Banja Luka

Today, the RS Government held its session and dismissed the Director of the RS Health Insurance Fund, Dragutin Ilic, and ordered him to return his apartment. Dragutin Ilic is a member of the RS Socialist Party leadership whose president is Zivko Radisic. The RS Prime Minister, Milorad Dodik, said that the RS Ministry of Health was authorised to performed duties of the dismissed Director in connection to the Fund until a new person is appointed. The report was produced by OBN reporter from Banja Luka, Tatjana Lajsic.

The current political crisis in the RS, caused by misunderstanding between political parties, resulted in a stronger presence of top International Community officials in this BiH entity. The head of the OSCE Mission, Robert Barry, visited Banja Luka. Political partners in the “Koalicija sloga” claim that the unity of the Coalition is preserved. The Head of the OSCE Mission said that he explained to the “Koalicija sloga” representatives that leaving out the provision on the election of the BiH Presidency in the permanent Draft Law on Elections did not mean that OSCE have changed their opinion on that issue. Robert Barry said: “We believe that the Constitution spells out clearly how the Presidency is to be elected, and the only ways of changing that are through parliamentary procedure of amendment or through a specific decision of the Constitutional Court which I think is probably unlikely”. The RS Prime Minister Dodik did not agree and said that if there was a change of the BiH Constitution in practice and life, this would force a change of the BiH Election Law, but for the time being, it was not acceptable to change the Constitution because of the new Election Law, OBN reporter from Banja Luka, Predrag Curkovic, confirmed.

This was followed by a report on the continuation of the RS Socialist Party Executive Board session, which began in Banja Luka yesterday. The Executive Board decided to leave the remaining four ministers from this party in the RS Government, despite the fact that Prime Minister Dodik dismissed their party member, Tihomir Gligoric, from the position of the RS Minister of Soldier and Labour Issues, OBN reporter from the area, Nedeljka Breberina, confirmed.

The Main Board of RS Prime Minister Dodik’s Independent Social-Democrat Party announced that the RS Government could dismiss the Board of the RS Oil Industry, chaired by the BiH Presidency member and the President of the RS Socialist Party, Zivko Radisic. The Independent Social-Democrats reminded everyone of the conclusion of the RS National Assembly that political officials should not be members of companies’ boards. Zivko Radisic said he would be glad if such a decision was made because when the board was chosen, no one asked his consent. He added that great efforts have been made in the consolidation in the oil industry of the RS, especially in respect to establishment of the regular production.

Banja Luka

Judges of the BiH Constitutional Court from the RS think that this institution will not be able to bring decisions if all members are not present. The Judge of the Constitutional Court from the RS, Marko Asovic, said at the press conference in Banja Luka today that his resignation could not be revoked. The report was produced by OBN reporter, Biljana Arsic.

Sarajevo

The Representative House of the BiH Parliamentary Assembly did not adopt the Law on the BiH Council of Ministers, suggested by the SDP party. The representatives discussed the suggestion for the law on public holidays. The development of the draft law will follow because the representatives adopted the suggestion made by the SDP representatives and the Council of Ministers. The report was produced by OBN reporter, Sefko Bajic.

This was followed by a report on the session of the Representative House of the BiH Federation Parliament. The Representative House accepted the report on spending of budget funds for last year despite the fact that 30% more funds than planned were spent for salaries of employees in the Federal management, OBN reporter, Amarildo Gutic, confirmed.
