HR Ashdown addresses UN SC : BiH needs to consider post Dayton era; urges UN to review police certification process conducted by IPTF	FTV by Zinaida Hamidovic – The High Representative Paddy Ashdown on Tuesday addressed the UN Security Council for the last time in his capacity as the HR stating that it was possible to change the BiH Constitution as well as the role of the International Community in BiH. Ashdown said that BiH managed to achieve what was deemed as impossible a year ago. BiH is at Europe's threshold, said Ashdown. The HR added that constitutional reforms had to be continued and that it had to be done by BiH politicians through consensus. In interview for FTV, Ashdown said that BiH politicians need to reconsider the post-Dayton era and find new framework to move forward. "Now what that means is constitutional changes. The IC could offer aid and support, but domestic representatives are the ones who should reach the agreement through consensus. Good news from Brussels is that the process has been launched, event though through small steps of the domestic authorities. The most important thing is to continue the process. I doubt that greater progress is going to be achieved by elections in October 2006", said the HR. FTV: politicians will go to Washington with same difference in stances; if anything agreed, it will be due to US pressure	FTV by Blazica Kristo – FTV comments that following the Brussels meeting, stances of BiH political parties differ a lot and that it seems they would depart for Washington with such differences. FBiH parties support the efficient state government and parliament which could lead BiH towards Euro-Atlantic integrations. RS political parties are willing to introduce so called ‘cosmetic changes’, the ones which would ensure existence and authorities of the RS. “Some kind of partial solutions, which would extend the agony... I am against it. It is better not to have the situation changed at all, instead of having someone say that the job was done when it was not done”, said SDA Chair Sulejman Tihic. “The changes, if not adequate, but cosmetic, would legalize the temporary solutions as permanent ones”, said SBiH’s Safet Halilovic. BiH politicians deem Washington talks as a chance for DPA corrections, agreement Croats found most disappointing. HDZ Chair Dragan Covic says that proposed constitutional reforms are making state structure greater. “I expect no pressures at Washington talks, I expect that anything which is not to be agreed on is going to be signed”, said SNSD Chair Milorad Dodik. Reporter concludes that the great number of BiH politicians believes that if anything is to be signed, it will be the result of the USA pressure. RTRS also carries Dodik and Tihic. Dnevni Avaz pg 9 ‘I hope that US administration really stands behind Burn’s statement’ by A.M. – Mirsad Ceman, SDA official who participated the Brussels talks expressed his dissatisfaction with the outcome adding he hopes Washington negotiations would bring “something more”. He expects that conference scheduled in Washington will be a continuation of talks in Brussels. Cavic also stated that if a compromise on constitutional changes is reached in Washington then a joint document would be signed. FTV – “As far as FBiH politicians are concerned, cosmetic changes are those which do not foresee abolishment of entities...this means that they are approaching the issue cosmetically, cosmetically in terms of estimation and qualification and basically in terms of having the Dayton Agreement founding abolished”, said Dragan Cavic.

RTRS, on Previsic case: BiH, Croatia and SCG should extradite war crimes suspects among each other Dnevni Avaz, pg 3 'Escape of suspects to neighboring states', by Edina Sarac – The author reminds of recent statements by the President of BiH Court, Meddzida Kreso, in which she appealed for help from the IC when it comes to processing of war crimes suspects who have double citizenships and who are using the double citizenship to hide from the BiH judiciary in the neighboring countries, as was the recent case when the former commander of Gabela prison camp (Bosko Previsic) most likely found refuge in Croatia. Sarac argues that top echelons of the state, foremost the BiH CoM and BiH Justice Ministry should try to make a tripartite agreement with Croatia and SCG on extradition of war crimes suspects, otherwise the BiH Court could find itself in situation that it tries only Bosniaks for war crimes and criminal acts. RTRS – RTRS also warns that the cases alike this become regular now and that there are no guarantees that it won't happen again if the regional countries don't reach agreement on treatment of these cases. "If Inter-State agreement is not signed, we will have situation where people will run away in order to avoid proceedings on BiH courts," commented the chair of the HJPC, Branko Peric.

ICTY's Mathias Hellman on financing ICTY: Tribunal spent a billion dollars	Oslobodjenje, pg 3, mentioned on front 'Tribunal spent a billion dollars', by Fena – Representative of the ICTY Secretariat in BiH Matias Hellman told FENA that the IC has, through the UN and the ICTY invested almost a billion USD into the implementation of justice of atrocities committed in former Yugoslavia. "This can sound as a large amount of money, but the annual cost of the functioning of the Tribunal is still less than a twentieth of the annual cost of peacekeeping operations in the former Yugoslavia during the way," added Hellman. Asked if certain claims that the ICTY is facing bankruptcy were true, Hellman said: "It would be entirely false to say that the ICTY is facing bankruptcy. At a certain period last year there were financial difficulties where some of the states were late in paying the commitments towards the ICTY budget. However, that situation was overcome a long time ago and all the debts have been settled."

SBiH's Omerovic
blames OHR, HDZ and SDA
for divisions
in Mostar

Oslobodjenje, front pg splash and pg 7 'OHR is silently observing division of Mostar', by Asaf Becirovic – Leader of SBiH for Mostar, Safet Omerovic, argues that Mostar has remained a deeply divided city, for which he points the finger at the OHR, foremost the OHR South, as one of the main culprits. Omerovic says: "The ruling political parties, the SDA and HDZ, and OHR's Implementation Unit led by Richard Williams are not implementing the Statute at all. That's why the policy of the HDZ and Croat people is getting more present in the city (...) Decision of the City Council that have supported the implementation of the Statute are not being implemented. Having said that, the OHR is doing nothing, thus derogating the Statute it has imposed. It is possible to conclude that those people who claim that the OHR had made some promises to the HDZ before the adoption of the Statute were right, and that's why he have the current situation." He goes on to criticize the national representation in the MostarCity administration, claiming that there are too many Croats at the expense of the Bosniaks and Serbs. "(...) What does OHR say? Nothing! It blesses the HDZ! It is inconceivable that Lord Ashdown comes to oath taking ceremony for civil servants knowing that the national balance is unacceptable for Bosniaks and Serbs! In fact, I believe that the chief of OHR's Implementation Unit, Richard Williams, managed to find some sort of a soothing option with the SDA. I would not be surprised if that's the case (...) Richard Williams is the direct participant, the promoter of all divisions in the city (...) ", says Omerovic.
