In that context, Lagumdžija recalls what he told the HR: "I did not go in front of people in the autumn last year and promised them that I would be a participant of something I did not believe in". Lagumdžija continues: "I told him that I did not want to allow that a new Hurd (Douglas Hurd, former British Foreign Secretary) happened to the country I loved and in which I wanted to stay, unlike the international officials who come here for the career and money. If what I said was an insult to someone, then I think that someone should stop working the job in which he gets offended."

Leader of NHI Kresimir Zubak commented: ‘It is very likely that changes in Croatia will have its reflection in BiH and lead to changes of balance in power and redefinition of policy... pre-election campaign has shown communication between local HDZ board with HQ is not very disciplined and disputes may continue.’ Dnevni Avaz pg 8 ‘HDZ reformists are only about to prove themselves’ – Party for BiH President Safet Halilovic: ‘When Racan won at the time, everybody expected democratisation in Croatia, and the solution to the issue of foreign affairs. There is no authorities who would not wish to have Dodik, Djokic, Zubak and Ladumzija to attack it and to criticise it. That, in a way, ‘alliance for corruption’ contains more names for a prison or political pension rather than for the elections’ list... Their union presents mocking up democracy and BiH as legal state’.

Truth is that HDZ is not anymore the snake from Tudjman’s time, but it is not well-meaning lizard either.’ – writes author adding that the situation on the East [Serbia] is even more ‘depressive: ‘Unsuccessful, but symptomatic, presidential elections in Serbia warn of the dangerous which would result from restoration of former regime and the return of ‘red-black coalition, but this time black could be dominant’. Author further says that despite defeats Serbia faced in past, it is still very much interested in RS, while ‘RS become the main joker used by nationalistic Belgrade to blackmail West, who is not too firm in tis shy intention to recognize Kosovo’s independence. That is why almost all Paddy Ashdown’s reforms are obstructed from RS... The international community unfortunately doesn’t succeeded in finding the receipt to remove this combined destruction of BiH, this nationalistic diversion from outside and inside, which found its disciples among Serbs from both sides of Drina.’ Editorial concludes: ‘Rightists on the eastern borders, rightists on the west. Bad neighbourhood for even much more stabile countries than BiH.’
