World

Representatives of the International Peace Troops in Kosovo announced that KFOR and NATO do not intend to intervene in the South of Serbia. The first contingent of the Euro Corp, which will take over the leadership of KFOR until the middle of April, arrived in Skopje. The US Secretary of State said that intensifying the international police forces in Kosovo was absolutely urgent. The Israeli Government decided unanimously to withdraw its troops from the South of Lebanon by July after 18 years of occupation. China warned Taiwan not to try anything in connection with the establishment of independence. In the South of Chechnya, Russian troops attacked Chechen guerillas and surrounded one thousand Chechen troops. The piece on current events in the world was produced by OBN journalist, Adis Saranovic.

Banja Luka

Representatives of the Croatian Serbs expect that the change of the Government in the Republic of Croatia will result in the change of Croatian attitudes towards Serbs. However, they do not expect that 2000 will be the year of return to Croatia. The Serb Representative in the Croatian Parliament, Milan Djukic, explained that currently there are six discriminatory laws regarding Serbs in Croatia. OBN reporter from Banja Luka, Sanela Zivkovic, produced the report.

This was followed by a piece on Bosniaks and Croats in Banja Luka who have lived as refugees in their own town for years. They were forbidden access to their homes from which they were expelled. OBN reporter, Amarildo Gutic, produced a report on the difficult living conditions of these people.

Bosanska Krupa

In April 1998, the first returnee family from the RS, returned to the Bosanska Krupa municipality in April 1998. Now, the Cubro family live in a small room and wait for their house to be reconstructed, OBN reporter from the area, Azra Bajric, confirmed.
