

Celo Case Handled Efficiently

On July 16, in proceedings before the Sarajevo Municipal Court No. 2, Ramiz Delalic AKA Celo was convicted of physical assault on a police officer and sentenced to seven months in prison. The proceedings were conducted in an efficient manner in accordance with the laws of Bosnia and Herzegovina despite threats and intimidations made against police and judicial officials involved in the case. The Office of the High Representative (OHR) is encouraged that the Rule of Law has prevailed and urges that all criminal proceedings, no matter who the defendant, be heard under the appropriate laws and regulations of the country.
