A consillium of medicals from Zagreb announced that the handing over of Mladen Naletilic (Tuta) to the Hague Tribunal could endanger his life. Despite that, the Hague prosecution think that there are ways for providing a safe transport. Handing over of Mladen Naletilic (Tuta) is a test for the new Croatian awuthorities fulfilling a promise during their pre-election campaign. The Hague prosecutors indicted Tuta for war crimes committed in Bosnia and Herzegovina in 1993, Gordana Simonovic, confirmed from Zagreb for OBN.

This was followed by a report on the new Austrian Government. Cricitism of the European Union, because of Jörg Haider's right-wing party entering the Austrian Government, continued. Currently, Haider with the ministers from his party is preparing the program for the first hundred days of his Government's activities. The report was produced by OBN journalist, Zeljka Lekic.

Guest of TV INFO

The guest of TV INFO was the Acting Charge D'Affairs of the Republic of Austria Embassy in Bosnia and Herzegovina, Michael Kainz. OBN presenters, Duska Jurisic and Aleksandar Mlac, asked whether the entery of the extreme right-wing party into the Austrian Government would affect the relations of Austria towards BiH. Michael Kainz answered that this would not have any effects. He added that the people of BiH know that Austria was on the side of BiH during the hardest days for the country and that there were no reasons to change that.

Stability Pact

A two day meeting on economic issues within the Stability Pact for South East Europe is taking place in Skopje. The first regional project has been signed. Six countries, including Bosnia and Herzegovina, have established the Board for the improvement of trade and transport. The World Bank provided 68 million dollars for the implementation of the project, Zoran Andonovski, confirmed for TV INFO from Skopje.
