Constitutional changes
Constitutional talks to resume; F BiH and RS parties still have opposing stances	TV Pink – Leaders of eight political parties will continue talks on constitutional changes on Sunday in Sarajevo. Election of Chair Presidency and duration of his mandate, way of voting in BiH House of Representatives and way of election in BiH Parliament will be discussed. U.S. Ambassador to BiH Douglas McElhaney said that January 15 and 16 is last deadline to end negotiations. SDA Chair Sulejman Tihic believes that BiH should have one President and that compromise can be achieved. Party for BiH will continue to support simplification of governmental administration. Safet Halilovic, Chair of Presidency of Party for BiH believes that there should not be entities, House of Representatives should be House of Citizens and House of Peoples should make decisions on issues of vital national interest. HDZ believes that BiH should have one President with two Vice Presidents who would rotate every sixteen months. SDP believes that one President and Vice Presidents is good option. Representatives of three major parties in RS – SDS, SNSD and PDP believe that Presidency should be of three members and Parliament of two Houses. International community believes that Constitution needs evolution not revolution. “Everything else would be instability and experiment, we are not going to participate in the experiments, we had many experiments in this region”- said Milorad Dodik, SNSD Chair. Leaders of RS political parties say that FBiH politicians’ insisting on denial of RS will probably result with break of negotiations. “I really think that if they continue on insisting and preparing public that FBiH parties will not accept anything that is legitimisation, or legalization of entities, then we have nothing to talk about”- said PDP Chair Mladen Ivanic. RS politicians believe that this is a test of international community to see whether BiH is ready to accomplish huge thing such as change of Constitution. RHB – also announces the talks and carries McElhaney’s statement. TV Hayat – carries Tihic’s statement. FTV, RTRS – carry announcement on talks. TV Hayat poll on const. reforms	TV Hayat – Citizens were asked to vote on question: Should BiH politicians accept the Donald Hays’ reforms? 187 answered YES, 3.371 answered NO.
Interview with Muhamed Filipovic on constitutional changes	TV Hayat By Senad Hadzifejzovic – Academic Muhamed Filipovic has been elected for CD’s “Person of the Year”. He commented on the method of determining the number of victims of war in BiH. Regarding the forthcoming negotiations on Constitutional changes, Filipovic stated that BiH politicians are unstable and couldn’t be trusted because they have bluntly refused any constitutional changes but then they have changed their mind and “traded BiH for something”. Filipovic is utterly against accepting the constitutional changes that will bring no change. “Everyone knows that the obstacle in BiH is RS, and until a constitution that guarantees no RS is written, our BiH politicians must refuse to accept any other”, Filipovic said. He criticized the Owen-Stoltenberg Agreement and the fact that late Alija Izetbegovic had accepted it. Filipovic commented that the current government was elected by only 39% of voters and that it has no integrity because “it changes its opinion under the pressure of Donald Hays, High Representative or any other international official”. Filipovic stressed that it constantly adopts disastrous decisions adding that BiH has no opposition because the same is partner in the government to the ruling parties.

Interview: Francis Boyle on Constitutional reforms	TV Hayat – Professor of International and Human Law at the University of Illinois, former BiH legal representative before the Hague Tribunal and the creator of BiH charges against Serbia-Montenegro for aggression and genocide, Francis Boyle, was the guest in CD via satellite. Being asked to explain his claims that the Representative of the US Institute for Peace Donald Hays’ reforms are racist and genocidal with an aim to destroy BiH, Boyle stated that Hays’ documents themselves prove his statements. “If you read Hays’ documents presented to the BIH politicians one is joint statement that refers to RS and its full, legal status in BIH itself. That is not stated that RS is constituent unit of BIH but legal equivalent as if it were an independent state. If you read Hays’ reform package you will see that it gives more power to RS, more constitutional respectability than it has under the Dayton Agreement (note: Boyle ended this sentence with “instead of abolishing the two entities” which was not translated)”, explained Boyle. He stressed that at the end of January negotiations on status of Kosovo begin and that David Owen publicly recommended that Serbia must be told to give up of Kosovo. “And in return it will be compensated by being given RS” stated Boyle. According to Boyle, that this is the real reason for Hays’ presence in BIH because he wants to conclude these negotiations before the Kosovo status is discussed. “Then he could go to Serbia and tell them that he is paving the way for RS to join Serbia but in return they want Serbia to give up Kosovo. The reason why Americans want Kosovo is the campBondsteel. The objective American interest in Balkan regions is maintaining the campBondsteel” claims Boyle. He further elaborated that if Kosovo is given the independence than US could conclude the agreement on maintaining the camp in Kosovo. Boyle stressed that it was evident even in 1994 when US took over the situation with Richard Holbrook in lead, that the plan was de jure carve up of BiH. “Even before Holbrook in BIH, the plan was to carve up BiH in three parts but when Holbrook took over, and after the Markale massacre, they decided to carve up BIH in two parts. Hays’ reforms now bring the second phase of that plan” revealed Boyle. He reminded that when outgoing High representative Paddy Ashdown came to power he advocated for the Swiss constitution to be taken as an example for BIH situation. “When I was the lawyer for the late President Alija Izetbegovic and the Presidency at Owen-Stoltenberg negotiations in Geneva, the President instructed me to negotiate on new constitution...and I told him that there are three models for pluralistic, multiethnic country like BIH mentioning US, Swiss and Belgian. He thought that the Swiss constitution was the good idea. In any case we must eliminate the two entities” stated Boyle. He added that former President Beriz Belkic stated as well that two entities must go and that Haris Silajdzic emphasized that BIH will have only one chance to deal with Dayton Agreement. “And certainly Hays’ reforms are not that chance. People of BIH must reject Hays’ reforms” concluded Boyle.
