Big European yes for BiH	Dnevni Avaz front page, pg. 2 'Big European yes for BiH' - BiH has qualified with certain conditions to start process of Stabilisation and Association with European Union. This is a response to be announce in Brussels today and additionally explain afterwards in Sarajevo. Dnevni Avaz pg. 2 'Extraordinary BiH's success' - The OHR did not want to speculate about possible EC response to the feasibility study on BiH. The Chief OHR Spokesman Julian Braithwaite however said that, if the response is positive, "that would be an extraordinary success of BiH, which was only eight years ago experiencing the worst armed conflict in Europe since the second world war." BHTV also announced positive but conditional EU response to BiH's chances to start Stabilisation and Association process. Dnevni List (page 5, "Positive response regarding Feasibility study is expected", by Fena) - the Director of BiH Direction for European Integration, Osman Topcagic, stated that he expected a positive response from the European Commission regarding the Feasibility Study on BiH that is to assess BiH capabilities in joining the Agreement on Stabilisation and Accession.
Terzic BiH process of accession to EU	BHTV - Chairman of CoM Terzic commented BiH chances to start negotiations on Stabilisation and Association agreement. Terzic said: "It is still to early to comment because we need to wait until EU makes final decision, but I expect positive answer on our feasibility study...we are going to make expert teams for negotiations for all areas...we may expect also additional conditions from the EU and we shall put a lot of energy to meet those requirements...I expect BiH will complete the negotiations till end of 2004 and sign agreement with 25 member states afterwards...EC is satisfied with a pace of reforms which were implemented within 180 days together with entities' governments. Planned reforms for September were fully implemented, while those for October are completed in 80% and they continue in November." Terzic told Dnevni Avaz pg. 2 that the new EC requirements towards BiH would include restructuring of the police forces and social/health-care system. The need to continue with started reforms in the sectors of defence, security/intelligence, public broadcasting system, customs and taxes will also be emphasised, according to Terzic.

Mostar restructuring	Vecernji List (page 2, "Hypocrisy and indecisiveness", by Zoran Kresic) - notes that the referendum in Mostar's Municipality North and the announcement of "declaration of citizens" in the Municipality Southeast are the strongest attacks on the Mostar Commission which has to come up with a recipe to abolish the municipalities and unify the city. In that context, VL claims the SDA showed to be the most destructive force in Mostar, preparing itself for a possible trade that could eventually take place "because the Commission will most likely not reach a joint statute". VL also speculates that the SDA will during today's talks at the highest level with the HDZ ask for concessions in Mostar and in turn it would give concession regarding the situation in the Government of Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Noting that the SDA, under the leadership of Safet Orucevic, had advocated abolishment of all borders in Mostar, earning a lot of points with the IC in the process, VL wonders why the High Representative for BiH is tolerating "political excesses of the SDA, allowing them to undermine efforts of the Mostar Commission, which the British diplomat established". Slobodna Dalmacija (page 19, "With division of Mostar, SDA divides the state too", by Bruno Juric) - notes although the referendum question was about maintaining of the status of the municipality, in reality it was about the SDA showing its genuine position regarding the future organizational set-up in Mostar. "In a nutshell, this is a big 'no' to single Mostar", says the author. SD goes on to say that the IC still treats Mostar as a model for whole of BiH, which is no wonder why many people claim that the future set-up of BiH depends on the solution for Mostar. "If it is to judge by the behaviour of the SDA, SDP and other Bosniak political parties on the Mostar example, then BiH will be divided. As always, the ball is in the OHR's court. Commission for Mostar restructuring, which was established by the very Office, as the things look right now, does not have a chance to reach a common proposal for future outlook of Mostar. By organization of the referendum, these political forces only wanted to show it, manipulating with its people", concludes the author. Dnevni List (page 15, "Results of referendum will not influence work of Commission", by D. K.) - carries a statement by the spokesperson of the OHR South, Avis Benes, regarding the referendum in Mostar's Municipality North, saying the referendum will not influence the work of the Commission that is working on the issue of Mostar restructuring. "OHR believes that the referendum such as this that has been boycotted by one of the constituent people, is not a good basis for decision-making. Nor can the interests of any municipality be put ahead of the interests of all the citizens of Mostar. The referendum will therefore not affect the work of the Mostar Commission, which is considering a comprehensive solution for the unification of the city", said Benes. Dnevni List (page 7, "Obstruction of obligations from protocol", unsigned), Oslobodjenje pg. 6 'Ethnic prejudices strengthen in Mostar', Dnevni Avaz pg. 12, FENA - carries an open letter that the President of SDU, Miro Lazovic, sent to the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown, warning the HR of the overall atmosphere surrounding the work of the (Mostar) Commission. The letter notes "it is an obvious fact that certain parties, whose representatives participate in the Commission for Mostar restructuring, are obstructing obligations determined in the protocol that they would in a constructive and responsible manner participate in the work of the Commission". Lazovic notes that the atmosphere, which is being created deliberately, is creating psychological barriers and pressures on the Mostar Commission, whilst ethnic prejudices are gaining strength in Mostar. "Everything that is happening in Mostar, whose final solution should be the model for integration processes in whole of BiH, will surely reflect on further reforms to the constitutional-legal system in BiH", reads Lazovic's letter. Dnevni Avaz pg. 9 'Fatima Leho: Bosniaks in Mostar are sick of experimental and special solutions' - In an interview with the newspaper, Fatima Leho, the President of SDA Mostar City Board and a member of the Commission for Mostar Statute said that the provisional Mostar statute should not be changed but amended/completed in accordance to the Daytona dn constitutional principles. Asked to comment on the referendum in the Mostar Municipality North, Leho says: "The results of the referendum show the stand of the people towards the existence of the city Municipalities." Asked whether she expects that the International Community will impose the solution for Mostar if the Commission does not reach the agreement, Leho says: "There is no legal ground for imposing of the solution, because this is about the Dayton and constitutional principles. SDA did not sign the statement that the OHR demanded from all members of the Commission until the political consensus on the decision-making in the work of the Commission was not promised by the OHR to us in public, at the press conference. Chairman of the Commission stated that he is a mediator and not an arbitrator." Vecernji List (page 2, "HKDU on referendum", by fvu) - the Cantonal Council of HKDU (Croat Christian Democratic Union) of Herzegovina-Neretva Canton issued a press released regarding the referendum in Mostar's Municipality North. "Croats did not respond to the referendum, which leads to a conclusion that almost every Bosniak from the Municipality North turned out and voted against a single City of Mostar", reads the press release.

Oslobodjenje: Crime with visas organised in BiH Foreign Ministry	Oslobodjenje front page, pgs. 4-5 'Crime with visas organised in BiH Foreign Ministry' - The officer in the consular sector of the BiH Foreign Ministry, Goran Tomic, has provided at least 26 Schengen and Swiss visas for the persons from RS on the basis of forged RS authorities' orders. VL: "Great Britain to head European forces in BiH"	Vecernji List (page 2, by Fena) carries that during the meeting of Ministers of Foreign Affairs, that is taking place in Brussels, British Minister of Defense Geoff Hoon stated that in 2004 Great Britain is ready to take over command over European forces in BiH, that would replace NATO. HSS Croatia pre-election campaign; possible merging of HSS BiH and NHI	Vecernji List (front page, "Tomcic: Croats must have rights like the others", and page 5, "Biggest rights to people smallest in number", by D. Ja.) - the President of HSS Croatia (*Croatian Peasants' Party), Zlatko Tomcic, was in Sarajevo yesterday during the presentation of the HSS list for Diaspora for the coming parliamentary elections in Croatia. Welcoming the announcement of President of NHI, Kresimir Zubak, on possible merging of HSS BiH and NHI, Tomcic stated: "I support further cooperation between HSS and NHI. It is not good that this small national corpus in BiH is divided in so many parties. For this reason it is necessary to reach unity." Tomcic also believes it is necessary to respect legality of democratic relations according to which the people who are the smallest in a number should be offered the most. VL says that although Tomcic was avoiding questions about internal relations in BiH, he stated that the complicated state organization was the main reason for slow pace of the economic recovery in BiH. (Dnevni List, page 7, "Each instability in BiH reflects on Croatia", by E. Mackic), Sarajevo media also covered the issue. DL (page 7, "Merging of HSS and NHI announced", not signed) - a Vice President of NHI, Ivo Zivkovic, announced merging of NHI and HSS in one party. He did not state the name of the future party, however, Fena learns from sources close to the NHI that the name of the new party might be HSS/NHI BiH at first and then it would be only HSS BiH.

Krsmanovic said that the action plan with additional documents will be sent from Sarajevo to IMF in Washington. He stressed that positive progresses and improvement of the fiscal policy have been made in the RS, since the revenues in the budget are increased and expenditures are reduced. According to Krsmanovic, the RS government will continue the negotiations with the IMF. He said that the main objection of the international finance institutions is related to respecting of signed documents on the economic and fiscal policies. Krsmanovic said that the RS government has also created the strategy for settling of old debts of several billions, on which the RS National Assembly will declare itself. "The IMF believes that the strategy should be adopted and announced, that the schedule of certain re-payments should be known and then the increase of salaries and pensions could be reconsidered," Krsmanovic said. The RS government believes that this would not endanger the strategy or the additional memorandum.

RS Prime Minister's spokesman on talks with IMF	FENA – Talks on boosting of salaries and pensions in the RS between representatives of the RS Government and international financial institutions are in the final phase and are developing positively in regard to Government's positions, the spokesperson of RS Prime Minister, Goran Radivojac, told the news agency. The RS must not try to implement its previous proposals until the International Monetary Fund (IMF) confirms which one of them, if any, is in line with the international obligations, OHR spokesman Oleg Milisic told Fena when asked to comment on the RS government's negotiations with international financial institutions on the mentioned proposals. We see this as a World Bank, IMF and the RS government issue, Milisic added.

GS on RS/IMF talks	Glas Srpske, cover and pg. 5, 'Everyone is satisfied' – GS writes in general about the ongoing talks between IMF and the Republika Srpska Government on salary and pension increase. It actually brings three eventual outcomes of these talks (see yesterday's Preview, GS cover page story) and concludes that if talks failed and the High Representative to BiH, Paddy Ashdown, removed RS Prime Minister, Dragan Mikerevic, from position, the question is who would dare to sit in premiers' office, if wide-spreading problems of social nature are visible. GS also carries an inset with statement by Branko Krsmanovic, Republika Srpska Finance Minister. See NN cover page stories.

Kukic comments on salaries and pensions in RS	Dnevni List (page 6, "John No Land", by Slavo Kukic) – the author notes that the public has in past few days been overwhelmed with skirmishes between the Republika Srpska PM, Dragan Mikerevic, and the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown. "The former would like to, at all cost, increase the pensions and lowest wages in the entity he is at the helm of. The latter, for the time being successfully, is countering him with a thesis that it would represent a deathblow, not only to the RS but also to the State as a whole. If Mikerevic succeeds, that would be a re-run of a scenario from the times of former Yugoslavia. Who needs it? What's the point of it? Stabilisation or definitive destruction?", says Kukic.

Namely, they owned a house and 12 thousand square metres in this settlement. However, Municipal authorities altered the cadastre records and confiscated his property. He was left with only 427 square metres around his house. The problem arose after the mosque was built on his private property. Before that, many houses also were built on his land. Lozo presumes that real-estate records were changed at the time when Amira Nozic who was removed from the position by OHR, was Head of Real Estate Affairs. According to the DL source, the biggest shortcomings of Halilovic are interfering of SDA politics in the Cantonal Ministries of Interior in Gorazde, Bihac and Sarajevo, the lack of cooperation with Director of the FBiH Police Administration Zlatko Miletic and the fact that Halilovic does not fit in the SDA cadre's policy at the time of turmoil within this party.

Selection of new Commander of Special Police Unit	Slobodna Dalmacija (page 18, "Special Police members got into fight!", by A. Martincevic) carries that according to the sources close to the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina Ministry of Interior Dragan Vikic might become a new Commander of the Special Police Unit with the FBiH Mol. The same source added that this is not certain yet because Vikic has not received the consent from the FBiH Minister of Interior Mevludin Halilovic, although the request on Vikic's appointment has been at Halilovic's desk for 20 days already. SD also says that a part of the Special Police Unit is against Vikic's appointment to this position and they sent messages to Vikic saying that they are not satisfied with his coming. The article goes on to say that the aforementioned unit is divided in interest groups and thus they have got into fight recently. SD wonders whether Halilovic will sign the consent for Vikic's appointment before he (Halilovic) receives the decision on absolving of duty that FBiH Prime Minister Ahmet Hadzipasic should pass.
