Political issues

FBiH HoR adopts the law on direct election of municipal heads

RHB, Oslobođenje pg 8 'Amendments on direct election of municipal heads adopted', Vecernji List page 2 'Amendments to direct election of heads', Slobodna Dalmacija, page 6 'Citizens directly elect heads', Nezavisne novine pg 11 'MPs discussed direct election of mayors' – At the extraordinary session held on Tuesday, the FBiH House of Representatives adopted the draft Law on the direct election of municipal heads in the Federation of Bosnia-Herzegovina. It is expected that the FBiH Parliament's House of Peoples will declare its position on this draft law on Thursday. The law defines that municipal heads are directly elected by registered voters, and foresees the preferential voting system, while the municipal head will have a four-year mandate. The house earlier passed amendments 104 and 105 to the FBiH Constitution regarding the local self-governance. Amendment 104 foresees that that organization of the local self-governance system is under the FBiH jurisdiction, while amendment 105 states that municipal councilors and head will be elected directly by the voters. President of the Caucus of the HDZ, Croat Demo-Christians and Croat National Union Coalition said that amendment 104 is unconstitutional. HDZ deputies voted against it explaining that this would present a transfer of local administration to the FBiH level. Chairman of HDZ Club, Ivan Madunic said that they were outvoted in their attempts to protect FBiH Constitution. Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Draft Law on direct mayors elections adopted' – Madunic added: "I expect the High Representative Paddy Ashdown to reaction to this game." He also announced that Croat representatives in House of Peoples will also object to this amendment.

Dnevni List front and page 3 'Law on direct elections of heads of municipalities adopted' – 'You cannot take away something from someone, especially not by changing the Constitution... This is a grave violation of the Constitution and an anti-Dayton game', says Madunic.

BHTV 1 – The Law on direct elections will now allow citizens to vote for a person, rather than for a party. Voting ballots will have written names of several candidates and voters will be able to vote for more than one.

FTV – The Law on direct election was forwarded to parliamentary procedure for urgent consideration by the President of the Party for BiH caucus, Ismet Brga. "I believe that our decision to start a reform of the Law is a serious step toward affirmation of Local Governance and citizens' influence on formation of political flows in general", said Ismet Brga. The House accepted the initiative of the SDP for the BiH Parliament to pass a BiH Law on the local self-governance and the Law on Sarajevo as capital city.

SNSD holds new protests	RTRS, Nezavisne novine pg 2 'Protest in Vlasenica on Sunday' – Opposition is still dissatisfied with the situation in RS, and rest of BiH, which is a reason SNSD will hold new protests, this time in Vlasenica on 18 April. Knaus also said that ESI is criticizing the structure of the OHR since ESI believes that the OHR's structure does not match the current situation. Knaus says that the work and behavior of the IC in BiH should be similar to the form that is being applied in Romania and Bulgaria. Knaus also says that the ESI supports cantonization of BiH in order to create BiH with 12 equal units (the RS, Brcko District and 10 Cantons that currently exist in the Federation of BiH).

Macanovic carries that RS Vice President Ivan Tomljenovic stated for Banja Luka weekly 'Puls' that the relations of Croats and Bosniaks in the Federation of BiH are the relations from necessity and that the fact is that they live separately, ones next to the others and not together. He added that the situation will be like this until the economic calculations suppress national thinking. Tomljenovic also said that Serbs were always taking side of those who were against Croats. Tomljenovic also believes that the presence of the International Community in BiH is more than necessary in order to keep under control peoples in BiH and help BiH to approach NATO's program Partnership for Peace and EU.
