Update to HB case: McNair and Prce to reach court settlement	BHT 1, RHB, Oslobodjenje pg 2 'Prce negotiates on settlement with McNair' by A.N., Dnevni List front and pg 3 'Prce proposed settlement with Prosecutor McNair' by E. Mackic, Slobodna Dalmacija front and pg 2 'Prce made settlement with Prosecution' by Z. Tulic, Vecernji List front pg 'Big turnabout: Prce pleaded guilty' and pg 3 'Miroslav Prce made settlement with Prosecution' by D. Jazvic – The trial against former HDZ President Ante Jelavic and other suspects in the Hercegovacka Banka case continued on Wednesday. According to Zarko Bulic, who is a lawyer to suspect Miroslav Prce, the agreement on conditions for pleading guilty of his client was reached and it was submitted to the Council of the BiH Court. According to Bulic, this pleading guilty means a settlement with the Court if the BiH Court approves it (The BiH Court will discuss this proposal today). Bulic also added that he will not be engaged in this case any longer since his engagement does not have any purpose and thus Marko Martinovic (the lawyer of defendants Ivica Karlovic and Miroslav Rupcic) is the only lawyer who will remain engaged in this case. Jelavic's lawyer Josip Muselimovic described his participation in this process as giving assistance to the defendant in order to reveal very important facts. Jutarnji List, pg 6, 'Prce pleaded guilty and settled for 5-year imprisonment', by Snjezana Pavic, mentioned on cover 'Prce settled for 5-year imprisonment' – JL carries Miroslav Prce as saying that he agreed to settlement since he realised that, in the proceeding and process run in the way it is run, he stood no chances to defend himself. "I realised nothing made any sense. The Prosecutor openly said to me they had nothing specific against me, my name was not mentioned in any papers but they are determined and I am sure they will not give up. They observe nothing." JL adds that it was not made clear yesterday if Prce's settlement would also be valid in the Croat Self-rule case. RHB – Representatives of both defence and prosecution confirmed that Prce decided to plea guilty before the BiH Court on embezzlement charges concerning the activities of the Hercegovacka Banka and in return he should receive a reduced prison sentence if his responsibility is proved during the trial. FTV – President of Court Council Michael Simmons announced that he will appoint defence attorneys for Jelavic and Sevo, if they fail to do so themselves. Opening argument of John McNair has been scheduled for 14 October. First witness will appear to testify on 18 October. Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Prce and Prosecutor McNair settled', mentioned on cover, by M. Kukan, inset 'Nozica considers to stay in Croat Self-Rule case' – Lawyer Senka Nozica says that while Jelavic's lawyers withdrew from Hercegovacka Bank case, she is considering to stay in defence team to represent him in Croat Self-Rule case.
Reactions by Jelavic, Muselimovic	Dnevni List front and pg 3 'Prce proposed settlement with Prosecutor McNair' by E. Mackic – DL says that Josip Muselimovic stated that the aforementioned Prce's move might have serious consequences for the status of the other suspects in this case. In an inset under headline 'Jelavic: Constitutional provisions of my country are being violated in this process' not signed quotes Ante Jelavic as saying that this is a staged process and that he does not need the lawyer. He also said: "I am very well aware of contents of the BiH Constitution. Annex 4 says that foreign citizens can perform duties in the Central Bank but not in the BiH Court." Another inset in DL under headline 'Council of the BiH Court will appoint new lawyers' carries Chairman of the BiH Court as saying that he will have to appoint the person who will defend the suspects in the further court proceedings. He added that in case that the suspects refuse this person it would mean that they will have to defend themselves.

VL op-ed on Prce's settlement with Prosecution	Vecernji List pg 2 'Witch hunt' by Z. Kresic carries a commentary on the settlement between Hercegovacka Banka suspect Miroslav Prce and the BiH Prosecution which says that witch hunt has been opened in this way. The editorial also says that although it was not published, the settlement was also offered to former Director of Hercegovina Osiguranje Miroslav Rupcic, however, Rupcic refused the offer, which implied 9 years in prison. VL also says that Prosecutor John McNair promised that in case that the settlement is not reached he will demand from 12 to 15 years in prison for all suspects. The author concludes that in this way the BiH Prosecution would start to function according to the same pattern as the ICTY: 'Who does not reach an agreement with the Prosecutor he will be sentenced to many years in prison'.
Humphreys visits BiH Court : Politicians undermine significance of the Court	RHB, BHT 1, RTRS, Oslobodjenje pg 10 'Politicians must not play with the Court' by S. Sehercehajic, Dnevni list, pg 2, 'Politicians undermine significance of Court', by Danka Polovina-Mandic, mentioned on cover, and Vecernji list, pg 2, 'Appointment of judges for war crimes will not be problem', by Eldina Medunjanin – With the aim to have insight into progress of construction works on BiH Court building and to support the work of this institutions, Ambassador Michael Humphreys, Head of EC Delegation, visited the site on Wednesday and talked to the acting Court President Venceslav Ilic. "I was concerned about recent media reports as one could get impression that there are attempts to use BiH Court for various political games. The Court has been established and is one of stories of success in BiH. It is of vital importance that the Court has the possibility to continue working and developing its role so no one should interfere into its business ", Humphreys said. Reminding that efficient and functional judiciary is one of conditions for BiH's accession to the EU, the Ambassador commented that foreign judges made integral part of BiH Court and as such had the same legal and judicial authorities as domestic ones had. Ilic said that appointment of domestic judges for War Crimes Chamber would not be a problem. Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Politicans must not use BiH Court for their needs' by A.M. – Commenting to the recent statement by Ante Jelavic on the BiH Court, Humphreys stated that it is irrelevant whether such people recognize the Court or not, as court's decisions as valid. FTV - Humphreys commented: "BIH will not join EU and will not make progress in integration to EU, until it has a state court and a functional, independent judiciary system." The construction of BiH Court building should finish by the end of this year. European Commission donated 2,3 million Euros for the construction, which should speed up the establishment of War Crime Chamber, but several legal requirements are necessary for this. BiH Presidency should appoint Court Registry at the next session. Registry will then appoint candidates for judges of Court Council. Final decision on judges will be made by High Representative. BiH Court still doesn't have a prison.
Covic's immunity not revoked	RHB, RTRS, Dnevni List pg 4 'President Tadic was not removed' mentioned on cover, by De.L., Glas Srpske pg 2 'No removals' by N.Z. – With regard to media speculations about abolishment of immunity to Croat member of the BiH Presidency Dragan Covic, the BiH Constitutional Court issued a press release, which says that this information is not correct. BHT 1 on immunity status of politicians charged with office misuse	BHT 1 by Sanita Lisica – BiH Constitutional Court will discuss the cases of the officials charged with the misuse of the office who demanded immunity status. These include Dragan Covic, Edhem Bicakcic, Nikola Grabovac and Sulejman Garib. BiH Constitutional Court confirmed that BiH Immunity Law doesn't represent the breaches of BiH Constitution. Dragan Covic has been accused of authority misuse two years ago, and then requested immunity status during the trial. Covic claims that he will respect court decision, whether court decides to deprive him of the immunity status or not. Mato Tadic, President of BiH Constitutional Court: "There are many such cases, like Mr. Covic, Mr. Bicakcic, Mr. Garib. I can't recall all names, but I know that there are several cases from different levels, from state level to canton level." However, Constitutional Court can't deprive them of immunity status. Mato Tadic: "That is not the authority of Constitutional Court, and we didn't raise the issue of canceling immunity status. We don't have such request. We have request to evaluate if the canceling procedure is in accordance to BiH Constitution." These cases have been transferred from canton courts to BiH Court on request of BiH Prosecution. BiH Court has refused these cases and returned them to BiH Prosecution. The chief of BiH Court's special department didn't explain why this happened.
Tadic denies McNair to remove him due to bribe	Dnevni List pg 4 'President Tadic was not removed' mentioned on cover, by De.L. – With regard to media speculations, which say that Head of the Special Department for Organized Crime with the BiH Prosecution John McNair removed BiH Constitutional Court President Mato Tadic, the BiH Constitutional Court issued a press release denying these speculations. VL claims BiH judiciary totally run by foreigners	Vecernji list, pg 3, 'Judiciary totally handed over to foreigners', by Ilko Barbaric – VL's well informed source close to the BiH Presidency and to BiH judicial bodies claims that Sulejman Tihic, BiH Presidency Chairman, has signed with the High Representative Paddy Ashdown an Agreement on Establishment of Registry within the Department for War Crimes, Organised Crime of the Criminal and Appellate Court of BiH. VL says that connoisseurs claim that, had BiH authorities read the Agreement, they would never have signed it as it implies capitulation of BiH judiciary since many provisions of the Agreement are placed above the independence of state institutions in BiH. According to the daily, the Registry, whose members are appointed for 5-year period, runs the process of engaging foreign judges and prosecutors who are appointed to Section I of Criminal and Appellate Departments; it is in charge of activities related to detention units, defense, protection and support to witnesses. It is also competent to run domestic and international auxiliary staff, runs finances, delivers annual reports to the High Representative. VL claims that Article 4 of the Agreement says that Registry staff and members of their families enjoy diplomatic immunity, adding that the same Article foresees that Registry staff "cannot bear criminal responsibility for any deed done in line of duty".

Terzic – BiH Election Commission confirmed that all preparations for local elections on 2 October have been completed. The Commission discovered mistakes in some municipal electoral commissions, where voter registration lists haven't been completed. There have also been violations of Electoral Law during appointment of Electoral Boards. BiH Electoral Commission had to annul appointment decisions for Electoral Boards in Konjic, Siroki Brijeg and Ugljevik. Polling places on election day will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. First preliminary results will be published at midnight.
Mladen Ivanic advocates that position of HR be terminated	Dnevni list , pg 6, 'Abolish position of the High Representative', not signed , and Slobodna Dalmacija , pg 11, 'Abolish position of the High Representative by 2006', by A. Macanovic – BiH Foreign Minister Mladen Ivanic told journalists in Banja Luka yesterday that he would do his best that the position of the High Representative be abolished by December 2005. He said that it was time BiH institutions started functioning independently. In light of more and more frequent announcements of the need to change the BiH Constitution coming also from the OHR Sarajevo, Ivanic said: " The High Representative should be the interpreter of the Dayton Accord, not creator of the new Constitution. "

Helsinki Committee on election campaign	Oslobodjenje pg 3 'Campaign in a sign of religious leaders', Dnevni list, pg 7, 'Pre-election campaign characterised by religious leaders', by Nina, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 17, 'Reis lobbied for SDA, Chetniks "got ready"', by Dinko Pasic –The Helsinki Committee Human Rights Committee stated that the campaign for the 2 October local elections in BiH has been conducted in a predominately democratic atmosphere, characterized by fair play and absence of significant incidents which could threaten validity of the elections. The statement says "the biggest blow to the fairness of the campaign was posed by the election rally of the Serbian Radicals in Bijeljina on 3 October, when the deputy chairman of the Serbian Radical Party, Tomislav Nikolic, held a speech imbued with hatred and intolerance and also voiced territorial aspirations towards BiH". According to the statement, the main feature of the elections campaign is "a high degree of involvement of religious leader, who implicitly pointed the voters towards three nationalist parties – SDA, SDS and HDZ . The leaders of the Islamic community, Mustafa Ceric and Ismet Spahic, were the most prominent in doing this." According to the Helsinki committee, the celebrations marking 200 anniversary of the First Serbian Uprising, which were held in Visegrad, were attended by a large number of SDS representatives, who used the occasion for their election purposes". Cardinal Vinko Puljic spoke about "a ploy against the Catholics in BiH" at the beginning of September. He also sought help from the Vatican and Croatia. Talking about the content of the election campaign, representatives of political parties used similar rhetoric and spoke mainly about issues far removed from local communities. There were very few local issues mentioned, instead there was talk about European integration, employment, one's own nation being threatened and "high politics". "Estimates indicate on 2 October that we could see the lowest turnout since the war. The most worrying aspect is apathy among young people and city dwellers, who do not intend to vote," the statement says.
GS reactions to Tihic, Mesic	Glas Srpske, cover page story 'Blowing into the coldness' by Snj. M. – GS article carries a compilation of statements upon Sulejman Tihic - Stjepan Mesic meeting, i.e. the support of Mesic to a change of BiH Constitution, as well as various statements given in the past regarding the change of BiH Constitution. The article at the end concludes by saying that regardless of aspirations of Croatian politicians, BiH Constitution cannot be changed, nor RS can be abolished, without consent of Serb people. GS inset 'Minimum' quotes PDP President and BiH Minister of Foreign Affairs Mladen Ivanic as commenting on those who plead for change of the Dayton Agreement by saying: 'Their final aim is to abolish RS, and RS is a minimum beyond which we do not want and cannot go'. He also said one should ask the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, to say why those who had pleaded for a change of the Dayton Agreement, BiH Constitution and abolishing of RS did not bear any responsibilities for their "anti-Dayton acting".

VL int with Lozancic	Vecernji List pg 5 'International administration is corrupted and hinders BiH on way to Europe', mentioned on cover 'International administration is corrupted' by Z. Kresic - In an interview given to VL, Federation of BiH President Niko Lozancic says that the current constitutional solution is the biggest obstacle to any positive progress in BiH and that the OHR will be the only functional authority in BiH as long as the Dayton Peace Accord is in power. Lozancic is harshly criticising the International Community in BiH. Asked to comment on the journalist's conclusion that the OHR exactly is criticising domestic politicians quite often, Lozancic says that this is skilful shifting of responsibility and he added: "They (the OHR) are aware that they are the only efficient authority in BiH and therefore they are the only ones who are responsible for the situation in this country. As long as the situation is such we shall be in front of the door of Europe." Asked as to who hinders the change of the current situation in BiH, Lozancic says that many people from the IC would lose job if self-sustainable and functional authority system would be established in BiH and also there is a lot of opposition of various representatives of the domestic authority. Asked whether he believes that there is abuse in the international administration, Lozancic says that certain companies get all big jobs in BiH according to criteria defined by international power-wielders. Lozancic also says that the OHR officials only have complete immunity and they are not responsible to anyone. Lozancic added: "The elections only serve international administrators in BiH who always have scapegoats for all their failures."
VL int with Raguz	Vecernji List pg 15 'There is wish to make position of Croat people in BiH relative' by M. Relota carries an interview with Chairman of the BiH House of Representatives Martin Raguz. According to Raguz, serious and open discussion on reorganization of BiH and change of the BiH Constitution should start by the end of the year and demands for this move are coming from domestic politicians but also from important international institutions (first of all from the Council of Europe Parliamentary Assembly). Raguz believes that such demands coming from the international circles are the most important political message that the domestic authority received lately. Asked to comment on the attacks against Cardinal Vinko Puljic who warns of endangered position of Croats, Raguz says that there is a wish to make relative the position of the Croat people in BiH through these attacks, however, according to Raguz, we have to continue persistent and grounded struggle for rights of all peoples in BiH but also for dignity, equality and perspective of the Croat people in BiH.
DL statement of day: Ashdown	Dnevni List pg 2 carries in its 'Statement of Day' High Representative Paddy Ashdown as saying: "We do not have favorites at coming elections."
VL: There is no money for newly established state institutions	Vecernji List pg 6 'Bigger taxes for BiH citizens for new institutions existing on paper only', mentioned on cover 'State apparatus demand bigger taxes', by E. Medunjanin - VL says that it has been warned at the last session of the Peace Implementation Council Steering Board that newly established Ministries, institutions and Agencies at the state level should start functioning by the end of the year, however, according to VL, the lack of money is a big problem for meeting of this obligation. The article also says that currently these institutions exist on the paper only and Chairman of the BiH Council of Ministers Adnan Terzic estimates that at least 10 million KM should be allocated for this purpose. Also, although the International Monetary Fund does not allow the state Government to increase the budget for this purpose, people from the state Government expect that the EC and OHR might use their authority in order to get approval for increase of the budget. Terzic also believes that entities might also allocate certain funds for this purpose since the state institutions will take over many tasks from the entity institutions.
Update to renaming some cities in RS with prefix 'Serb'	Nezavisne Novine pg 4 'RS Government to make a move' by D. Risojevic - Desanka Radjevic, Head of SDS Caucus at the RS NA House of Peoples, told NN that the RS Government would have to propose new names for 12 municipalities and cities across RS (containing prefix "Serb"), since it is evident even now the Joint Commission of the Council of Peoples and RS NA would not reach an agreement on this. She said that Government cannot sent for further consideration names of the cities initially proposed, but instead has to make new ones.
