Tihic addressed UN General Assembly	TV Hayat – BiH Presidency Chairman Sulejman Tihic on Wednesday addressed the UN General Assembly. In his address, Tihic also criticized the UN. "I told them about the successful UN project (mission) but pointed out all objections about untimely actions and inefficiency which they demonstrated in BiH. That was, naturally, an occasion to mention Srebrenica, as one of the international community's mistakes and proof of the need to have efficient mechanisms in order not to have such events ever repeated again," Tihic said in a exclusive statement for TV Hayat give by phone. "I also spoke about the progress, i.e. reforms, achieved in BiH over the past nine years, about war crimes, about war criminals – who are the biggest problem not only in BiH, but in the whole region – about the importance of the international court's (the Hague tribunal) trials of war criminals from the former Yugoslavia. I also spoke about BiH's intention to set up a department within the state court which would try war criminals – a kind of a miniature Hague – something for which we shall need both technical and financial help as well as the expertise and involvement of a number of international judges and prosecutors, etc.," Tihic added. In his address to the UN General Assembly, Tihic said that next year, when the 10th anniversary of the Dayton Peace Accord will be marked, will be an opportunity for local political representatives to start talks on the rearrangement of the constitutional system in BiH in order to make a swift transition from the Dayton to Brussels phase. "I also spoke about terrorism as well as the participation of BiH in the international anti-terror coalition. I emphasized that terrorism is a wrong method of struggle, that it is amoral and that innocent people are victims. It is counter-productive because it does not solve problems but makes them more complex. I also mentioned the example of Bosnian Muslims who were the principal victims in the aggression on BiH, the principal victims of genocide and suffering but who have never resorted to terrorism either during or after the war," Tihic told TV Hayat while presenting the essence of his speech delivered to the UN General Assembly members yesterday. BHT, FTV, RTRS, Oslobodjenje pg 7, mentioned on cover 'The time has come for BiH to enter a Brussels phase', Dnevni Avaz cover page 'Borders cannot and must not be changed', pg 2 'Europe and the World are passing an historic exam', Nezavisne Novine, pg. 2 'BiH supports fight against terrorism' inset 'George Bush promised help to BiH' by Agencies also covered the issue.

OHR: First reforms then PfP	Oslobodjenje pg 6 'Reforms first then PfP', FENA – Spokesperson of OHR South, Sanela Tunovic, said at a press conference in Mostar on Wednesday that requirements of NATO, under which BiH authorities should change constitutional-legal organization in order for BiH to be admitted into the NATO Partnership for Peace program, were quite clear, and reforms have to be completed/implemented. Representatives of the NATO Parliamentary Assembly pointed out on Tuesday in Sarajevo that the constitutional-legal complicity of BiH is one of the problems for its accession to the PfP. Tunovic also announced that on Thursday in Sarajevo, High Representative Paddy Ashdown will meet with the president of Republika Srpska (RS) Dragan Cavic, and newly-appointed RS Minister of Interior Darko Matijasevic. Nezavisne Novine, pg. 2 'Ashdown will meet Cavic and Matijasevic today' by Srna, Glas Srpske, pg. 3 'Hague is a measure for everything' by N. VL on NATO's recommendation on need for constitutional changes in BiH; reactions	Vecernji List, pg 3 'NATO wants change of organizational set-up of BiH', mentioned on front, by Zoran Kresic – The author reminds of the recent visit by a NATO delegation, noting that the most important message the delegation had for BiH authorities was the recommendation that BiH had to change its complicated constitutional set-up. According to the author, the message completely shatters the belief that the cantons and entities will survive. VL also carries a few comments to the issue. President of HDZ, Barisa Colak, welcomes the NATO's recommendation, saying that the HDZ only believes in a solution that will be reached by internal political forces and representatives of the constituent peoples. According to the SDP President, Zlatko Lagumdžija, there needs to be a consensus in BiH, which will secure economic self-sustainability. VL notes that the Serb political parties have considerable reservations towards constitutional changes, seeing them as attempts to abolish the RS. However, the author argues that the constitutional changes will be a reality because the IC is insisting on them. Finally, the author says if the RS is faced with either the survival of the RS or arrest of Radovan Karadzic, it would opt for the latter.

Reactions to Sacirbegovic - Tihic meeting	Nezavisne Novine, cover and pg. 2 'Family meeting with a wanted person' by M. Cubro - SDP delegate at BiH HoR Zlatko Lagumdžija thinks that the meeting of BiH Presidency Chairman Sulejman Tihic with Muhamed Sacirbegovic, a person whom Interpol had put on the wanted list, proves the best that a person close to men on power needs not to worry over Court sentences. Lagumdžija also called on the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown, to impose the law on confiscation of (illegally acquired) property. "If he is not ready to do it, in that case he, in perception of ordinary people, becomes a protector of criminal political structure of this country", comments Lagumdžija. Nezavisne Novine, pg. 6 'OHR is responsible for the adoption of the Law' by M. Cubro – Selim Beslagić from SDP claims that this initiative is not a pre-election trick of SDP. IFIMES on local elections in BiH	Vecernji List, pg 5 'Every other voter not to cast vote', by Valentina Rupčić – carries excerpts of a pre-election analysis on BiH, which was prepared by the Ljubljana-based 'IFIMES' institute. According to the analysis, many people will not turn out in the elections because the current parties in power, the SDA, SDS, HDZ and their satellites PDP and SBiH, together with the OHR, failed to improve any segment of society, especially the economic picture. "This has caused aversion towards ruling structures, as well against the OHR because the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown, enabled the return of national parties to power through his consent", reads IFIMES' analysis. IFIMES also conducted opinions polls in the RS and FBiH. Of 892 interviewees in the RS, 67,8% do not want the ruling powers to win majority in local elections. When it comes to the FBiH, of 924 interviewees, 43,2% say they will not vote, whilst the rest would vote for as follows: SDA (18,4%), 11,7% (SDP), 8,4% (HDZ) and 4,3% (SBiH).

Senior representatives of BiH government, international organisations and partner countries have gathered to discuss achieved progress in BiH and possibilities for further progress. Some 40 delegations with 190 members from across the world are taking part in the meeting. World Bank representative Orsalia Kalantzopoulos said at the opening of the conference that its objective is to review programs and the pace of reforms. She added that senior WB representatives earlier supported progress achieved by BiH in the reconstruction of the country and underlined that BiH cannot afford any delay on the road towards sustainable development of the country. Head of the European Commission Delegation in BiH Michael Humphreys said that reform is not a condition for foreign assistance, but a component on which BiH builds guarantees that the funds will be used in the best possible way. "The conference underlines the long term truth that BiH has to take its faith into its own hands, and the EU is there to hear the plans for future activities", Humphreys said. BiH is in transition nowadays and is the most successful example of post-conflict reconstruction in the world, BiH Council of Ministers Chair Adnan Terzic said. Unlike the donors' conference nine years ago this conference will discuss the development of BiH "based on our own Development Strategy and the Program of Foreign Investments." WB Director in BiH Dirk Reinermann earlier announced that funds would not be raised at this conference, but that important issues such as the macroeconomic situation, fiscal and issues concerning the development of the private and financial sector would be discussed. Reduction of poverty, development of institutions, activities aimed at joining the EU, reforms, investments and coordination between donors are also on the agenda. BiH needs approximately 1,5 billion USD for the implementation of the mid-term development strategy. FTV, FENA – Zlatko Hurtic, Advisor for the Poverty Reduction Strategy Program (PRSP) to the BiH Council of Ministers Chairman, said on Wednesday that the consultative meeting chaired by the European Commission and the World Bank is an opportunity to inform donors about the BiH development documents and ensure them that the funds will be spent in accordance with priorities stated in those documents. "The purpose of this conference is to convince donors that we finally have our own documents, a development strategy and a program of foreign investments, and that this time they do not have to set priorities, but just to financially support implementation of already designed projects", Hurtic said. He said that the expected level of support exceeds 1,5 billion USD and that this much is needed for the implementation of the PRSP.

Text of draft procurement law harmonised	BHT, Herceg Bosna Radio - BiH will soon get the Law on Public Procurement. This law should prevent corruption and mistakes during purchases for public institutions. Audit Reports have showed many mistakes in bidding/tender procedures, which caused loss of several millions of KMs. Frane Maroevic, Spokesman of European Commission in BiH: "Law on public procurement is one of the most important economic laws and laws against corruption in this country. About 900 mill KM are spent every year through public purchase process. All Audit Reports, by RS and FBIH Auditors, have shown that there have been big problems in institutions with the purchase procedure." According to Nade Radovic, representative at BiH House of Peoples, the joint commission of both BiH parliament houses has reached the agreement on text of the law on public procurement. Srdjan Blagovcanin, Spokesman of Transparency International BiH says that regulations on public procurements have been confusing, which made many abuses possible. BiH Constitutional Court abolishes names of 12 places containing Serb prefixes	BHT, FTV, RTRS, Nezavisne Novine, cover and pg. 3 'Names of 12 towns and municipalities in RS were annulled' by Srna, Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'Makeup test for Srpska' by N. Z., EuroBlic, cover and pg. RS3 'Invalid names of Serb Municipalities' by T. V., Dnevni List pg 5 'Name Srpsko Sarajevo abolished' by NINA and Slobodna Dalmacija last pg 'RS Law on Territorial Organization is not valid' by B. Kristo, SRNA – The Constitutional Court of BiH has abolished some articles of the Law on Territorial Organization and Local Self-Management of the RS and Articles 1 and 2 of the Law on the City of Srpsko Sarajevo, after it was established that the legal party (the RS National Assembly and the Council of Peoples) had not implemented within the set deadline of three months the ruling of the Constitutional Court that the names of 12 municipalities and towns were not in line with the BiH Constitution as they contain the prefix "Serb". A statement by the Constitutional Court says that parts of the law had seized to be in force on the day of the publication of the ruling in the BiH Official Gazette. "With the aim of unimpeded functioning of these units of local self-management, the Constitutional Court has allocated temporary names for the units until the legal party – the RSNA and the RS Council of Peoples – removes the mentioned irregularities which are in breach with the Constitutional Court of BiH in line with the Constitutional Court's decision of February 27 2004," the statement says but it does not mention which temporary names had been allocated. SRNA has learnt from the Constitutional Court in Sarajevo that the details connected with this ruling of the Constitutional Court will be disclosed separately. Oslobodjenje pg 10 'Old names returned to Foca, Bosanski Brod and Bosanska Kostajnica', Dnevni Avaz pg 3 say that the Constitutional Court decided to return pre-war names to the RS municipalities of Foca Bosanski Brod and Bosanska Kostajnica, as other towns and municipalities got just temporary names.
BHT on OSA	BHT - Vetting procedure for all employees of BiH Intelligence and Security Agency (OSA) will be finished by the end of the year. OSA guarantees that any officer who may compromise the service will be dismissed. OSA will have some 700 employees. OSA denies that separate entity services are actually still active, and that they only changed their name to state service. Zoran Kuljanin, Spokesman of BiH OSA says that the common activity of the service has started in both entities. However, four months after the establishment of the service, many people doubt the unity of this service. Werner Wnendt, Senior Deputy High Representative: "It is not acceptable that different factions exist within OSA. This must be a unified agency, which will protect interest of BiH and BiH citizens". Parliament, which is in charge of control of OSA, does not believe that officers of the agency really can work together. According to Nikola Spiric, Deputy Chair of BiH House of Peoples, it is impossible to expect people who used to fight each other during the war, to cooperate and work together after the war. OSA claims that they have a partnership relation with foreign intelligence services since this is the only way to fight organized crime, terrorism and arrest ICTY incitees. Denis Hadzovic, Centre for Security Studies, claims that such service is necessary for BiH. According to him, main priority is definition of internal threats, since external threats for BiH do not exist anymore. Law on OSA predicts several levels of control, most important of them being control by Parliament. Reform of intelligence service is important step towards Euro-Atlantic integrations.

SD on Croat self-rule charges	Slobodna Dalmacija , front and pg 17 'Jelavic charged by Lovrenovic too', by Zlatko Tulic – reiterating like on many occasions that the process against Ante Jelavic and others in the Croat self-rule case is politically rigged, the author notes that the BiH Prosecution, being under pressure from outside, is trying everything to have Jelavic and others convicted. According to the author, the Prosecution is even trying to find all sorts of witnesses that would charge the defendants and speak about the Croat self-rule. In that context, Tulic says that one of witnesses that is likely to appear in the trials is Ivan Lovrenovic , a Sarajevo writer, who, according to Tulic, promoted himself to an expert on Croat issues and critic of the Catholic Church in BiH. Tulic also argues that Lovrenovic is one of Croat intellectuals with whom a former High Representative for BiH, Wolfgang Petritsch , had dialogues, and on basis of those dialogues, he (Petritsch) took decisions, discarding what the majority of Croats in BiH felt. SD also notes that former member of BiH Presidency Jozo Krizanovic , former FBiH Defence Minister, Mijo Anic , Anic's former deputy, Ferid Buljubasic , general Atif Dudakovic , Dragan Lukac , and former member of BiH Presidency, Beriz Belkic , are to be witnesses in the trials.
