is soon supposed to receive new sophisticated surveillance equipment from UK Government but there are no laws regulating what agency will receive this equipment. The question of possible abuse comes to mind because of several affairs related to illegal surveillance over the last several years, most notably the case when Zlatko Lagumdžija, SDP president, was under surveillance by local secret services and then accused by SDA party of planning a coup, which was seen by the public as an attempt to discredit the opposition. Also, a number of international diplomats living in the same apartment block were under surveillance in 2003 although the secret services’ excuse was that they were trapping a BiH citizen who also lived in the same building against whom criminal proceedings were under way. In 2004 former head of AID Munir Alibabic and Muhamed Ajanovic complained to FBiH Ombudsmen that FOSS wiretapped them illegally which Ombudsman's office saw as human rights violation.
