Dnevni Avaz: Will the sanctions be avoided by Government's resignation?	Herceg Bosna Radio, BHT, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni Avaz cover splash, pg 4 'Will punishment be avoided through resignation of the Government?' by E. Sarac – DA writes that the "countdown in RS has started. Another 24 hours remain before HR Paddy Ashdown announces decision on the measures he intends to carry out due to this entity's non-cooperation with the ICTY." DA says that at this moment there are speculations in RS that there is a list with 15 officials HR would dismiss. Journalist also analyses warning of the 11 NGOs in RS to Ashdown that they would demand resignation of the Government and withdrawal of Serb representatives from BiH institutions if he introduces abolishes Ministries of Interior and Defence. Author says the role of these associations is to keep the RS institutions, which is united stance of both opposition and position, "thus demands for removal of the Government and extraordinary elections should... be seen as one of possible solutions to the current situation." DA further writes that if Government resigns, it can perform its duties in the technical mandate and reminds that when Nikola Poplasen was removed Dodik stayed in the same mandate for next two years, adding it is not impossible for this Govt to the same and stay in the office until 2006. "In that case, removals of the individuals would be useless, there would be confusion and one would not know who is responsible for the cooperation with the ICTY." In second case, DA says Cavic could decide to appoint opposition leader as Prime Minister designate to ensure parliamentary majority, which could prevent extraordinary elections.

I cannot talk about individual measures that this process will include as they are still being finalized." Guzelova also added that as for the police reform, message of the EU was clear: "authorities for the law enforcement to be transferred to the state level... BiH or RS authorities' rejection to adopt these recommendations will block BiH progress towards European integrations." Nezavisne Novine, pg. 3 'Stricter measures towards RS to follow tomorrow' by S. G. also carried OHR Guzelova's statement on the issue. They believe Novic is a person who would actively participate in the fight against Islamic terrorism, and on top of that, they are not happy with the work of the current OSA director, Almir Dzuvo , who is believed to be in too close contacts with Hasan Cengic and radical circles around the SDA.

Nedeljni Telegraf interview with HR Paddy Ashdown on RS cooperation with ICTY	Nedeljni Telegraf, pgs. 17-18 'I am not abolishing Republika Srpska' by D. Milinkovic - this is a two-pages long interview with High Representative Paddy Ashdown, in which he spoke about possible economic and political measures in RS, arresting of war crimes indictees, changes to Dayton Agreement etc. Asked to answer the following question: "RS President Dragan Cavic has - by delivering addressed of the ICTY fugitives to the Belgrade authorities - directly transferred responsibility for non-cooperation with Hague to the Belgrade. Does this mean that official Belgrade will be held responsible for what happens to the RS in future?", High Representative Paddy Ashdown has stated: 'The RS authorities are responsible for what happens in the RS. President Cavic for one has done much to change attitudes in the RS, and for the first time RS institutions recognize the need to meet international obligations. An example is the RS Government's Srebrenica Commission Report. President Cavic has said that he doesn't want the RS to be the roadblock on BiH's path to Europe. Ashdown denies allegations from HDZ letter	Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'BiH Court must be allowed to try anyone', Dnevni List, pg 2, mentioned on front 'BiH Court must work without political interference', by M. In his reply, the HR agreed with the HDZ's claims that there was a need for building of democratic institutions in BiH, however HR Ashdown denied the HDZ's claim that there were international forces in BiH that undermined state institutions and senior officials in BiH. Claiming that the biggest priority of the IC in BiH is to establish the rule of law, HR Ashdown says: "That's why we have especially focused our efforts in the last two years on establishing of the BiH Court. The BiH Court must be able to process anyone and it has to make sure that the justice is implemented in accordance with highest standards, without political interference".

Dragan Covic further explains HDZ's open letter from Tuesday	Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 18, mentioned on front 'BiH's future tailored without Croats', by Zlatko Tulic – Carries the Croat member of BiH Presidency and Vice President of HDZ BiH, Dragan Covic, as further explaining the contents of the open letter the HDZ sent to the OHR, PIC member countries' ambassadors and other representatives of the IC in BiH. Covic says the aim of the letter is to "send a clear message to the domestic and world public that the final solution, when it comes to future of BiH, cannot be reached without the participation of the Croat people and its representatives in the authorities, who have been democratically elected in the elections. We have recognized achieving of such intentions at the green table through the clear scenario that has been going on, the scenario that does not include legally elected representatives of the Croat people at all levels of authority in BiH".
Ljubo Beslic appointed Mayor of Mostar	Herceg Bosna Radio, BHT, FTV, Oslobođenje pg 3 'Ljubo Beslic appointed Mayor', Dnevni Avaz pg 8, mentioned on cover, Nezavisne Novine, cover 'Ljubo Beslic is the Mayor' and pg. 6 'Beslic is the Mayor' by V. Coric, Slobodna Dalmacija, front pg splash and pg 15 'Ljubo Beslic: Historic moment for Mostar', by M. The former Mostar Deputy Mayor won 21 councillors' votes of 35 members of the Mostar City Council, including seven votes of the SDA. Although SDA leader, Sulejman Tihic, said after Monday's meeting with the party's members in the City Council that all 10 councillors had signed a statement to back Beslic up, the promise was fulfilled by only seven councillors. After signing a statement on taking over the duty, Beslic thanked the councillors on the support provided and stressed that his activities in the upcoming period would be based on citizens' needs. "I hope to justify the trust and expectations of those who voted for me today. I also hope this will be satisfaction to citizens because I want Mostar truly to become a cultural, sports, economic and every other centre of Herzegovina," Beslic said. As priorities in work Beslic underlined urgent appointment of heads of departments and services in the City Administration of Mostar (CA), so the CA could finally start functioning in full capacity. Herceg Bosna Radio, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 15 'Ashdown: Continue with unification of city', by M. L., Dnevni List, pg 13 'Ashdown congratulates councillors and Beslic', by NINA – The High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown, congratulated the Mostar City Council members on their decision to elect the new Mayor of Mostar, noting that this is the first time that the city of Mostar will have a joint mayor since the end of the war. "I commend the decision of the Mostar City Council and their leaders. City councilors have finally started to do the job they were elected to do," said the High Representative. The High Representative noted that the newly elected mayor would play a leading role in implementing the Mostar Statute. "This is a time for celebration but not for too long. This is not a time to rest. The new mayor will have to work together with the councilors and City Administration in order to achieve the complete unification of the city of Mostar," said the High Representative. "The citizens of Mostar have the right to become a normal, functioning European city. A unified city is our joint promise to the citizens of Mostar," HR Ashdown added.
DL on election of Mostar Mayor, situation in Mostar	Dnevni List, pg 2 'Mayor of two-faced city', by Nermin Bise – Commenting on the election of Ljubo Beslic for the Mayor of Mostar and all events that followed the election, the author notes that the only news the election brings is that Mostar will in the future have only one Mayor without the "double' that used to be called the Deputy Mayor". The author argues it is not realistic to expect that a new, unified, divisions-free Mostar will be born overnight, claiming that events surrounding the election of Mayor have shown all the hypocrisy. "To be more exact, the hypocrites are, apart from few exceptions, the people sitting in the City Council", concludes the author.

Reisu-l-ulema of the Islamic Community Mustafa Ceric said that the Inter-religious Council is now in a "passive state" and that the Presidency members had come "to help us transit into an active phase". HoP adopts a single VAT rate	Oslobođenje cover page, pgs 4-5 'A single VAT rate of 17 percent adopted' by Vedrana Zivak, Dnevni Avaz pg 10 'VAT with a single rate of 17 percent to be introduced on July 1 2005', Dnevni List, front pg splash and pg 5 'TAX: Life more expensive by 17 percent', by NINA, Vecernji List, pg 2 'Prices of bread will be under strict control', by eme, Slobodna Dalmacija, back pg 'VAT rate of 17 percent adopted', by B. Kristo, Nezavisne Novine, pg. 4 '17% VAT rate' by M. Cubro, Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'Single rate was adopted' not signed - The draft law on value added tax with a single rate of 17 per cent was passed by an absolute majority in the BiH House of Peoples on Tuesday. Since the BiH House of Representatives earlier adopted the law in different text foreseeing a differentiated VAT rate, a commission was established in an attempt to coordinate various texts of the law. Twelve out of the 13 House of Peoples representatives in attendance voted in favor of the law. The law was passed with the provisions which the sponsor of the law, the BiH Council of Ministers, had submitted to the BiH Parliamentary Assembly for adoption. The provisions refer to a single value added tax rate of 17 per cent and a zero rate for exports. The law envisages that value added tax become effective on 1 July next year and sets the threshold for the registration of companies and firms at KM 50,000. BiH CoM Chair Adnan Terzic addressed Tuesday deputies in the BiH Parliamentary House of Peoples in the course of a discussion on a draft law on value added tax (VAT). Terzic said the BiH Council of Ministers endorsed the draft law that provides for introduction of the VAT on 1 July 2005, with a single rate of 17 per cent, and a zero rate for exports. He added that accent in the public, as well as in the debate on the VAT in the BiH House of Representatives, had been put on the need to pass a law that would ensure a higher level of social welfare protection for all those categories of less well-off citizens that might be hit by possible increase in prices of basic provisions. In that sense, the state and entity prime ministers signed recently a statement citing they are ready to define, together with their respective governments, social welfare measures for the most endangered categories of population, that are due to take effect simultaneously with the VAT. Terzic assessed that different rates of the VAT were far more suitable to well-off citizens, since they had more buying power and spent more. "Also, different rates would also be good for smugglers, organized crime and expansion of grey economy," said Terzic. According to Terzic, there are not guarantees that bread will not go more expensive even in case of the zero rate on basic provisions, and analyses pointed out there are no special causes for rise in prices even under the conditions set by the single VAT rate.

NN op-ed on VAT	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'A serious politician' by Tanja Topic – the author is critical of Adnan Terzic, BiH COM Chair, who had recently said a serious politician tenders his resignation only once. She expresses her appreciation to politicians thinking with their heads and remaining faithful to their cause, instead of being non-persistent in his demands. She also makes a reference to the recent announcement Terzic made that he would place a veto on the appointment of Radomir Njegus at BiH Security Ministry, and later on changed his mind that said "there are no legal restrictions to the appointment of Njegus". She concludes by saying that "a serious politician never blackmails his voters with resignation – a serious politicians immediately leaves the position after acknowledging that he is incapable of fulfilling given promises and undertaken duties."

Mikerevic said that millions intended for RS citizens had ended in the private pockets or "were lost over incompetence of the management structures of "Srpske Sume" company". He also assessed that the dealings cited in the report of international auditor but also previously in the report of RS Audit Office had greatly damaged the forestry status and contributed to weakening of the entire forestry sector in RS., PDHR Hays said the Company "Srpske Sume" had been run as if it had been a private firm, stressing (according to NN and GS): "Unfavourable contracts were signed, expenses were exceeded, number of products were underestimated and reserves were not registered. The result of this is the lost of tens of million of BAM." Bosko Ceko, RS Chief Auditor, announced new audit at "Srpske Sume" Public Company for the end of springtime in 2005, reminding that the audit for 2002 established the Company might have achieved better profit for at least BAM 10 million. Regarding the audit report, RS Premier on Tuesday instructed the establishment of an experts' team, that is to work out the activity plan for "Srpske Sume" aimed at imposing modern structures of management at the company. According to NN inset 1 'Mikerevic ordered investigation', RS PM Mikerevic stated that he had instructed RS MoI to conduct an investigation into possible criminal acts conducted by the management of "Srpske Sume". According to NN inset 2 'MP's about audit', RS NA is to resume 21st regular session Wednesday to discuss Report of RS Chief Auditor on "Srpske Sume" Public Company for 2002. According to EuroBlic inset 'Trkulja announces resignation', Rodoljub Trkulja, RS Minister of Agriculture, Waters and Forestry, announced it was not excluded he would tender his resignation if RS MP's at Wednesday's session failed to vote on the changes to Law on Public Companies and supported measures of RS Government related to Srpske Sume, adding: "It is clear that there is a strong lobby, in whose interests it is not to accept measures of RS Government ". He did not want to specify who are members of that lobby. BHT, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni List, pg 6 'Corruption leads to losses of tens of million of marks', by NINA, Vecernji List, pg 2 'Plundering decreases profit', by B. Oslobodjenje on spending of BiH Presidency in 2004	Oslobodjenje pg 5 '70.000 KM paid for Paravac's "Audi"', mentioned on cover, by Az. Kalamujic – Daily brings that, according to the audit report for 2004, BiH Presidency, with agreement of the BiH Council of Ministers, this years spent more than 100.000 KM from the budget reserves to compensate for the costs made previously. The report, says author, shows that Presidency was not able to make its financial dealings more serious following last year's "catastrophic" findings. The majority of the money, 70.000 KM, was spent for a car, "Audi", for Borislav Paravac, which was bought in 2003. Chair of the CoM, Adnan Terzic, says he was not too much worried with this sum of the money which CoM had to approve as the obligation was made earlier, but that CoM was facing difficulties paying out millions KM of costs for Old Bridge opening ceremony, Pope's visit, Mostar investment conference, etc and adds Presidency should be concentrated to reformatory process in BiH and new ministries to be founded, not millions KM worth manifestations.

Slobodna Dalmacija , pg 17, mentioned on front 'Ashdown blackmailed with wartime connections with Karadzic?', by Zlatko Tulic – Commenting on deals that Drazenko Mandic , Dragoslav Popovic and Aleksandar Sasa Mandic (son of Momcilo Mandic) have cut with the BiH Prosecution, the deals that are according to the author scandalously mild (between 15 and 20 months imprisonment), the author writes that many people inside and outside the BiH Court also believe that the deals are scandalous. Comparing the deals that other people have cut with the BiH Prosecution (Miroslav Prce who agreed to 5,5 years imprisonment), the author wonders whether the deal between the Prosecution and the above mentioned persons is aimed at protecting the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown , because of his "dishonest" works with Radovan Karadzic during the war.
