OHR: Value of telecom reduced by incompetent management	CRHB, RTRS [radio], Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Value of telecom reduced by incompetent management', Slobodna Dalmacija pg 19 'OHR does not decrease price of telecommunications companies', Blic pg. 13 'Baselessly accused auditor', FENA – Office of the High Representatives on Tuesday denied allegations made by some media that the entities governments and the international community have been trying to reduce the value of telecommunications operators in order to sell them as cheap as possible. Commenting some media reports following the special audits into Telekom Srpske, BH Telecom and HT Mostar, OHR Spokesperson Oleg Milisic said that the 'value of three telecommunications companies in BiH have been reduced due to their incompetent management and it will increase once entities governments implement the reforms they announced.' Milesic also repeated that the audit reports established facts on mismanagement and corruption in those companies which worked for the benefit of the individuals, and not BH citizens. Glas Srpske pg. 2 'Value diminished with ignorance', Nezavisne Novine pg. 6 'Auditors found evidence on crime activities at telecom operators' – Milisic also denied some claims that special auditor did not find any evidence proving criminal acts were committed at three telekom operators in BiH.
NN editorial on telecoms	Nezavisne Novine pg. 7 'Teleccomiad' editorial by Damir Miljevic, – The author refers to international special auditors' reports on telecommunication operators in BiH. According to him, it is almost impossible to open any paper or switch any channel on TV without avoiding the mention of word "telekom audit reports". Namely, the public and media are brimming with information related to this. Most of those reports are related to numerous denials of audit report, presentation of other arguments proving that officials of Telekom were right, etc. According to Miljevic, the fact that both, Mladen Ivanic and Haris Silajdzic joined the common criticism of audit reports (when both accused IC as being the most corrupt in BiH) can mean either that they are right or that the authority is joining forces before the joint jeopardy and threat called special audit. He is actually commending audit reports and calling for local officials to stop defending themselves and to instead start providing answers to audit findings (mainly referring to violations of evasion of Law on Procurement, expenditures of large amounts of money, etc.).

"By analyzing the human resources, I established there is a surplus of workers by more than 60%, but the issue has to be solved with the FBiH Government as well as with other two co-owners. I state that, within the issue, I am tied by the collective agreement which was signed by the former HPT Mostar and Ministry of Traffic and Communications, and by provisions of the current FBiH Labor Law. At this moment, we are preparing ISO-standards and we will have relevant data on surplus of workers be end of year", reads Prlic's answer.

DA editorial on transition	Dnevni Avaz pg 3 'Slovenian example' editorial by Eldar Dizdarevic – Author writes that media did not pay enough of the attention to the second day of international conference held in Sarajevo on transition, when former advisor to the World Bank David Elerman said that in years he saw many bad macro-economic project, but estimated that the worse one was WB's called 'privatisation in transition countries'. 'I wonder why you [people] in BiH even ask the World Bank on privatisation when they know absolutely nothing about it.' – said Elerman. Article further reads that Slovenian is considered as the best example of the transition in South-East Europe, while well-known Slovenian economist Joze Mercinger believes that the reason is that Slovenian did not listen to the World Bank or IMF. 'This of course doesn't mean that the causes of all economic troubles around the world lies with these powerful financial institutions. Without big help from the World Bank, BiH would still not have infrastructure enabled for normal living.' At the end, author concludes that the time has finally came for BiH citizens to take over their destiny, and for BH economists to fulfil pre-conditions for successful transition as laid down at the *conference.
Protests of pensioners in Banja Luka	RTRS [radio], BH Radio 1, Oslobođenje pg 4 'Protest of pensioners/At the end of month, requests for pensions', Blic pg. 13 'Walk towards increase'; Vecernje Novosti pg. 21, ONASA, FENA – About 400 pensioners from Banja Luka protested on Tuesday to warn the authorities about the difficult position of this population and to request increasing and regular paying of salaries. At the rally, organized by the Pensioners' Democratic Association, pensioners requested the removal of administration of the RS Pension-Invalid's Insurance Fund (PIO). RS Association of Pensioners did not support the rally, while the president of the association Rade Rakulj called it partisan gathering. Acting Director of RS PIO Jovo Kosmajac said that the Fun will sum up the pensioners' demands and together with the representatives of the authorized Ministry will discuss them at the end of the month. 'Requests are certainly grounded, but due to financial situation we must consider them. We will consider jointly today's demands and those to be posed at the protest organized by RS Association of pensioners and to be held on 20 October' – said Kosmajac. Nezavisne Novine cover, pg 9 'Pensioners spitted at their leaders' – The dissatisfaction of several hundred of Banjaluka pensioners culminated at the protest, when they literally spitted at their official representatives. Investigation into war crimes in Heliodrom	Oslobodjenje pg 4 'New Law halted the investigation' – Cantonal Prosecutor Mirsad Resulovic confirmed to daily that Prosecutions conducts an investigation into the war crimes committed in the Heliodrom concentration camp near Mostar. The investigation against former camp guard Anto Buhovac and former commander of antiterrorist unit [Benko Penavic] Marijo Milicevic Baja has commenced, according to Resulovic six months ago, but has been temporarily halted because Milicevic is in clandestine. 'The obligations of the investigation – according to the new Law – is to interrogate a suspect. In this case that is not possible because we don't know of his whereabouts.' – said Resulovic. He also confirmed that the investigation has been started following the approval by the ICTY, which – as he said – did not demand any information on Jadranko Prlic, former president of Herceg-Bosnia government. 'We have started the investigation against Buhovac and Milicevic, but I believe it will gradually disclose details on people who committed the worst crimes. Whether those would be members of the [HB] government or HVO [Croatian Defence Council], I don't know.' – said the prosecutor.
DL editorial on media reports about war crimes committed by Croat officials	Dnevni List front, pg 5 'Prlic denied speculations about his departure to The Hague' editorial by Ivica Glibusic – Editorial deals with the media speculations that The Hague is interested in some Croat officials from the time of the Croat Community of Herceg Bosna. The author says: "Namely, this is about skillfully prepared media harangue against former and current politicians. There is a wish to eliminate them from the political and public BiH scene and certain Sarajevo political and intelligence circles stand behind it. The media issuing of a bill of indictment against former President of the Croat Republic of Herceg Bosna Government Jadranko Prlic they finally want to square accounts with the rest of Croats who played an important role in the last, stormy decade when the struggle for the survival of Croats in BiH was taking place."

Military issues

DL on defence reforms	Dnevni List pg 8 '80 million KMs for severance pays to discharged troops - That military experts in BiH believe that the military in BiH is going through the most difficult period, when BiH is to enter the Partnership for Peace (PfP) programme and go through the defence reform. In context of these, DL says the responsible structures seem not to care about how much BiH gains with entering the PfP, and that some 8000 troops, which are to be discharged once the defence reform has been completed, will place an additional burden on the budget in terms of severance pays and additional training for the discharged troops. DL estimates the cost is in the region of 80 million KMs. Talking to the Radio Free Europe, a member of the Standing Committee for Military Matters, Savo Sokanovic, says it is going to be an extra blow to the already difficult social situation in BiH. "The problem is there are no jobs in BiH. The economy in BiH is stagnating, even worse than that. Everything comes down to: if the economy is not working, there are no jobs. You can make programmes, do additional training for the people, even if they do additional training, what do you do with the training if they cannot find a job", says Sokanovic.
Oslobodjenje editorial on peacekeeping in BiH; armed forces	Oslobodjenje pg 2 'Here comes Europe [again]' editorial by Antonio Prlenda - Editorial reads that series of statements given by the international officials proves that the intention of Europe is to take over the control over military developments in BiH through 'purely' its own peacekeeping troops. 'In that way, High Representative... would finally become unofficial, but at the same time supreme protector in our country. And SFOR commander's ... role would be classical military advisor and High Representatives' military executor 'As for the military capability of European today, from purely military point of view, the peacekeeping mission in BiH has stopped being complicated some time ago. When you exclude the issue of apprehending war criminals at large, the tasks of patrolling, unannounced raids, seeking and destroying weapons, and the assistance to 'professionalization' of local armed forces, are not something that European forces could not do... However, what is a difference is that it would impact BH political credibility... European has to prove itself in it on its own [remember UNPROFOR]. At it would be politically fatal for BiH authorities to give approval to act again in a role of testing animal for something that should be conducted in some other place some times later... Future BiH armed forces with 12000 troops [4000 in RS and 8000 in FBiH] could be guarantee for peace only when their functioning is proved at the field and when they show the will for further integration.' - concludes the editorial.

Terrorism in BiH
Copley: 'NATO must stay in the Balkans due to terrorism threats'	Glas Srpske pg. 5 'Recruitment has commenced a long time ago' - In a statement to Voice of America, Gregory Copley, Editor of the US magazine 'Defence and Foreign policy', stated that the Iranians and Al Q'Aeda have been engaged in building an operational network and recruitment of their supporters in the Balkans for the past 14 years. He warned that terrorism is still present in the Balkans. Accordingly, NATO and US must maintain their presence in the Balkans.

Terrorism in BiH	Glas Srpske pg. 5 'Zavahiri calls for jihad' – GS reads that the seriousness of the warning that BiH has become a base of Al Q'Aeda and safe shelter for Islamic terrorists is substantiated by the most recent arrest of the Algerian with BiH passport, Aissa Benkhir, suspected of having been involved in a terrorist attack in Algeria in 1995. He is actually employed at the Kuwait General Committee for Sarajevo assistance. He was arrested upon InterPol arrest warrant at the border crossing point of Meteljka near Srbinje. He obtained BiH passport in September 2001. His arrest proves that some West circles are not too far away from the truth when they claim that numerous Islamic humanitarian organisations in BiH are just a "cover" of Al Q'Aeda and other terrorist organisations. American lawyers established that Kuwait General Committee for assistance to Sarajevo has close connection with Egyptian, Palestinian and Algerian terrorists. [Reference in regard to headline: Aiman Zavahiri, Al Q'Aeda's man no. 2, recently called on Muslims in BiH to join jihad]. Oslobodjenje pg 7 'Benkhir at the time of terrorist attack in Algeria was in HVO's prison' – Daily carries that Aissa Benkhir has been released from the detention after submitting strong evidences which deny allegations that he took part in terrorist attack committee in Algeria in 1995. According to his lawyer Esad Hrvacic Benkhir at that time was in HVO [Croatian Defence Council] prison and he was exchanged in 1996. According to Hrvacic, Benkhir was a soldier of BH Army since 1993, and was arrested by HVO in Kiseljak due to 'breach of territorial integrity of Herceg-Bosnia' in 1996. BiH State Court passed temporary measure to cease his BH passport, and demanded from Benkhir to report to the court every five days. In Algeria he was sentenced to death in absence.

Political issues
HDZ to discuss constitutional issues with other parties	Vecernji List front 'Discussions on constitutional changes', pg 2 'Talks on changes to Constitution' – HDZ BiH will initiate talks with other political parties on future organizational set-up of BiH, as decided by the HDZ Presidency two days ago. According to an HDZ spokesperson, Pero Pavlovic, HDZ wants to get involved in ever so frequent talks on constitutional changes in BiH. "In the next few weeks, the party pinnacle intends to talk about the issue with all parliamentary parties to have a clearer picture in the matter", says Pavlovic. According to VL, the Presidency of HDZ BiH will during its next session, discuss results of implementation of constitutional changes in cantons.
Patriot: Bush demands Hays' removal	Patriot pg. 4 'Hays to be removed' – Patriot magazine has learnt from diplomatic sources that George Bush's Administration is seriously considering to remove Donald Hays from the post of Principal Deputy High Representative: 'Washington is not satisfied with Hays' work for quite some time, but his open support to Democrats, just before the election race in the US, represents the last drop in an already full glass.' According to the same source, Washington reacted with a great discomfort when it was publicized that Hays openly lobbied for Richard Holbrooke and prepared him a spectacular promotion during his recent visit to Sarajevo: 'Hays forced Presidency of the BiH Parliamentary Assembly to let Holbrooke address the Parliament. Hays told them that Bush will lose the forthcoming elections for sure, and that Richard Holbrooke will assume the duty of the State Secretary, instead of Collin Powell.' According to the Patriot magazine source, Holbrooke and [Bernard] Kouchner were well paid to visit Kosovo and Bosnia by radical Albanian and Islamic circles: 'just like Bill Clinton who received 250 000 $ in cash for the speech he delivered in Srebrenica.'

Croatian President Mesic on some BiH issues	Dnevni List pg 6 'With President at tea' by Marko Tadic – Author writes about the meeting he had with the Croatian President Stjepan Mesic. Talking about the Ploce Port issue, Mesic said that this issue is being politicized and even internationalized too much and that there are too many partial and local interests. With regard to the Corridor Vc issue, Mesic stated that it would be very wrong to realize any phase of this project without the international tender. Asked about the Dayton Peace Accord, Mesic says that the DPA only placed grounds and not the roof of the house and that citizens of BiH have right to decide on the organization of BiH. With regard to the educational reforms in BiH, Mesic said that it is easy to provoke national tensions by this kind of issues, however, the solution will not be found in it, at least not the European one.

Legal issues
HJPC on judicial reform	Dnevni List pg 7 '6 judges received public warning' – The High Judicial and Prosecutorial Council spokesperson Sanela Tunovic stated at the press conference: "The goal of the launched judiciary reform in BiH is to appoint completely moral, capable persons to the positions of judges and prosecutors, while the criterion of the national representation according to the 1990 census is on the third place."
SDA opposes to judges elected	Nezavisne Novine, pg. 4 'HJPC's claim Rosic is good judge' – Reacting on SDA criticism upon election of Jovo Rosic as the Judge to BiH Constitutional Court and Mirko Zovko as President of Republika Srpska Constitutional Court, Sanela Tunovic, Spokesperson of the HJPC's, stated that HJPC finds Rosic to be a good judge, and as such, he was elected as Judge to BiH Constitutional Court. She also said that SDA has a right to file an appeal. Regarding appointment of Zovko, SDA thinks that this position of President of Republika Srpska Constitutional Court should have been assigned to a Bosniak.
DA on election of judges for European Human Rights Court	Dnevni Avaz pg. 9 'Ljiljana Mijovic denies war crimes in RS' by H. Orahovac – The election of a judge from BiH for the European Human Rights Court, with headquarters in Strasbourg, results in 'real drama', as since the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe elects judges it has never happened before that one of the candidates proposed is not elected in a first run of voting. Previously, in two runs of voting none of the judges did not win majority of votes, and Assembly will vote again in January 2004. BiH candidates are Ljiljana Mijovic, Ahmed Zilic and Zoran Pajic. Author says that it is odd that the majority of the votes so far won anonymous Ljiljana Mijovic, who also opposes the BiH lawsuit against Serbia and Montenegro and who allegedly believes that the breaches of human rights did not occur in RS. 'Ljiljana Mijovic is supported by members of CoE's Parliamentary Assembly from SCG, and Serbs working in CoE's administration. Lobbies in her benefits are strong, and those familiar with the situation explain that with the fact that she is also very much engaged in mining BiH lawsuit against SCG.' – reads Avaz.
