FBiH HoP in session	RHB – FBiH House of Peoples is in session today. The chamber should be discussing amendments to the FBiH Constitution related to transfer of defence authorities from the entity onto the state.

NHI on constitutional changes	RHB – On the occasion of 6th meeting of Croat parties about the constitutional changes, scheduled for December 16, NHI has sent the organizer of the meeting, the HNZ, a letter confirming its participation in the talks, however the NHI minds the organizer because it did not allegedly treat proposals of other parties in the same way. NHI insists that no resolutions can be adopted without equally treating all proposals and opinions of all parties. The party also warns of promise made by the HDZ BiH President, Dragan Covic, to Donald Hays, that the number of cantons in the FBiH should be reduced to 3, arguing that the NHI would never agree to it.

Interview with French Foreign Minister: Arrest of Karadzic and Mladic is priority	Oslobodjenje cover pg splash 'Arrest of Karadzic and Mladic is priority' pgs 4-5 'Arrest of Karadzic and Mladic is the main issue' by Edin Krehic – Philippe Douste-Blazy, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, said in an interview to Oslobodjenje that the institutions DPA established have helped BiH to go through a difficult part of its history but he thinks the complexity of these institutions is not compatible with the perspective of admission to EU. With regard to constitutional changes, the Minister stated strengthening of CoM and role of the president would be useful, but he noted his primary concern is to have BiH citizens to act as initiators of reforms as well as that citizens should be the ones to decide on these matters. Asked whether BiH with two entities was sustainable, the Minister said the problem of BiH is more related to weakness and complexity of its central institutions. Asked to say whether France had ever dealt with the allegations that its officers from the international forces had been tipping off the actions aimed at arrest of Radovan Karadzic and Ratko Mladic, the Minister replied these allegations were not made with regard to "officers" but with regard to "an officer" back in 1998 and he added France had never denied there had been a possibility he might have done so, but he pointed on the fact French contingent in BiH had done much to apprehend approximately 1/3 of the arrested Hague fugitives in BiH. He also said he pleads for the arrest of Karadzic, Mladic and their associates and he says he had even warned Serbian authorities the extradition of remaining Hague fugitives remains the top priority. Nezavisne Novine pg 5, announced on cover 'BiH needs stronger central institutions' by D.Risojevic also carried the interview.

He also expects the RS Government to solve the issue of destiny of Avdo Palic. HR Ashdown's other priorities also include, among other issues, accommodation for SIPA and making law on police and election law clearer. On RS's cooperation with the ICTY, inset entitled 'Sanctions against RS', HR Ashdown says the ultimate assessment whether the RS cooperates with the ICTY rests with the Chief Prosecutor, Carla del Ponte. "I am in contacts with del Ponte and if she deems there is no cooperation or it is not good enough, I will react pursuant to my authorities", says Ashdown. Inset 'I will not remove Seada Palavric' carries the HR as saying that he will not remove Seada Palavric from the office of a BiH Constitutional Court judge. Omeragic – the article refers to the decision of BiH Presidency member Borislav Paravac to initiate the assessment of constitutionality of BiH lawsuit against SiCG before BiH Constitutional Court over the part of the lawsuit that reads 'RS is a surogat that had been created on genocide and ethnic cleansing'. Paravac's legal advisor Slobodan Radulj says this was the key reason for launching such an initiative and added he believes the lawsuit was not aimed only against SiCG but he thinks it was aimed against RS as well. Paravac's office did not deny that one of the reasons for launching this initiative was Tihic's initiative for abolishment of name of RS. Radulj added that BiH should have accepted the offer of SiCG to withdraw the lawsuit while Serbia would, in return, construct Ferhadija mosque and pay reparations to Srebrenica people. BiH legal representative Sakib Softic says he is concerned that one party – SDS – opposite to any procedure demands that the International Court is informed on the Paravac's initiative at the moment when the date of the first hearing is already known.

Glas Srpske pg 5 'What Softic failed to disclose' by Z.Markovic – Daily carries statement of Slobodan Radulj, legal advisor to Borislav Paravac, criticising Sakib Softic for having violated BiH Constitution on some counts in relation with BiH suit against SiCG (in his recent interview to Dnevni Avaz), including no referral to protest against suit filed by Zivko Radisic and akin.

ITA ready for the VAT
introduction

Pink, BHT, Hayat, FTV, RTRS, Oslobođenje pg 8 'Citizens should not be afraid of VAT', Dnevni List pg 25 'Unified VAT rate only remedy against corruption', Vecernji List pg 4, mentioned on cover 'Living costs would increase by 7 KM', by E. Medunjanin, Nezavisne Novine pg 8 'Additional BAM 400 million will not be spent by administration' by M.Cubro/N.Krsman – Indirect Taxation Administration (ITA) is ready for the Valued Added Tax (VAT) introduction, stated President of the ITA Steering Board Joly Dixon. He stressed that BiH citizens should not be afraid of VAT, because it is a modern and economic tax, which is used in all European Union member countries. VAT is the tax that stimulates investments and creates fair market, ITA Director Kemal Causevic said. VAT introduction should provoke the increase of the prices, but entity governments will form the monitoring teams that should prevent merchants of gaining some extra or illegal profit, ITA and BiH CoM representatives said at a press conference in Sarajevo on Tuesday. Zlatko Hurtic, Advisor to Chair of BiH Council of Ministers, stated that both entity governments have adopted draft budgets, which include about 50 million KM to alleviate possible consequences of VAT.

Hayat: BiH citizens on VAT introduction	Hayat Zumra Arnautovic – While representatives of the Indirect Taxation Administration claim that they are ready for the Value Added Tax introduction, BiH citizens are not so well prepared: most of them claim that they do not have enough information, and the only thing they all know is the fact that prices will go up once the VAT is introduced. NTV Hayat interviewed citizens of Sarajevo , and the sellers in some big shopping centres. Although they are convinced that almost everything will become more expensive, ordinary citizens are not thinking of buying reserves in food, partially because they do not have enough money to do that. Workers in shopping centres claim that they have not noticed any “unusual” behaviour of their customers, and that the demand for basic life groceries is at the same level as in December 2004.

Hayat, ATV: VAT introduction in RS	Hayat ATV Banja Luka – The announcement that the basic life groceries and communal services will become more expensive causes anxiety among BiH citizens: for example, it has already been announced that the price of water would be increased for 16.4 percent in Canton Sarajevo. The situation is not much different in other BiH entity, although according to ATV Banja Luka reporter, there is one big difference: the CoM's Monitoring team for the control of possible unjustified increase of the prices have not even set foot in the RS. The meeting on which the working strategy should have been established was cancelled. "They are constantly talking about some monitoring, but we hear about it only through media reports... I don't know, maybe they believe that we have regulated this issue", stated Chief RS Inspector Zdravko Milicevic.

VL says that this decision was passed after appointed acting Director Hamdija Behric had announced that he could not accept the position of the Director since a day after the decision on his appointment had been passed he was exposed to certain unpleasant things. VL learns unofficially that the whole situation is a result of lobbying by former Director Asim Omanic who tried to influence the work of the bank even after he had submitted the resignation. VL also learns that British have launched their own media-propaganda project that should compensate shutting down of 'PsyOps' and the crucial segment of that project are video letters.
