BH Presidency rejects OHR's concerns over SBS Director Kovac	RHB, BH Radio 1, Oslobodjenje pg 8 'Reforms must not be delayed', Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'OHRs objections against Relja Kovac's appointment not grounded', Dnevni List pg 3 'Presidency supported appointment of Kovac', Vecernji List pg 2 'Adoption of package of reform's decisions next week', Slobodna Dalmacija last pg 'Slow preparations for Partnership for Peace', Nezavisne Novine pg 8 'Appointment of generals soon' – BiH Presidency held a session on Wednesday and concluded that the OHR's objection to the appointment of Relja Kovac as director of the State Border Service [SBS] was not acceptable and that the procedure for his appointment had been conducted in line with the current regulations. Presidency Chairman Sulejman Tihic said after the session that those regulations were also applied last year when SBS director Robert Peric, a representative of the Croat people was appointed, to which OHR did not object. According to the Presidency, the OHR's objections to the procedure for Kovac's appointment are unfounded: "We have not received a single serious objection from the institutions we consulted during the appointment procedure. Our legal service and the agency for the state service thought that other, formal objections, were unfounded." OHR believes that a minimum of legal conditions has not been met in this case. There was no job advertisement, and the appointee does not have the rank of the chief inspector or at least 16 years of experience in the police work. The Presidency also discussed the views of the international officials in our country on the delay in meeting the conditions for BiH admission to PfP. The Presidency members asked the competent bodies to step up their activities and complete the defence reform. Tihic said: "We asked the Defence Minister and his deputies to prepare and table before the Presidency the decisions which the Presidency should adopt in the sphere of the Defence system reform, including the decision on the reorganization of the armed forces in BiH and the decision on the division of the posts of generals in the armed forces of BiH. "Eventual walk out of the Party for BiH from the power, is the stalemate for with their coalitional partners in BiH Parliament and further clashes between SDA and HDZ mean that Government in BiH doesn't exist," concluded Radmanovic. RTRS – Following the meeting with RS President, Dragan Cavic, the President of Association of families of killed soldiers, Radojka Boric said that this category of the population was embittered with their status in RS and therefore announced they would participate in protests in Banja Luka. Bishops' Conference of Croatia and BiH	RHB, Oslobodjenje pg 4 'About 45% of Catholics left BiH', Vecernji List pg 5 'To preserve specifics of Croats in BiH', Dnevni List front, pg 9 'Dangerous and unfair solutions to the detriment of weakest ones', Slobodna Dalmacija front, pg 17 '45 percent of Catholics left BiH' – The sixth regular session of the Bishops' Conference of Croatia and BiH was held in Mostar, and on the the current situation of the Catholic Church in BiH it was concluded once again that there is a dramatic situation when the number of Catholics is in question since as many as 45 % of them left BiH due to wartime ethnic cleansing and post-war political engineering. Also, the Bishops stressed once again that the future of peoples and citizens can be realistic only through respecting of the basic principles of fairness and equal position of all 3 constituent peoples and for this reason the Bishops call on representatives of the International Community and domestic authority not to impose dangerous and unfair solutions, especially not to the detriment of the weakest ones. Oslobodjenje on situation in Mostar	Oslobodjenje pg 7 'City Administration without Serbs' by N. Bise – Two days after the decision of abolishing six municipalities in Mostar nothing "spectacular changed", writes the author also noting that even the High Rep Paddy Ashdown warned that the results would not be visible at the same moment. Article further reads that judging from the atmosphere among representatives of the political parties in the city, the decision by High Rep yet left to be really tested. Author notes that opinions on it were very different. President of the HDZ Cantonal Board, Josip Merdzo, says he believes that the decision will be implemented entirely. President of SDP Cantonal Board believes that implementation will be progressing, but also expects some difficulties, and adds that out of 7 key people in City Council none is a Serb which has to be changed. As for SDA, the party claims that Ashdown's decision is "weak and hard to implement". Zijad Hadziomerovic, newly appointed President of SDA City Board, says that the situation in the city is confusing following the abolishment of the municipalities. He further adds that thanks to HR the powers in Mostar will be in hands of HDZ forever. "We see this decision ass the violence against democracy and human rights. Normally, we will try to change it in legal way and to adjust it to our interests. Citizens rejected Ashdown's solution, and referendums confirmed this. HR is aware of this, and he eve said that this decision can be adjusted and corrected," concludes Hadziomerovic.
DA claims problems in Mostar already appeared	Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'First problems in functioning of the city appeared' by F. Vele – DA claims that the problems with the decision abolishing six municipalities in Mostar already appeared. Apparently, the works in city administration are not familiar with their functions and what they should do within the new system of managing and offering services to citizens. However, Mostar Mayor Hamdija Jahic says that this was not a result of political obstruction, only a normal reaction to the new way of city's functioning: "We will try to solve existing problems in the functioning of the administration in the next few days through contacts with former heads of municipalities. That will be hard, but we will try for citizens not to feel it." DA also brings separate article ['Heads of municipalities became advisors'] which explains new structure of city administration.
DL on Mostar single administration	Dnevni List pg 2 'How will 'single Mostar' function?' by Arijana Beus – The author argues that nobody is happy with the new situation in Mostar because many problems will rise in Mostar following the High Representative's decision and March 15, which marked the abolishment of municipalities. According to the author, despite the HR's efforts, the situation is not simple at all because many people will stay jobless, and on the other hand, many institutions, which were funded by former municipalities, are on ice, since it is not known whether the City administration will be able to afford funding of these institutions, such as soup kitchen, senior citizens' home etc.

Oslobodjenje op-ed on Mostar	Oslobodjenje pg 2 'Mostar sevdah' op-ed by Gojko Beric – “The effort paid off, regardless who participate in it. Now, it is up to people of Mostar whether they... continue to live in two ethnic ghettos or they will start to come out of them,” reads the introduction to the editorial that refers to the unification of Mostar city. “How come there were no celebrations on the occasion of Mostar unification? Wasn't it possible to organize some kind of, even modest, public celebration, including symbolic fireworks, on that day? Wasn't there anybody in Mostar on that day happy to see bringing down of [Mostar's] phantom wall of ethnic divisions? Is it possible that only Paddy Ashdown was happy in Mostar on that day? Unfortunately, it looks like it.” Author further concludes that it is understandable as Mostar is “material, economic, social, spiritual and mental image of fifteen years old reign of the [nationalistic politics], intimidating sample of hatred and chauvinistic violence.”
SBiH and SDU discuss cooperation possibilities	Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'SBiH and SDU will demand early elections' – Representatives of the Party for BiH and SDU met on Wed to discuss possible cooperation in future. Neither of the party leaders, Miro Lazovic nor Safet Halilovic, wanted to comment whether this was a beginning of the new coalition, but only stressed that their parties had many identical goals.
Humphreys on reforms in BiH	Dnevni Avaz cover, pg 5 'Europe is not Islam-phobic' by Sead Numanovic – In an interview to DA, Michael Humphreys, Head of European Commission delegation to BiH, denied that Europe was discriminatory towards Islam. Asked to comment whether European 'YES' turns into 'NO', Humphreys answered: “No, it doesn't. Avis of the EC to the BiH's aspirations to join EU should be clear. In order to achieve that, it is needed to implement certain reforms. They are being implemented and it is only a matter to what extent each of us is satisfied with the pace. What the results will be in June, I don't know. That primarily depends on your authorities... Personally, I was very satisfied with the pace of reforms in November and December last year. Then, there was January, a dead month, and in February the speed was a little bit, but not enough, accelerated.”
NN editorial on political situation in BiH	Nezavisne Novine pg 7 'Ready for elections' by Nihada Jablic – The author is writing about the current situation in BiH, saying that over the past 17 months on power, the nationalistic parties have demonstrated their readiness for only one thing: to take care of their own interests and appointments of their supporters at institutions, from which major financial resources could be taken away. She also says that as the elections approach, the masks fall down and disclose the real faces of the political parties. All nationalistic parties have now turned to allegedly fight for the interests of Serbs, Bosniaks and Croats.
DA editorial on Federation of BiH	Dnevni Avaz pg 3 'Ten years of FBiH' op-ed by Mirela Kukan – On the occasion of the 10 anniversary of the Washington agreement on establishment of FBiH, author notes that despite years that passed the situation in FBiH is such that “FBiH authorities, which regularly go into crisis and where every now and then someone wants to dismiss the Prime Minister, is the best proof that there is still not enough of competence to implement Washington agreement.” Beside a number of social issues, author concludes also that the “many institutions have not yet overcome parallelism, unfortunately, and that the best example of that is Defence Ministry, which – despite denials – shows that Federation is still divided into two parts: Bosniak and Croat.”

Miletic claims ICTY doesn't trust RS evidences on war crimes	Blic front pg, pgs 12 & 13 'The Hague doesn't trust evidences from RS' - Head of RS Secretariat for Relations with the Hague Tribunal, Dejan Miletic, claims that there are few Croats and Bosniaks indicted for crimes against Serbs. Miletic says that The Hague is ignoring the evidence material on the war crimes committed by Bosniaks and Croats provided by the RS. He adds that the main problem is that the Hague communicates with the Federation BiH on regular basis, asking for information on cases in process, while it doesn't communicate with the RS in the same way. "How can we then not expect that the Prosecution will be selective in processing war crimes? It looks as if the Bosniaks and the Croats are only victims, and that they did nothing wrong during the war," says Miletic.
