Prlenda – The High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, says that he would not disclose confidential information on war crimes suspects' whereabouts, adding these sources are the best chance to capture them. Commenting the accusations coming from RS that he breaches BiH Constitution by asking for abolishment of entities defence ministries, HR says he would respect the decision of the Constitutional Court if justices conclude that is a true. Tihic's office says that they discussed the current political situation and EUFOR's tasks in BiH. One of the priorities emphasized by EUFOR was the search for and arrest of war crimes suspects, which will, as Leakey pointed out, continue to be a condition for BiH's membership of the Partnership for Peace [programme] and signing of the EU's Stabilization and Association Agreement. Leakey assessed that the fight against the support network for war crimes suspects and organized crime was equally important, as these two networks were closely linked. In this respect, EUFOR will intensively collaborate with the SIPA (State Information and Protection Agency), Intelligence-Security Agency, Indirect Taxation Administration, as well as the police and other structures in BiH. Tihic voiced his full support for EUFOR in carrying out its mission in BiH, the statement said. RHB, Oslobodjenje pg 4 'Together against crime', Dnevni List pg 5 'Covic talked with EUFOR Commander' by NINA, Vecernji List pg 3 'Close cooperation between authorities and EUFOR is necessary' by eme, ONASA – BiH Presidency member Dragan Covic held talks in Sarajevo on Wednesday with the EUFOR Commander, British Major-General David Leakey, on implementation of defence and police reforms in BiH. BiH is an important stability factor, not just in the Southeastern Europe but in a broader region, hence the speed of implementation of the defence and police reforms, which are underway, as well as full cooperation of local authorities with the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) and apprehension of persons indicted for war crimes are extremely important, agreed both Covic and Leakey. In the sense, they stressed the need for close cooperation between BiH institutions and EUFOR, the BiH Presidency said in a statement. During talks on mission and perspectives of EUFOR in BiH, the interlocutors assessed that EUFOR ought to continue to take part in creation of safe environment in the country. They also stressed the role the EUFOR will play, in cooperation with relevant local authorities, in fight against organized crime. According to Covic, successful fight in that field would assist commitment of local authorities to strengthen democratic state which endeavours to overcome the difficult economic situation in the country. FTV, Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Apprehension of war criminals an EUFOR priority' also reported on the meetings.

Foreign Ministry spokeswoman, Lepa Babic, underlines Ivanic will not give up on his demand, adding that he still sticks to the findings presented in the report. Klinco – Several collocutors of Nezavisne Novine have confirmed that Pero Bukejlovic have been unsuccessfully attempting for two years to bring foreign investors to RS. He, with help of two Italian firms, has established "Real Partners" firm for consultancy and services with a seat in Banja Luka . Bukejlovic has tried to get his Italian partners involved in the privatization of at least three firms in RS – "Jelsingrad", PIK "Mladen Stojanovic" and some firms from "Cajavec" system. A collocutor from RS Government claims they have held many meetings at RS Government and Privatization Agency, which gave no results.
NN op-ed on Bukejlovic, HR	Nezavisne Novine, pg. 7 'Dead-end street' by Pero Simic – the author criticizes the appointment of Pero Bukejlovic and says it is no wonder a majority of people think Ashdown's support to Cavic is actually a story on the easiest method of throwing RS on its back. 'Ashdown could deny this by seeking for smarter partners for our better future, instead of those who have brought us to the edge of a cliff. Unless he intends to make Albania, instead of Belgium as he announced, out of BiH', the author says.

RSNA Speaker Stojicic says RS PM-designate secures parliamentary majority without SDA, raises issue of confidence to CoM	Oslobodjenje pg 4 'Confidence to Terzic under question', Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 14 'Raise the issue of confidence to Terzic', by A. Macanovic, Nezavisne Novine, pg. 4 'We have a majority for the election of RS Government' by V. Popovic, Glas srpske, pg. 5 'First the Government, then the rest' by D. Z., ONASA – The new Republika Srpska prime minister-designate, Pero Bukejlovic, has already secured support from the necessary parliamentary majority, without the ruling Party of Democratic Action (SDA), RS National Assembly Speaker Dusan Stojicic said, without naming the parties that voiced their support. "I do not wish to speak of the parties that support Bukejlovic at this time. Certain political parties have made statements guaranteeing the existence of parliamentary majority, excluding the SDA," Stojicic said, adding that he expects the PM-designate to present his cabinet and a programme of the new government's activities within 40 days. Commenting on the situation at the BiH Council of Ministers, Stojicic said "it is obvious that the institution is in a crisis". According to Stojicic, the appointment of the new RS government will determine the "political approach" to resolving the crisis at the Council of Ministers. Stojicic said that a solution to the problem is opening of the issue of confidence to the present Council of Ministers and its chairman Adnan Terzic in the BiH parliament.
VL editorial on BiH CoM	Vecernji List pg 2 'BiH CoM to meet as late as in 60 days' by dj says that the next session of the BiH Council of Ministers might take place as late as in two months. VL also says: 'Although Chairman of the BiH CoM Adnan Terzic is trying to reduce the extent and consequences of the authority crisis it is more than obvious that the halt in the work of the BiH CoM might completely stop processes of reforms. Proposals of laws drafted by Ministries cannot be sent to the parliamentary procedure without the consent of the BiH CoM. The whole crisis might finally result in prolonging the beginning of negotiations on stabilization and accession with the EU.'

Blic on CoM, political crisis	EuroBlic, pgRS1 'Hiding of crisis' by Rajna Radosavljevic and Nedeljka Breberina – The article quotes Spokesperson of CoM Chairman Bojan Zec Filipovic as saying 'Considering the fact that the entire reform package, which is being implemented in BiH, is based on a full cooperation between entity governments and CoM, it is very important for RS Government to be established as soon as possible, in order for BiH to be able to continue fulfilling pre-requisites for the admission to EU'. The Head of SDA Caucus at RS NA, Tarik Sadovic, thinks the Parliament too might soon enter a crisis if the CoM does not become functional again. PDP is of the view that hesitation of CoM is actually a consequence of calculations of other parties. PDP delegate Velimir Sakan refused to comment on whether partnership relations between SDS, PDP and SDA would be put in jeopardy at the state level if SDA Ministers fail to become a part of the new RS Government.
