The commemoration in Potocari, held on the occasion of marking the ninth anniversary of genocide, was attended by approx. 20.000 people. They arrived with buses and personal vehicles from all parts of the country. The manifestation in Potocari commenced at noon with intoning of the state anthem and raising the BiH flag. Thousands of attendants were addressed by BiH Presidency Chair Sulejman Tihić, who said that "this as well as many other similar occasions commit us to doing our utmost to insure that remains of all other victims are found and properly buried, and that criminals are brought to justice". "Today at this place we speak of the past. We do this primarily for the future so that this crime would never ever happen again to anybody in BiH", emphasized Tihić. He indicated that nobody should forget what had happened in Srebrenica. "However, we need to believe in justice, the victory of life over death and good against evil. Thus, even today, apart from the past, we also need to talk about the future, prosperity, restoring the joy of life to Srebrenica", said BiH Presidency Chair. Head of the BiH Islamic Community Mustafa ef. Cerić served the funeral ceremony and prayer. In his hutba, he stressed that "there is no answer to the question why some people are evildoers, but that there is an answer why all people should be good-doers. Because everybody should love the good and peace". Apart from the State, Federation and Cantonal officials, the funeral ceremony and burial of 338 victims was also attended by representatives of the international community, diplomatic corps, as well as various associations from Serbia-Montenegro such as the "Women in Black", "Youth Initiative for Human Rights" and "Fund for Humanitarian Law Serbia, Montenegro and Kosovo". Representatives of these three associations sharply condemned the absence of RS officials at today's Commemoration in Potocari. Until today, 989 victims were buried at the Memorial Centre in Potocari, with today's ceremony, the number of the identified and buried victims rose to 1.327. Sunday's manifestation in Potocari went without any incidents. Vecernji List, pg 17 '338 people from Srebrenica buried', mentioned on front, by Dejan Jazvic, Slobodna Dalmacija, back pg 'Commemoration for victims of Srebrenica', not signed, Dnevni List, pgs 2-3 'Remains of 338 victims of genocide buried', mentioned on front, not signed also reported on burial of 338 victims of genocide that occurred on July 11, 1995 in Srebrenica, which was held at the Potocari Memorial Centre yesterday. DL on war crimes in BiH	Dnevni List, pg 2 'Respect to VICTIMS', by Indira Tabucic – notes that even one decade after tragic events in BiH, victims are getting buried in presence of two peoples the most, not seldom in presence of one people only. "Because of that reason, there is no progress in this country. There are still, unfortunately, hotheaded people who pay respect to their people only. By doing that, they cannot convince others that there were no crimes on all sides", argues the author.

Furthermore, Covic denies that he sided with the Bosniaks side, which is insisting on the lawsuit against Serbia and Montenegro. "I am in neutral position. I see it as a legal, not political issue", concluded Covic.

Political developments/statements

Ivanic: Early elections are the best option

Herceg Bosna Radio, FTV, Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'Early elections are the best option', FENA – BiH Foreign Minister Mladen Ivanic on Sunday warned that RS will no longer, without a certain form of legitimate resistance, accept the sanctions imposed by the international community. In a statement for TV station PINK BiH, Ivanic stressed that the elementary principles of BiH long term functioning are being set these days and added that RS representatives in the upcoming period must be respected as normal partners, or otherwise, there might be a serious political crisis. BiH needs compromise between the representatives of all three peoples on the road towards Europe, said the BiH diplomatic chief, stressing that the next two weeks will be very important for stabilization or destabilization of political situation in the country. Ivanic reiterated that the ruling political parties in RS will remain decisive in their request for removing the current SDA ministers from the Entity Government and added that this insisting would probably produce SDA request for removing SDS and PDP ministers from the Council of Ministers. According to him, such a request by SDA could very easily lead to announcing the extraordinary parliamentary elections in BiH, and noted that extraordinary elections would be the best option at the moment.

Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'People is the best judge' not signed, Dnevni List, pg 21 'Early elections are only way out of institutional crisis', not signed, SRNA – The chairman of the Party of Democratic Progress (PDP), Mladen Ivanic, is of the view that the RS top echelon has been stripped of legitimacy and brought into a difficult situation following the High Representative Paddy Ashdown's decision to sack 59 officials and that early parliamentary elections was the only way of overcoming the institutional crisis. "Along with earlier dismissals, the RS top political echelon has been stripped of legitimacy, brought into a difficult situation and it has to be verified in the public. From this point of view, it is necessary to view early elections as a way of obtaining the support of the voters," Ivanic told the Frankfurt-based Serbian daily Vijesti (News). He added that regardless of who got elected they would gain full legitimacy and that these elections would once again confirm that "the institutions of the RS and BiH had to be completely respected". Ivanic went on to say that he would write a letter expressing his views on the developments in BiH to all EU ministers and a number of NGOs. "Instead of acting as a stability factor, the High Representative is doing just the opposite and this is not the role of the international community," Ivanic pointed out. He said that it was now evident that the crisis in the RS was having impact on BiH.

RS radicals leader says referendum on RS independence "legitimate"	Nezavisne Novine, pg. 4 'Idea on referendum for an independent RS is legal and legitimate' by Srna, Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'Referendum in accordance with the Constitution' by Lj. M., SRNA – Milanko Mihajlica, the chairman of the Serb Radical Party of the RS, said on Sunday in Prijedor that the idea of holding a referendum on independence of the RS was legal and legitimate and that it stemmed from the BiH Constitution and the citizens of the RS. "Anyone who wants BiH without the RS could face the referendum by the Serb nation on the formation of an independent state, but in this situation political parties would have to take into account the current situation, international factors and circumstances in the region," Mihajlica told a news conference. He said that Serb parties had to refrain from deepening the crisis brought about by the High Representative Paddy Ashdown's decision on dismissals and that there were a number of ways of resolving the present situation. He cited the election of a new government, reconstruction of the existing one and early elections as possible solutions. "I am confident that all of these options will exclude the Party of Democratic Action (SDA) from a parliamentary majority and its ministers from the RS government because the SDA's political activities clearly point to the fact that it is only interested in a unitary BiH without the RS," Mihajlica said.
Statement of Milorad Dodik re CoM and Adnan Terzic	Nezavisne Novine, pg. 5 'SDS and PDP to leave CoM' by V. P. – SNSD leader Milorad Dodik assessed the decision of SDS and PDP not to support CoM in removing Chairman Adnan Terzic as hypocritical. 'Let them explain the fact they do not find SDA acceptable in RS, yet they support it on BiH level. This proves their inconsistency', Dodik said. Dodik stated on Friday that SNSD will establish an assembly majority at RS NA with SDS and PDP should they vote non-confidence to CoM and Adnan Terzic.
Dragan Mikerevic on SDA	EuroBlic, pg. RS12 'SDA showed bad intentions towards RS' by Srna, Glas Srpske, pg. 3 'Party with bad intentions' not signed – President of RS Government Dragan Mikerevic has assessed that the latest session of SDA Presidency clearly showed that the party had very bad intentions towards RS. According to Mikerevic, this became obvious after a statement of BiH CoM Chairman Adnan Terzic who supported a policy of SDA President Sulejman Tihic. In relation to an article published in 'Dnevni Avaz' three days ago, in which it is claimed there is a dispute within PDP party, Mikerevic said information brought in the article was untrue and he emphasized it is obvious the article had been ordered.

CoM Chair Terzic visiting Brussels	Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'Come into position to talks about visas abolishment as soon as possible' – Chairman of the BiH Council of Ministers Adnan Terzic is to meet in Brussels today with EU Commissioner for Judiciary and Internal Affairs Antoni Vitorini. EU foreign ministers support Ashdown's decision	Nezavisne Novine, pg. 2 'Support to Ashdown, compliments to Tadic' by Beta – Heads of diplomacies of EU will today at a session in Brussels support measures brought by HR Paddy Ashdown on June 30 with an aim to ensure full cooperation of BiH with the Hague Tribunal. The Heads of diplomacies will also support HR Ashdown's decision to establish a commission for re-organizing police structure in BiH.
American Congress to discuss HR Ashdown's work	Glas Srpske pg 3 'Ashdown as topic of discussion' by D. M. – The Committee for International Relations and Foreign Affairs of US Congress will discuss the work of OHR mid this week, primarily decisions of High Representative Paddy Ashdown. Former Secretary of BiH Mission to UN, Darko Trifunovic, has confirmed that the discussion is being prepared since April 'attack' on the Republic Office for relations with the Hague Tribunal.
Interview with alternative HR Pejakovic	Nezavisne Novine pg 8 'I will resolve problems with removals' – In a brief interview to NN, Josip Pejakovic, the alternative high representative for BiH, says that "since I am the man of arts, the logical thing is that I would be mostly supporting issues related to culture, because this field is the most jeopardised field in the entire palette of problems of BiH". He adds: "It was a shock for IC that somebody even dared establishing the body called Alternative High representative, dared making them clear that this is our land. We are Europe, regardless of which much they try to dispute it to us. The only reason we are not in Europe is because we have High Representative." However, he also adds: "I do not even think about opposing Paddy Ashdown, because he was the only one at the British Parliament, who, back in 1992, "shouting to the sky" in the interest of Bosnia. I would be an idiot if I felt anything else apart from respect and friendship towards him. However, I oppose to the function of High Representative... This latest decision of his has come too late. The timing was bad. Removals were carried out on the eve of elections. Now, the situation in the RS has become more radical."

VL on BiH Presidency members political behaviour	Vecernji List, pg 2 'Vienna, Srebrenica, Belgrade', by Eldina Medunjanin – commenting on the situation in which the three members of the BiH Presidency were at three different venues this weekend, the author notes that the situation offers probably the best picture of what's really happening in BiH, claiming that even after nine years after the war, the three sides in BiH still have 'their cases'. Instead of that, author suggests that all the peoples, including the members of BiH Presidency, should gather around the European future of the country and its citizens.
HDZ on constitutional reforms	Dnevni List, pg 5 'HDZ calls for dialogue on reorganization of state', mentioned on front, by Miso Relota – the Presidency of HDZ BiH called on other political parties in BiH to start a dialogue on reorganization of state following the crisis that is a result of removals by the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown. President of HDZ BiH, Barisa Colak, believes that serious progress cannot be achieved in BiH with the current constitutional set-up, noting that a considerable progress cannot be made without some sort of constitutional transfer of authority or constitutional-legal reform in BiH. Commenting on the recent removals by the High Representative, Colak says removals will never solve problems. "As long as it is the case, BiH cannot seriously count on Euro-Atlantic integration", says Colak.

VL interview with Dragan Covic on situation in BiH, judiciary, expenditures by BiH Presidency	Vecernji List, pg 5 'It is time for BiH without High Representative', mentioned on front, by Zoran Kresic – carries an interview with the Croat member of BiH Presidency, Dragan Covic, in which he, talking about the current political situation in BiH, notes: "I am convinced the time has come to send a clear message that those who have been elected by the people assume the authority as well as the responsibility. The Council of Europe directly suggests it too. We cannot go into Partnership for Peace and Euro-Atlantic integration with the High Representative". Questioned to comment on the journalist's claim that BiH still depends on the foreign administration, especially in the judiciary, Covic says: "It is incredible that at the state level, you have several key judges and prosecutors who are foreigners. The law even defines that a judge must be a BiH citizen or that he/she completed the law school here. I fear reforms if they will create situations for political processes", notes Covic. Asked to comment on the constitutional organizational of BiH and whether the problem lies in existence of the Republika Srpska, Covic denies that the RS is the sole problem, arguing that the whole system is complicated. Covic concludes that all three peoples in BiH should agree about foundations of the state. Finally, questioned whether the people, who claimed that the BiH Presidency spent too much money last year, were right, Covic says that they had no right to criticize the Presidency, because the amount of 4 million KMs can cover for the essential needs only. "A liaison officer to The Hague Tribunal has more money at his disposal than a member of BiH Presidency", concluded Covic.
Barisa Colak on initiative to have Croat channel on FTV	Dnevni List, pg 4, 'Croats finally get their own channel on FTV!?', by Miso Relota – commenting on the petition for Croat TV channel in BiH, which has been signed by over 1000 people including municipal, cantonal, FBiH and state-level officials, Barisa Colak, HDZ BiH President says it is not disputable that any people has the right to its language, culture, tradition and media adding that this knowledge will more and more prevail among members of the 2 other constituent peoples in BiH. "If we look at things that way, the right (to TV) will soon be realized. We must arrive at such a solution by democratic means as soon as possible", he says.

I think the Croat MPs have sided with the savers, which is good", says Omersoftic, adding that she is unhappy with position of some SDA and SBiH MPs. He stresses: "The debt of BAM 50 million have been registered at both, Fund and Government. Government now demands from us to pass judgements. It cannot be done that way. GS on Draft Law on VAT	Glas Srpske cover page story 'Over somebody else's back' – According to GS, if the draft Law on VAT were adopted – and its would most likely be the case – this sort of tax would be paid according to the unified rate of 17%. Damir Miljevic, President of the RS Association of Employers, assessed that the proposed rate is too high, noting that the consumers, meaning the people, will pay the biggest price. He said: "Two years ago, we have done an analysis into the situation in RS and concluded that the realistic rate of VAT would be 10% for the RS."

on internal debt

Nezavisne Novine, pg. 11 'The authority cheated old foreign currency savers' by I. S. – Cedo Grbic, the President of the Association of Old Foreign Currency Savers, claims that the authority has cheated them by adopting a law on the detriment of resolving the issue of old foreign currency savings. According to Grbic, instead of adopting a draft law, the RS authority has adopted the Law on Defining and Settling of Internal Debt of RS, although old foreign currency savers were promised the Law would not be adopted. 'I have requested from the RS Government to exclude the issue of old foreign currency savings from the Law. This is a law on nationalization of the savers' property and all of this has been done behind closed doors. I think that an entity cannot sign for bonds, but a state, i.e. BiH, should do this', Grbic said.

DL on disposal of radioactive material near Stolac	Dnevni List, pg 7, 'Did SFOR dispose radioactive material by a lake near Stolac!?', by DL's investigative team, mentioned on cover – reporting that the number of people suffering from carcinogenic diseases in Mostar, Stolac and Capljina areas has considerably increased, DL's source claims that, in the period 1999-2000, there were operational information that in the wider area of Stolac, allegedly by a lake, dangerous radioactive material was dug in the soil. The same source claims that the operational information indicated that during the same period SFOR members dug the radioactive material in soil somewhere around Stolac. DL tried to check the information with both SFOR and domestic bodies of authorities, but without success. DL's investigative team cannot help the feeling that competent services and authorities have never taken any measures in order to check the allegation and test the samples of water and soil in the mentioned area.
