He did not comment upon a fact that the legal explanation was submitted by Terzic’s Cabinet and not by the Legal Office in the CoM which is authorized to issue such legal opinions. Dnevni Avaz pg 2 inset ‘Technical mandate’ – Inset carries Terzic confirming he intends to nominate Ivanic’s successor and to ensure at the next Parliament’s session a support for the appointment. OHR Chief Spokesperson, Irena Guzelova, additionally explains that for OHR Ivanic could stay in technical mandate until his successor is appointed. RTRS, Nezavisne Novine pg 3 ‘OHR: Ivanic remains until election of new minister’, EuroBlic RSpG 2 ‘Ivanic is Minister until election of new one’ by R.R. also carry statements by OHR spokespersons saying that Ivanic will perform his duties until the new Minister is appointed.

Ivanic performed ministerial duties on Tuesday	Oslobodjenje pg 2 'Mladen Ivanic performed ministerial duties on Tuesday' by V.Z. – Daily carries that Ana Trisic-Babic on Tuesday performed her usual duties of the bilateral affairs assistant in the BiH Foreign Ministry, and not of the Acting BiH Foreign Minister. RSNA Speaker Stojicic criticizing Terzic's decision to remove Ivanic	Glas Srpske pg 3 'Terzic's self-will' by G.D. – RS NA Speaker Dusan Stojicic on Tuesday expressed disagreement and concern with the "illegal" removal of BiH Foreign Affairs Minister and BiH Council of Ministers Deputy Chair Mladen Ivanic. In a letter addressed to members of the BiH Presidency, both Houses of the BiH Parliament, Chairman and ministers in the BiH Council of Ministers, Stojicic warned that the decision of BiH CoM's Chair Adnan Terzic to accept Ivanic's seven-month old resignation represents "the most drastic example of violation of principles of legality". The RS NA Speaker said that because of Terzic's decisions "for which he bares full personal responsibility, BiH and its institutions have suffered great damage, and that such decision in a Dayton BiH seriously undermine the principle of equality of three constitutive peoples and two entities". Stojicic said that damage is especially reflected in the eyes of the international community and BiH has been hastily pushed from the track of reforms into a political and institutions crisis with inconceivable consequences. He noted: "I therefore think that competent institutions, which have the responsibility for creating and leading the BiH foreign policy, need to take adequate measures to stand in the way of the authoritarian and destructive behaviour of the BiH Council of Ministers Chair." EuroBlic RSp 2 'Ivanic is Minister until election of new one' by R.R., Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Stop Terzic's caprices' by Srna also covered the issue.

BiH Presidency member Sulejman Tihic, SDP Chair Zlatko Lagumdzija and BiH Minister of Civil Affairs Safet Halilovic find BiH CoM Chair Adnan Terzic's decision to remove Mladen Ivanic valid	TV Hayat – The Chair of BiH Council of Ministers Adnan Terzic has removed Mladen Ivanic from BiH Minister of Foreign Affairs post, but Ivanic keeps appearing in his office. Report brings a feature on stances of BiH Presidency member Sulejman Tihic, SDP Chair Zlatko Lagumdzija and BiH Minister of Civil Affairs Safet Halilovic regarding the removal. “In terms of the crisis, it is nothing unusual. Crisis came out as a product of incomplete Constitutional system, and as long as such Constitution is to exist we are only going to pass from one crisis to another. Terzic’s decision to remove Ivanic is valid, regardless of how certain persons perceive it”, said Tihic. “I am afraid that self-continued crisis is on-going and that certain persons do create the crisis on purpose, in order to avoid answering and solving the right issues”, said Lagumdzija. “The resignation has been legally issued, as well as Terzic’s decision to accept it. it is up to legal institutions in charge to bring final decision”, said Halilovic.

Now, we have also seek in what way European Commission, and especially BiH authorities, can do to contribute to creating a framework in which launch of SAA negotiations could happen at the time of marking 10th anniversary of Dayton Peace Agreement." Following the meeting with Solana, Teric said that message from Brussels is clear: "everything lies on BiH authorities'. Issue left to be solved are police reform and public broadcasting legislation, says Terzic, adding they have also discussed the defence reform. CoM Chair also met with the president of the European People's Party, Wilfred Martens, who chaired the commission on police reform in BiH. Chair of CoM said Martens offered assistance in overcoming current blockade in police reform. Possible sanctions against RS were discussed in Brussels on Tuesday – Ashdown	BHT Elvir Bucalo – We did not come to receive sanctions for the RS, but to receive award for the more cooperative BiH entity, stated BiH Council of Ministers (CoM) Chairman Adnan Terzic, who is currently in Brussels along with the High Representative (HR) in BiH Paddy Ashdown. “I was shocked when I heard the information about economic sanctions that will be imposed against the RS. BiH is today an unique economic space, so the idea of imposing sanctions to just one part of the country is nonsense”, said Terzic. But, according to the HR Ashdown, the sanctions were discussed in Brussels on Tuesday. “The issue of sanctions is of course one issue that must be considered, but I hope that we will manage to avoid it. The European Commission should consider some of the programs that could be implemented if RS chooses isolation instead of integration”, added Ashdown.
EuroBlic: Talks on police reform uncertain	EuroBlic RSpg 2 ‘Everybody awaiting for Government’ by Rajna Radosavljevic – Writing about police reforms, daily notes that RS has said what it will not accept, and now it is time for the RS to say what it actually wants from police reform. Political parties and their leaders (Stanko Pivasevic from SDS, Gavrilo Antonic from PDP, Krstan Simic from SNSD, Petar Djokic from SPRS, Milanko Mihajlica from SP RS) share the view RS Government is to make a move and prepare new concept of police reform. According to inset ‘Bukejlovic rejected proposal’, daily reports referring to its source that Monday meeting of the RS NA Collegium also held bitter debate on this issue, having majority of parties demand from RS Government to prepare a concept, but the RS Premier, Pero Bukejlovic, rejected that, saying that RS Government does not want to take part in this – hence it has brought RS into stalemate position, according to the source.

McElchany: Change the Dayton yourself	Glas Srpske pg 5 'Change the Dayton yourself' by N. Zelenovic – US Ambassador to BiH Douglas McElhaney has stated that the crisis of CoM should resolved in frame of BiH and its political leadership. He strongly denied America was behind CoM Chairman Adnan Terzic's decision to remove Mladen Ivanic. With regard to the Dayton Agreement, Ambassador McElhaney emphasized that, in his opinion, the Agreement had served its purpose and domestic authorities should present their stance on whether it should be changed or not. 'Everyone in BiH must deal with the issue of changing the Constitution, since this issue is again current in BiH', Ambassador McElhaney has stated.
Sarajevo City Council established in line with Constitution	RHB, BHT, Hayat, FTV, RTRS, Oslobođenje pg 3 'Semiha Borovac remain Mayor, Marin Ivanisevic elected Chair (of the Council), Dnevni List pg 7 'Authority crisis in Sarajevo resolved' by Hina, Vecernji List pg 4 'M. HDZ bodies established	RHB, BHT, Hayat, Dnevni List, pgs 4-5 'Introduction of nine year education postponed', by Ivica Glibusic, Vecernji List, pg 4 'Nine year elementary education postponed', by Miso Relota, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 6 'Channel in national language not questionable', by Zoran Zekic, Dnevni Avaz, pg 2 'We can solve crisis in Council of Ministers', by F. Vele – Under chairmanship of the HDZ president, Dragan Covic, the Main Board, High Court of Honour and National Council of HDZ were formed in Mostar yesterday (Tuesday). The National Council (NC) held its first session at which it discussed issues pertaining to Public RTV system and service at BiH level, nine year elementary education and law on laureates of war decorations. The NC requests an establishment of a channel and programming in the Croatian language, and Covic stresses that HDZ will maintain such position in talks with representatives of the EC and Bosniak and Serb parliamentary parties. As for introduction of nine-year elementary education, the NC noted that there were no technical pre-requisites to introduce it in schools with Croat curriculum as of next school year (2005/2006). As for the issue of law on laureates of war decorations, Covic says the HDZ MPs will try to reach an agreement with the Bosniak MPs, which would ensure equality of the Bosniak and Croat laureates. Covic stressed that decisions of the NC were obligatory for all members of the HDZ, including the MPs and ministers in the FBiH Government and BiH Council of Ministers. Inset in DL's article entitled 'Crisis because of constitutional changes' reads that Covic, whilst speaking about the crisis in the state authorities, stressed that the crisis was evident and that it could be in connection with the forthcoming constitutional changes. Covic noted: "If the crisis goes on, there will be no Council of Ministers, after which the crisis would transfer into the parliament". Dnevni Avaz, pg 2 'We can solve crisis in Council of Ministers', by F. Vele – Carries Covic as saying that he will, in course of next four days, hold talks with representatives of SDA, SDS, PDP and SBiH in order to overcome the evident crisis in the BiH CoM. "If there are conditions to hold a joint meeting of all leaders of these parties after bilateral meetings have been held, it will be done so. It is a necessity. If not in this parliamentary majority, then it will be in some other (form of majority) because I am convinced there will be no early elections", said Covic. Oslobodjenje pg 6 'Against nine-year education' also covered the issue.

BiH Presidency member Ivo Miro Jovic with SDHR Martin Ney on PBS Law	RHB, Hayat, Nezavisne Novine pg 2 'Appeal for support to Law on PBS' by SRNA, Glas Srpske pg 2 'Television at everybody's measure' by N.Z., Oslobođenje pg 4 'Speed up reforms of education and PBS service' not signed, Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'Ney called on Jovic to support the law on public broadcasting system' – Martin Ney, Deputy High Representative, on Tuesday appealed on member of BiH Presidency, Ivo Miro Jovic, to support the Proposed law on PBS during discussion on this issue at the HoP of BiH Parliamentary Assembly. This Law will be discussed at today's session of the HoP's Commission for Foreign and Trade Policy. Ney stated that the proposed Law would ensure that RTV services at the level of BiH and entities broadcast programmes in three languages.
HDZ to launch procedure of protecting the vital national interest in order to prevent adoption of law on PBS	BHT Marina Boskovic, Angela Cvitanovic – Croat Democratic Union (HDZ) will start the procedure of protecting the vital national interest, in order to prevent the adopting of the law about BiH Radio-television System. The House of Peoples' Commission will discuss this law, which foresees three regional centres, on Wednesday's session. In the meantime, "Hercegovacka televizija" Mostar requested from the European Commission (EC) to be included in the Public RTV System, and by doing so become the part of the program that will be broadcasted in Croatian language. "We did receive the Hercegovacka televizija offer to join the Public system, but we cannot judge whether it is something that is really necessary", stated Frane Maroevic, from the EC mission in BiH. Although Hercegovacka televizija leaders are convinced that they should join the Public RTV System, some of the political analysts, according to BHT reporter, believe that such television would not protect the interests of Croats in BiH, but the interests of HDZ members and officials. Also, this proposal could mean the introduction of a single-national television channels in BiH, because Federal Television in Mostar will broadcast its program in Croatian language, FTV Sarajevo in Bosnian, and RS Television in Serbian language.

DL on new HDZ ministers in FBiH Govt, BiH CoM	Dnevni List, pg 4 'Jerko Pavlicevic is new Federation minister', by Zvonimir Jukic – DL learns from an anonymous source that the FBiH Minister of Agriculture, Marinko Bozic, will be replaced by Jerko Pavlicevic from the HDZ of Prozor-Rama, who used to be a minister in the Canton 7 Government. DL notes that Bozic's 'sin' was that he openly supported Bozo Ljubic at the recent HDZ Convention, after which he fell into Dragan Covic's grace. DL reiterates that the BiH Foreign Trade Minister, Dragan Doko, will be replaced by the FBiH Finance Minister, Dragan Vrankic, and the author reckons the aim of the move is to improve trade relations with Croatia, which in turn would improve HDZ BiH's relations with the HDZ of Croatia and its president Ivo Sanader. Inset entitled 'Minister Nikolic leaving too' reads that some sources claim that the FBiH Defence Minister, Miroslav Nikolic will be removed too since he is not one of Covic's 'trusted people'.
Brcko Arbitration Tribunal: Should the District participate in reforms too?	BHT, Dnevni Avaz pg 13 'Should the District too participate in reforms?' by E. R. – A session of the Arbitral Tribunal for Brcko, at which the status of Brcko District and its relation towards the entities and state was discussed, ended in London Tuesday. The Tribunal held the session upon an initiative of OHR and it should also resolve dilemmas with regard to differences in interpretation of the Final Award, since offices of OHR in Sarajevo and Brcko interpret the Final Award in different ways, which occasionally leads to misunderstandings in reform issues – in which the District participates but does not present its stance as entities do. According to unofficial information, during the conference it was discussed whether Brcko institutions should participate in reforms, or BiH institutions can do this instead of it. According to information in possession of DA, the London conference was agreed upon in January this year, during the visit of Chairman of the Arbitral Tribunal Roberts Owen to the District. Owen demanded from the participants of the conference not to give any press statements.

VL: Serbia offers BiH exchange of territories	Vecernji List, front pg splash 'Serbia offers BiH 1000 hectares of territory' and pgs 2-3 'Serbia wants to gift BiH 1000 hectares of territory', by Valentin Rupcic – Conveys a report originally published in the 'Srpski Nacional' according to which Serbia is offering BiH an exchange of territory, in which Serbia would gift BiH 1000 hectares of land. In exchange, Serbia wants BiH to give Serbia 140 hectares of land around the 'Zvornik' and 'Bajina Basta' hydro power-plants that would enable a normal work of the power-plants. According to the President of BiH Commission for Borders, Zeljko Obradovic, the BiH Commission never got such a proposal from the SCG authorities. He explains that talks on border-related issues stopped after SCG refused to sign an agreement on borders. "First, it is necessary to sign an agreement on borders, only then there can be talks about correction of borders and territories around the borders", says Obradovic.

Mackic – The BiH Court, at a request of Ante Jelavic's lawyer Josip Muselimovic, postponed the trials in the 'Croat self-rule' case until July 8. Muselimovic claimed that his client is not able to properly follow the trials in this case, since he is fully engaged in another case, namely the 'Hercegovacka bank' case. Prosecutor John McNair stated he had nothing against the proposal, under condition that the defence team does not abuse the postponement later in the trials (referring to duration of trials). DL also reports that Muselimovic noted that letters that he had sent to the High Representative, EUFOR and NATO commanders would contribute to the withdrawal of the indictment against his client (DL does not explain the contents of letters). Vecernji List, pg 32 'Friar Tomislav Pervan will be Ante Jelavic's defence witness', by Zoran Kresic, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 14 'Jelavic too tired', by Zlatko Tulic, Sarajevo dailies also reported on the issue.

He also notes that whenever SDS needed the money, they would get it from Mandic. The author concludes that regardless of political dimension of this action, it is actually worth of attention, because it proves how people has been deceived for years not.

War Crimes
Serbian Assembly fails to adopt declaration condemning war crimes	RHB, BHT, Oslobođenje pg 2, mentioned on cover 'Serbian Assembly will not adopt declaration to condemn crimes', Glas Srpske pg 2 'Neither agreement or declaration' – The Serbian Assembly has failed to harmonize the text of a declaration condemning war crimes on the territory of the former Yugoslavia. Assembly Speaker Predrag Markovic thus decided not to place the declaration on the agenda. Assembly group representatives could not move beyond a unanimous condemnation of all war crimes. Individual parties such as the Democratic Party (DS) and the SPO (Serbian Renewal Movement) were firmly entrenched in their position that the declaration should only condemn the crime in Srebrenica. Speaker Markovic deemed this outcome his personal failure. "I cannot permit deputies to outvote each other on a subject such as condemnation of war crimes, as this would encourage criminals who must be brought to justice," Markovic said. Tomislav Nikolic, chief of the Radical Party assembly group, was unhappy because individual parties had rejected the idea that the text of the declaration should treat equally the crimes against Serbs. "Some assembly groups are not prepared to condemn crimes committed against Serbs, or to make them equal to the crimes committed by Serbs. We found this totally unacceptable. As a political party, we condemn any crime and criminal, we are not shielding or defending anyone, and we demand that the state brings each and every one to justice. However, we cannot forget that we are a part of the Serbian people, who suffered the most and the crimes against whom had triggered these wars," Nikolic said. Milos Aligrudic, Democratic Party of Serbia assembly group chief, said it was a big loss that no agreement had been reached to condemn all war crimes, including the revolting crime in Srebrenica. The DS put forward a special declaration condemning the crimes on the territory of Srebrenica. Assembly group member Dusan Petrovic told journalists: "The DS believed, and still believes, that on the one hand we must clearly condemn all war crimes, but at the moment, as we are approaching the 10th anniversary of the crime in Srebrenica, the Serbian Assembly should demonstrate an unambiguous moral and political stance that the murder of so many people in only a matter of a few days was a horrific event that must not be repeated."
