Cavic feels that Ivanic was trying to protect his position and therefore only forwarded this notification to the BiH Embassy in The Hague. Paravac also stressed that one-sided lawsuit against SCG will worsen relations between the countries. He stated that BIH Presidency members are leaving the collective way of working more often. Tihic stressed that the lawsuit is not directed at Serbs in BIH. “Lawsuit should be feared by those who were responsible for crimes and suffering of BIH citizens”, stated Tihic. JL: BiH should drop charges against SCG for sake of its future	Jutarnji List, pg 18 ‘Why BiH should withdraw genocide charges against SCG’, by Snjezana Pavic – The author argues that BiH should be dropping the genocide charges it filed against the SCG simply because the Serbs from BiH are against the lawsuit. Pavic notes that everyone in the world knows the truth about the war in BiH, that it was Serbia that started the aggression against BiH, however BiH should drop the charges for the sake of building a joint state in which all peoples should feel equal to each other. Pavic reckons that one of key issues in BiH is that there are three ‘truths’ about what happened in BiH, although everyone knows that Serbia attacked BiH, however that is not a complete truth about the war, namely the Patriotic League of BiH, formed in spring of 1991, was formed as a pure Muslim army to defend Muslims, not a multi-ethnic BiH.

According to DA, the invitation letter, sent by McElhaney, specified that only leaders were invited, not their associates. SDA leader Sulejman Tihic commented he expects outstanding issue of BiH Presidency election to be solved, adding he expects all, including SBiH leader Safet Halilovic who recently criticized the manner of discussions, to attend the meeting. Tihic concluded the worst-case scenario is no agreement as "in that way BiH politicians would show their incapability to reach agreement on any issue." SBiH official Beriz Belkic confirmed they had received an invitation letter, stressing party never said it would not take part in talks. However, Belkic adds: "If [negotiations] remain at this level and if they demanded us to sign such an agreement, we assure you that we wont take a part in it." SBiH executive commission's stance on whether officials will join today's talks has not been yet known. He added PDP would have a representative at the meeting. Confirming that HDZ leader Dragan Covic would participate in the meeting, HDZ spokesperson Miso Relota told DA: "It seems that the direct election of the BiH President would remain. SNSD's Dodik: agreement on const. changes reached by domestic politicians, it could mean withdrawal of IC in current form; talks possible in future but only w/out questioning RS	RTRS current affair program 'Crvena Linija' By Zoran Popovic-Commenting the announcement by the SDA leader Sulejman Tihic on signing the agreement on the constitutional changes would be signed on Wednesday, the RS Prime Minister Milorad Dodik said there would be certain consultations with the State Department officials on the day but the signing of the agreement. However, Dodik is very optimistic and pleased about the fact that the talks were conducted among domestic politicians signalling their readiness to make decisions independently from the international community: "This means a lot to me since it would mean withdrawal of the international community in the capacity that we have now... I am satisfied that leaders that participated in [talks on] the constitutional changes reached the agreement that identify both the RS and BiH", said Dodik. In that context, Jazvic notes it is a good opportunity for Silajdzic to finally become a leader of a big political group, despite his SBIH being in every authority since the party got formed. The author also notes that the constitutional changes talks brought together two parties (SDP and SDA) together, which was unthinkable of until this moment.

Petar Kunic, Professor at Banja Luka Faculty Law, and Tihomir Gligoric, delegate of SP RS at BiH HoR, also note RS has obtained its legality through Dayton Accords.
