Ashdown pointed out that if the rule of law were enforced it would spell a success for BiH, and if not the country would face failure. "This is only the beginning of sweeping reforms within the penal system," Ashdown said. He noted that the entities' detention units, which have so far been used by the BiH Court in Kula, Sarajevo and Zenica, were overcrowded. He went on to say that 50 new prisoners were expected this year with the formation of the department for war crimes and organized crime (within the BiH Court) and another 200 in 2006, which called for the need to set up new detention facilities. Kovac said that the detention unit would work within the framework of the Justice Ministry and that it would also be at the disposal of the department for war crimes and organized crime. He added that an institutional legal framework had been set up and that all preconditions had been met for trying war crimes. The newly-opened detention unit can hold 21 persons. It was set up with donations from different countries, particularly the Netherlands, the USA and Scotland, and in coordination with the BiH authorities. A large number of domestic and international officials attended the ceremony in Sarajevo.
DL comments on start of war crimes trials in BiH	Dnevni List, pg 2 'War crimes chamber', by Danka Polovina-Mandic – Commenting on the yesterday's start of events related to trial of war crimes cases in BiH, the author argues that despite big words that could be heard during the ceremony, the Chief ICTY Prosecutor, Carla del Ponte, once again reminded of bad cooperation of the national courts with the ICTY and the fact that the debate on war crimes usually represents a political and not the truth established in the court.

SD on war crimes in Mostar, Perisic, Seselj role	Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 19 'The Hague charges Seselj for crime at Uborak', by Miroslav Landeka – Following the surrender of former Yugoslav Army general, Momcilo Perisic, to the ICTY, SD notes that many people in Mostar are disappointed that Perisic has not been charged with war crimes in Mostar that occurred in mid-1992, when he was the commander of JNA troops in the Mostar area, especially regarding the 'Uborak' case when 114 Croat and Bosniak civilians were killed and dumped at the Uborak waste dump. However, according to information coming from an anonymous source close to the ICTY, ICTY's investigators had been investigating the case and apparently the direct responsibility for the 'Uborak' case lies with members of Serb para-military the so-called 'Seseljevci', who were not under Perisic's command, and with some local Serbs. The source says the indictment against Vojislav Seselj, who is already in The Hague , will be extended with the 'Uborak' case.
Bukejlovic: RS already cooperates with SCG to detain ICTY suspects, BiH institutions should be included	Oslobođenje pg 3 'BiH institutions should be included in the pursuit of war criminals' by Onasa – In an interview to Onasa news agency, the RS Prime Minister, Pero Bukejlovic, says he believes that RS will not be faced with new sanctions because it leads in the reformatory processes and implements intensive activities to meet its obligations towards the ICTY. He stresses that the cooperation has been established with the authorities of SCG to detain ICTY suspects, and adds that BiH institutions should be more included in those activities. This, says Bukejlovic, especially refers to SIPA, OSA and State Border Service.

Today, only those political thoughts and policies which correspond to these truths have the chance to become successful. To get acquainted with this truth and for the purpose of reducing the bitterness caused by conflict and insecurity leading to underdevelopment there is no shorter path than that of dialogue," emphasized Iranian President.

Zorlak, Vecernji List pg 3 'Lozancic visited Police Academy' by ra, FENA – FBiH President Niko Lozancic said during a visit to the FBiH Ministry of Interior Police Academy on Wednesday that "we need to move from a phase of talking about police reform into a phase of implementation, i.e. developing a BiH police system that would guarantee the security to all citizens." Lozancic discussed upcoming police reform with the leadership of the Academy. He was also informed about its work and achievements in the reform of police training in FBiH. "BiH citizens wish to have a professional, depoliticised, well trained and equipped police force because only such a police force can guarantee the security of all BiH citizens," Lozancic said after talks with FBiH Ministry of Interior Police Academy Director Taib Spahic. He warned that a disintegrated and unconnected police serves no one and that an integrated and well-led police force under parliamentary control needs to be established. Lozancic said that a modern police structure would ensure more options for better equipping police services in BiH and stimulating them for carrying out difficult and complex tasks. He therefore expressed confidence that police reform would receive the general public support in BiH. review of dismissal
decisions

Dnevni Avaz pg 11 'There will be no rehabilitations for Poplasen, Jelavic, Bicakcic, Grabovac,...' by S.N. – DA brings that in light of the announcement on a review of certain OHR's decisions to remove persons from public functions, only a small number of those could expect to be pardoned. While nobody knows who exactly will be 'rehabilitated', OHR told DA: "What is known is that HR [Paddy Ashdown] very carefully considers all removals, except those carried out last year. However, it is known that pardon could be expected possibly buy those removed for obstruction in return process in certain municipalities or parts of BiH. That process has been successfully completed." DA adds that pardon will not be granted to those obstructing the cooperation with ICTY, wire tapped foreign officials, breached sanctions on Iraq, damaged BiH, those found guilty for corruption, serious crime or misuse of office. Avaz concludes that in these terms, rehabilitation will not include Nikola Poplase, Ante Jelavic, Edhem Bicakcic, Nikola Grabovac, etc. "This is the process which has only started. We don't know how long it will take or who would include. It is possible that nobody is pardoned," stressed OHR Director of Communications, Irena Guzelova .

As a remedy, Tomljenovic argues if constitutional changes were to be carried out by the end of the year, the position of the Croats and Bosniaks could change. He notes that the changes do not necessarily mean the abolishment of the RS, however some changes should be carried out starting with the constitutional position of RS Vice President(s). "According to the current Constitution we cannot do much", says Tomljenovic.

Politicians' reactions on PDP withdrawal of resignations

Nezavisne Novine pg 4 'Resignations were fakes' by V. Popovic – Commenting on withdrawal of resignations of Mladen Ivanic and Branko Dokic from BiH CoM, Milorad Dodik, SNSD President, says that the withdrawals show a pure obedience of Ivanic and Dokic towards Adnan Terzic, BiH CoM Chair. According to Dodik, it has proved to be true that resignations of ministers from PDP were fakes, hypocritical and aimed at achieving personal and party interests, instead of protecting constitutional order of RS. Dokic Wednesday confirmed that Ivanic, Zoran Tesanovic and himself have withdrawn resignations. According to NM source at PDP top leadership, a part of PDP Presidency members did not support this decision of Ivanic and Dokic, regarding these actions as underrating PDP. Momcilo Novakovic, member of SDS Main Board, has stated that "this move could have been expected, and SDS has been of the view from the beginning that there was no reason to tender resignations." Petar Djokic, SPRS President, says this move of PDP officials was expected. Drago Kalabic, DNS President, has described it as shameful and disgraceful not only for PDP but also for the entire Serb people. Tarik Sadovic, SDA delegate at RS NA, says PDP officials have acted in a pragmatic manner by having chosen the only realistic path. Slobodan Popovic, Vice President of the SDP of BiH Main Board, concludes that "only those naive have believed in sincerity of Ivanic's intentions."

NN op-ed on revocation of PDP resignations	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'Ivanic's deceit' by Natasa Krsman – The author is writing about revocation of resignations by Mladen Ivanic, Branko Dokic and Zoran Tesanovic, saying that the manoeuvre called "irrevocable resignations" would be recorded into annals of political life in BiH, devised by economic strategist Ivanic. She adds: "Feeling revulsion over political life of the decaying state, we cannot congratulate on this manoeuvre of irrevocable resignation if we respect ourselves and have common sense."
SDS accuses RTRS of becoming an advertiser of Nezavisne Novine and spokesperson of SNSD and SPRS	Nezavisne Novine pg 4 'SDS assault at RTRS' by V.P. – SDS Wednesday accused RTRS of "having become TV advertising Nezavisne Novine and spokesperson of the SNSD and SPRS instead of being public service of all the citizens". According to press release, SDS says "it is astonished with the level of biasedness of the editorial policy of informational programme of RTRS and campaign RTRS is running, by which citizens of Banja Luka are informed of reasons on failures of City Heating Plan in an orchestrated and synchronised manner". Drasko Ignjatic, Information programme editor at RTRS, says that information programme of this media house is completely independent and that not a single organisation or individual has any effect upon it. He adds: "SDS cannot accept the idea that this is not a mono-party system and that all sides and all parties have same rights to present their stances at public service."

Kovac, Novakovic on BiH Constitutional Court Law	Glas Srpske pg 5 'Ashdown is buying time' by G. Dakic – A work group for development of the BiH Law on Constitutional Court has not been established as yet, despite to the fact more than a month has passed since Draft Law on BiH Constitutional Court was withdrawn from the parliamentary procedure upon a request of High Representative Paddy Ashdown. BiH Justice Minister Slobodan Kovac says the work group was not established because names of international members of the group are not yet known. He still expects the work group would be established by March 15. He also says the representatives of HoR Constitutional Commission at the work group will be Momcilo Novakovic, Mirsad Ceman and Martin Raguz. It is still unknown who would represent BiH Constitutional Court, according to Kovac. Novakovic expressed his suspicion with regard to the deadline of 90 days for adoption of the Law on BiH Constitutional Court, considering the fact one month has already passed and not even the work group has been established. 'I think it is not fair from High Representative Paddy Ashdown to buy time in this way. He promised in public that the Law would be adopted within 90 days. I think Justice Minister Slobodan Kovac has showed his inert behaviour with regard to many issues too', Novakovic concluded.

The BiH Association of Farmers has welcomed the "first steps" taken by the BiH Council of Ministers. "We have warned of the damage that the implementation of the free trade agreements can make. We have organised numerous protests with the objective of opening the eyes of the BiH Council of Ministers. Thus, CoM brought the decision for which Terzic claims to be in accordance with the FTAs: *"The signatory of this accord may launch the negotiations on solving this issue. We have been trying to solve it for the past year and a half through contacts with leaders of neighboring countries and at the end we had to aside with this measure. PM announces that he will work with WB, OHR and IMF this month to find a solution to this problem. On the issue of Aluminij company, PM says that the "Aluminij is one of the biggest problems between Bosniaks and Croats, and politics at power. Arbitration of Aluminij has already been agreed and it should be implemented. A big portion of the work has already been done, but the arbitration is not, however, going the way it should... [However] I think we are the closest to agreement that could satisfy certain political interests, compensate workers, and create perspective of the company's development in a future."

Hadzipasic also says that the Privatization Law must be adopted the FBiH Parliament as soon as possible.

Prosecutor McNair withdraws parts of indictment in 'Croat self-rule' case	RHB, BHT, TV Hayat, FTV, Dnevni List, front pg splash and pgs 8-9 'Part of indictment in 'Croat self-rule' case withdrawn', by Zvonimir Jukic, Ivica Glibusic – Head of Special Department for Organized Crime and Corruption with the BiH Prosecution, John McNair, has sent the BiH Court a request aimed at withdrawing of article 2 of the indictment against Ante Jelavic, Marko Tokic, Ivo Andric Luzanski, Zdravko Batinic, Miroslav Prce, Petar Milic and Ivan Curcic, who are indicted for the events related to the establishment of the 'Croat self-rule'. The said article charged the indictees with endangering of the territorial integrity of BiH. McNair explains in his request that "a use of force or threat of use of force is an element of the mentioned criminal deed", however the activities during the 'Croat self-rule' did not include a deployment of troops or threat of use of force. The end result means that the charges against Milic, Tokic, Batinic and Luzanski could be dropped if the BiH Court approves the Prosecution's request. In the same request Prosecutor McNair says the criminal persecution of Jelavic, Prce and Curcic will continue because of criminal activities as stipulated in article 3 of the indictment related to undermining of military and defence capabilities of F BiH and abuse of office and authority. Vecernji List, front pg splash 'Indictment against four Croats withdrawn' and pgs 2-3 'McNair withdraws indictment', by Miroslav Vasilj – Carries Milic's lawyer, Nino Gvozdic, as saying that McNair's withdrawal of the indictment could have a large impact on the indictment against Dragan Covic, because the judge in charge of initial proceedings could reject the indictment. The case also covered by Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 19, mentioned on front 'Part of indictment for Croat self-rule abolished' Zlatko Tulic, Sarajevo dailies, Nezavisne Novine pg 2 'Prosecutor withdrew the first item of the indictment' by A.
