The HDZ says in a statement that it is disappointed at the fact that crimes against the Croats in BH are not treated by the ICTY like other crimes. The statement also noted that over 30 innocent Croat civilians – including women and children – were brutally murdered in Grabovica, not 13 civilians as alleged in the indictment. "We wonder what happened to other victims and who will be brought to account before the Hague tribunal for this crime," the HDZ statement says.

Jovic: Who will be held responsible for these crimes?	FTV by Ljiljana Smailbegovic – "In principal I don't comment decisions of the Court and before I see documents... I know only one thing: the crime was committed. RS PoWs against Halilovic's acquittal: ICTY is anti-Serb, anti-Croat; Jovicic: PoWs to boycott BiH Court	FTV – The Chair of the RS PoWs Association, Branislav Dukic , has told SRNA that the verdict in Halilovic case is proof that the tribunal is a political court, not a court of justice. “RS PoWs gave the ICTY and Chief Prosecutor Carla Del Ponte a large volume of documentation on Halilovic's crimes and orders relating to the suffering of the Serbs in Srebrenica, particularly to 126 camps in Sarajevo which were established when he was commander of the so-called BH Army,” Dukic said. He announced that RS PoWs would not participate in trials at the BiH Court which puts only Serbs on trial, in line with the Hague tribunal's “recipe”. FTV, Oslobodjenje pg 4 ‘Evidence there was no civil war but aggression’, Dnevni Avaz pg 2 ‘Ruling is evidence there was an aggression in BiH’- Haris Silajdzic , one of officials in wartime governments, stated that this verdict is proving that BiH hasn't suffered the civil war but aggression. Vecernji List pg 3 ‘Delic instead of Halilovic’ by Z. Jurilj says that according to the current situation, Delic would be held accountable for the war crimes committed in Grabovica and Uzdol, while the bill of indictment might be also extended on Bakir Alispahic , a wartime Minister of Interior of the Republic of BiH, since he did not carry out an investigation on this case. Slobodna Dalmacija pg 8 ‘Rasim Delic in the open’ by V. Vegar says that the Halilovic's acquittal would affect General Delic the most as well as the Bosniak political top that has been claiming for years that the BiH Army did not commit crimes unlike the other Armies. FTV – FTV asked Sulejman Tihic to comment the speculations on Delic. “It is hard to comment this and we should leave it up to the Court to determine the foundation of such an indictment. I consider the Court to be the best place where facts should be determined and eventual existence of liability,” said Tihic.

On this, he says: "We Serbs should say it clear: BiH is equally my state as it is Tihic' and Covic'." On Brussels talks he says politicians from F BiH wanted to create a non-constructive atmosphere aimed at making the IC to treat RS officials more harshly. He says there were no pressures by the international officials during Brussels talks. He notes constitutional changes are no condition for commencement of SAA talks, but rather a need in the process to make BiH more functional and efficient. He also says that Croat officials have no clear stance in regard to third entity, noting they want to create the situation when they will be able to say nothing can be done and everything must start all over again. He reiterates RS is a reality with which everybody has to face and live. On Washington talks, he expresses expectation something will be agreed, noting Brussels provided a good basis. On police reform, he says that deadline stipulated for implementation is wide enough to find solutions, that would suit everybody and satisfy all three European criteria. EuroBlic RSpgs 2-3, announced on cover 'We do not renounce Republika Srpska' by Marija Milic - carries the interview along the same lines as NN' interview. He notes that during Brussels talks, "we have discussed how to - through general consensus - approach organization of talks."
HTV 'Otvoreno' on DPA revision, role of BiH Croats; Covic: Croats under IC pressure; Puljic not taking part in celebrating DPA; Tihic: Croat criticism justified; Croatia : agreement must come from BiH	HTV 1 'Otvoreno' current affairs programme by Hoverka Novak Srzic - HTV [Croatian state television] programme dedicated to the issue of Dayton revision and role of Bosnian Croats in the process gathered a number of guest including HDZ President Dragan Covic, member of BiH Presidency Sulejman Tihic, SNSD leader Milorad Dodik, Cardinal Vinko Puljic, HSP's Mate Granic and Kolinda Grabar Kitarovic, Croatian Minister of Foreign Affairs and European Integration. Commenting the 10th DPA anniversary, Puljic said he could not celebrate an event that only confirmed disappearance of half of the Catholic population in BiH. On the upcoming Washington talks on the constitution, Covic said that there would be no draft of the new Constitution signed but changes to the existing one. He also disagreed with the accusations on the lack of BiH Croats unified position on the issue and said there had been many pressures from the IC officials. "They have told us more than once - you will either assimilate or disappear," he added. It is vitally important to reach the agreement on constitutional changes in the next 5 or 6 months, but changes which would be essential and not cosmetic. "We must not fall into trap of those who only want to see the success of their project " warned Covic. Commenting on the poll results - according to which 94% of over 1000 Croatian citizens said Croats are not equal to other peoples in BiH, Tihic said that the criticism from Croat is justified and although mechanisms of equality are in place they often are only of formal nature in some cases in FBiH and RS. On the issue of Croatian participation in the talks, Grabar-Kitarovic said that BiH needs functional state which has to be provided by the politicians within the BiH. She adds that Croatia has its constitutional obligation to help Croats in BiH and adds it does so openly and transparently both through the bilateral contacts and the IC, underlying once again that the agreement must come from BiH. Granic pointed out that other participants of DPA, including US and Europe, are active in this process and so should be Croatia.

RS experts in constitutional rights: imposing is the worst!	Glas Srpske pg 5 'Imposing is the worst' by Z. Markovic - Experts in constitutional rights from RS (Professor of Constitutional Laws at Banja Luka Faculty of Laws Mile Dmicic and professor at Banja Luka Faculty of Laws Petar Kunic) agree that the International Community should not impose any solutions and should only act as an advisor in the process of possible constitutional changes in BiH. Kunic claims the talks on constitutional changes were conducted in a wrong manner from the beginning - these first started as a number of private talks, which then grew into official talks. He notes the priority should have been changes to F BiH Constitution, as in accordance with recommendations of the Venice Commission. He also claims IC representatives that are participating in the talks are people who were deeply involved in wartime events therefore there is a chance they would favour one side only.

SD op-ed on possible results of Washington talks	Slobodna Dalmacija pg 13 'Serb entity as bone in throat' by B. Krsito comments on constitutional changes and speculates as to what might happen at the talks in Washington . The author says that representatives of the RS political parties do not expect any pressures and signing of anything that all participants of the talks do not agree with, while some politicians from the FBiH believe that 'some' document would be signed and a level of compromise would exclusively depend on the US pressure exerted against the RS politicians.
Oslobodjenje op-ed criticises Tadic' act of connecting Kosovo and RS/BiH status	Oslobodjenje pg 9 'Entities at Kosovo' by Edin Krehic - The author notes that the issue of resolving the status of Kosovo cannot avoid BiH, referring to Boris Tadic' statement in Moscow (when he said that "if Albanians used the right to self-determination, other peoples in the Balkans, for example BiH, Croatia or Macedonia would acquire that same right...") The author stresses in regard to connecting RS with the destiny of Kosovo, Belgrade is trying to make a smaller BiH entity as its trump card in the struggle for acquiring authority over Pristina. On Tadic' idea on creation of two entities in Kosovo, the author notes entities at Kosovo are far more realistic than in BiH.
NN op-ed urges adoption of constitutional changes	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'Guantanamo via Washington' by Pero Simic - The author is actually urging the adoption of constitutional changes, if possible in Washington, in order to be able to turn towards affairs ahead of BiH on the course to EU, instead of being overburdened with indecisiveness of authority officials. He sarcastically notes that in case no agreement is reached in Washington and agony of BiH people continues, it would be good if USA officials transferred all BiH officials at Washington to Guantanamo Base for some time so BiH people could take a rest.
