On 17 September 1997, five members of the OHR — Senior Deputy High Representative Gerd Wagner, Charles Morpeth, Leah Melnick, Thomas Reinhardt and Juergen Schauf — and seven members of UNMIBH lost their lives in a helicopter crash near Fojnica in central Bosnia. The OHR officials weren route to Bugojno to meet with local authorities to discurkey issues related to peace implementation. The UN official intended to fly on to Brcko for talks on police reform matter. The OHR remembers the victims of this tragic accident as committed members of a community striving to ensure that the people of Bosnia and Herzegovina can live in peace. It has for a sense of loss ever since and continues to extend its deeper sympathy to their relatives and friends. At the first anniver in 1998, a memorial monument was erected near the crash site.
