SDP representatives believe that there is no political will in entering the crucial constitutional changes, but add that the talks should be continued. "I thin that within a month, BiH authorities should initiate another gathering from which would sent to the parliament issues which have or could be agreed on", said SDP Chair Zlatko Lagumdžija. SDA Chair Sulejman Tihic also says that the talks should be continued, due to the fact that certain issues remained unsolved. Tihic adds that it is impossible to reach the agreement without the International Community's impact. "I think that there is no readiness for stronger mediation of the IC, but we are all aware that without such mediation there is no agreement", says Tihic. HDZ is also ready to continue the talks. Namely HDZ believes that certain progress has been achieved. "The main precondition is for consensus to be reached; without consensus there is no solution", said HDZ Vice Chair Niko Lozancic. On the other hand, SNSD leader Milorad Dodik says that as far as his party is concerned, the talks are over. "It has been clear that the talks are over and that now we are entering the phase when amendments are being made", said Dodik. SDS ' stance remains unclear since it has never given any explicit statement on continuation of the talks, says the reporter.

US Ambassador McElhaney: I expect continuation of constitutional talks	Dnevni Avaz cover splash, pg 5 'I expect continuation of negotiations on constitution' by Sead Numanovic – In an interview for DA, US Ambassador Douglas McElhaney stated that he doesn't want to point finger at no one to accuses for failure to reach an agreement on the constitutional changes. Following January round of talks which produced no results, McElhaney commented the negotiators – leaders of eight political parties – have lacked political courage to complete the job, as only 3-4 things are left to be agreed. Commenting to term 'cosmetic changes' used by some to describe talks on the changes, he said that it is better to move on in small steps stressing that it is not realistic to start with the maximum demands. McElhaney adds this was just the very beginning and that the constitution of every state is a living document going through changes every now and then. McElhaney said he expects initiative from BiH politicians to continue the talks, adding that EU is also monitoring this process. Inset, 'No trade with territory' – McElhaney stressed the territorial integrity of BiH has been defined ten years ago, and that rumors about exchange of RS and Kosovo are "nonsense". RTRS current affairs program 'Aktuelni Razgovor' By Zorica Rulj – McElhaney stressed that politicians need more courage to end the talks, since according to the Ambassador changes could be finished by general elections, scheduled for October 2006. Nezavisne Novine pg 6 'Leaders should continue constitutional talks' by M.Cubro – In an interview for NN, McElhaney presented same stances as in his interview for DA.
