Yugoslavia

NATO General Secretary, Javier Solana, announced: "I can announce today that Milosevic has complied with the five conditions of the International Community and therefore a few moments ago I have instructed Gen. Clark to suspend NATO air operation against Yugoslavia". The Yugoslav President, Slobodan Milosevic, said: " We have shown that we have invincible will and the best army in the world". This was followed by a statement of the US Special Envoy, Robert Gelbard, who said: "And with the spotlight of the International Community, now focused on this entire region, it will be very easy for the International Community to loose patience with the lack of performance in BiH."

After 72 days, NATO air strikes against Yugoslavia have been suspended after the confirmation on withdrawal of the Yugoslav Army from Kosovo. According to the agreement reached between the Yugoslav Army and NATO in Kumanovo yesterday, the Yugoslav Army and Police will withdraw within 11 days.

Belgrade

In Belgrade, the agreement from Kumanovo brought a relief. Most of the opposition parties welcomed the agreement and Slobodan Milosevic has addressed to the nation. OBN reporter from Belgrade, Natasa Narancic, reported on that.

New York

During the evening, the UN Security Council adopted a resolution for a peace solution of the Kosovo crisis. Fourteen members of the Council voted for the resolution.
