Luka on Tuesday that there was no basis for the replacement or resignation of the entity minister of defence, Milovan Stankovic, adding that he did not think that officers took part in or encouraged the violation of the law during the oath-taking ceremony at the barracks in Bileca and Manjaca. "If they had and if it proves to be so, then they have no business there," Cavic told a news conference in Banja Luka, adding that a preliminary report on what happened at the oath-taking ceremony showed that all officers did their jobs in line with the law and the army's rules of service. The entity president believes that a political environment is being created in connection with what happened in the barracks whereby it is necessary to "offer a emotional reactions should cease. He emphasized that there were emotional reactions among "young Bosniaks, Croats and Serbs and that this is generally worrying", and radicalisation should thus not be additionally

BHT: Trust in BiH's ability to meet NATO standards undermined	BHT Elvir Bucalo – Incidents in Bileca and Manjaca mean major set back in BiH's attempts to join Partnership for Peace as soon as possible. In the same time, the trust in BiH's ability to fulfil Euro-Atlantic standards is undermined, stated various NATO officials in Brussels. "This is not in any way going to help the aspirations of BiH to join the North-Atlantic Treaty Organization, and we are very disappointed", stated NATO Spokesperson James Appathurai. NATO officials will discuss the incidents in BiH on an informal meeting, scheduled for Wednesday in Vilnius. None the less, the main condition for BiH to join European integrations remains the same: to capture and extradite Radovan Karadzic and Ratko Mladic. Pink also carried the statement of NATO spokesman.

Bozovic, Glas srpske pg 5 'Invitation to Ashdown' by Srna – At a session in Sarajevo on Tuesday, deputies to the FBiH House of Representatives sharply condemned the orchestrated manipulation of recruits of the RS Army at the oath taking ceremonies in Manjaca and Bileca. They warned the High Representative that he is "obligated to sanction the anti-Dayton activities of leadership in the RS in context of the latest primitive political provocations, which are directed against the overall efforts of BiH to access the European military and political integration".
BiH Security Minister Colak, EUFOR Commander Leahey concerned about Manjaca, Bileca incidents	RHB, FTV, BHT, Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Concern about events in Bileca, Manjaca', FENA – BiH Minister of Security Barisa Colak and the EUFOR Commander, General David Leahey, on Tuesday raised concerns about the incidents that occurred on Saturday in Manjaca and Bileca at the oath taking ceremonies. "I think that all this must worry us. We must do our utmost to ensure that the laws that are issued by this state are respected, regardless of the matter they regulate", said Minister Colak. He stressed all those who violate these laws must bear the consequences. General David Leahey deems that the incidents in Manjaca and Bileca deserve to be condemned, and underlined that they are bringing into question the integrity and commitment of officers in the chain of command of the RS Army. Oslobođenje pg 2 'RS Army officers responsible for the oath?' also carried Leahey's statement.

US Peace Institute's Server: Those refusing to take an oath should not be in the army	Hayat, Oslobođenje pg 7 'Such an army should not even exist', Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Army which cannot take BiH's oath should not exist at all', Glas Srpske pg 5 'No oath – no army' by Fena, FENA – Director of the Balkans Initiative at the US Institute of Peace Daniel Server said commenting on incidents in Bileća and Manjaca that there is no reason for the existence of any armed force in BiH if that armed force is not willing to defend BiH. Server thinks that this does not bring into question the statehood of BiH, but the status of any armed force that cannot take a solemn oath to defend BiH, which is what BiH armed forces should do: to protect BiH and represent and expand peace support operations. He added that those who cannot take an oath do not belong to the army. Asked by the Voice of America if this means that the Dayton Peace Agreement is not a solution for BiH, Server said that the Dayton Agreement had been good so far, but that it has become apparent that BiH has outgrown it. Commenting on the statement of NATO Headquarters in Sarajevo Commander General Steven Schook that this incident could not have come at a worse time, just before this week's meeting of NATO ministers in Vilnius, Server said that he assumes that people responsible for this knew perfectly well that this is a bad time and that they deliberately tried to hold BiH back.

Ex FBiH Army Commander says RS Army should be abolished, single BiH Army established	Dnevni Avaz cover splash ‘RS politicians stand behind military mutiny’, pg 5 ‘Military mutiny did happen in Manjaca and Bileca behind which are politicians’ by E. Sarac – Retired Commander of the FBiH Army, general Atif Dudakovic, stated that Manjaca and Bileca swearing-in ceremonies, in which recruits booed the BiH anthem and rejected to swear in to BiH, were a part of well-thought mutiny orchestrated by RS politicians. Dudakovic added that this was not typical military coup, but an incident of ‘Croat Self-Rule’ type which shows that RS Army has to be abolished and a single BiH Armed Forces established to serve all.
SNSD’s Dodik says his party was right when they voted against defence law	RTRS – SNSD Chairman Milorad Dodik says that events in Manjaca/Bileca prove that SNSD was right all along when they voted against the law on defence 2 years ago. He adds that RS President Cavic was supposed to explain to the public what did defence reform foresee. Chairman of RS National Assembly Board for supervision of work of security structures Velimir Sakan (PDP) stated that he never read the text of the solemn oath.

RS veterans leader Cvjetinovic opposes to repeating the procedure of taking the oath	Vecernji List pg 3 'New oath would cause disapproval' by B.S., Glas Srpske pg 5 'Repetition would be in vain' by G.K. – The president of the RS Veterans' Organization, Savo Cvjetinovic, feels that repetition of oath-taking ceremony by RS recruits would be in vain, adding it might cause even greater dissatisfaction among soldiers and their parents. He noted: "I suppose that taking the oath again would not be different than the last time." Cvjetinovic claims that the OHR and IC organizations use certain cases as reason to dismiss certain people, stressing that he would not be surprised if they come out with the decree abolishing the RS Ministry of Defense, "just like the Orao affair was used for some other purposes."
SD comments on Manjaca/Bileca oath, situation in BiH	Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 16 'Even the façade has broken', by Marin Erceg – Commenting on the recent events related to the Manjaca/Bileca oath and statement by former Serb member of BiH Presidency, Mirko Sarovic, that "BiH is necessary evil for the Serbs", the author says that everyone should have realized by now that BiH has serious construction flaws in it in form of the Dayton Peace Accord, stressing that those who can fix it, in reality do not want to do it. As for the responsibility for the Manjaca/Bileca events, SD lists the powers that be in Banja Luka, Belgrade and elsewhere, HR Paddy Ashdown, the Venice Commission that notes that entities should stay, and people who glorify the Chetnik movement. Finally, the author says that BiH's destiny is linked to the yet undefined status of Serbia and Montenegro, Kosovo and perhaps even Macedonia.

NN op-ed on comments to Manjaca, Bileca incidents: Victims or culprits	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 ‘Victims or culprits’ by Branko Todorovic – The author refers to comments given following Manjaca incident (Gojhko Beric, Enes Becirbasic, Adil Osmanovic, Adnan Terzic, Sulejman Tihic), noting that the statements do not differ from Manjaca incident, since they are all part of vicious BiH circle of hatred, distrust, tactlessness, political and intellectual non-responsibility, superficiality and non-acceptance of BiH as it is at the present time. He stresses it is possible to get out of this circle by removing words of hatred from media and making people like members of “Circle 99” realise there is a BiH outside Sarajevo. Todorovic notes young recruits are true and tragic victims, because their youth is burdened with silent and perfidious uncompleted war of politicians and media in BiH.

Ashdown says police reform remains "only " obstacle to Bosnia 's EU integration

RHB, Pink, BHT, Hayat, RTRS, Oslobođenje pg 3 'Coming weeks crucial for future of BiH' A. Terzić, Dnevni List pg 9 'There is no agreement on police reform' by D. Polovina-Mandić, Vecernji List pg 2 'You will remain black hole in Europe' by E. Medunjanin, Nezavisne Novine pg 8 'Path to an agreement will be extremely difficult' by R. Cengić, Glas Srpske pg 3 'Three weeks for a decision' by N. Z., ONASA – High Representative Paddy Ashdown said on Tuesday the European community will in next three weeks pass a key decision on whether BiH can continue further on the path to the only future it has, the future within the European community. Ashdown was speaking to reporters prior to a meeting with the leadership of both houses of the Federation BiH parliament, which will focus on police reform in BiH. "Majority of issues and problems has been resolved, including the fact we can reach a constructive cooperation with the Hague tribunal," he said. He stressed the only barrier which remained on this path is police reform, which will be very difficult and complicated and whose implementation will requires compromises. "The police reform must be consistent with three key principles highlight by the EU. If we manage to do so, BiH can move further on the path to Europe. But, if we fail, BiH will remain a black hole in the Balkans," said Ashdown. Ashdown underlined in that case there will be no opportunities of free travel, no foreign investments and that BiH will be left out from all trends. "Everything depends on what will happen in next three weeks and what will the elected representatives of citizens decide," said HR. Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Next three weeks are of historic importance for BiH' A. Basic – "Police reform has to in line with three crucial principles, issued by EU. If we manage to do that, BiH could continue its way to Europe, but if we fail BiH will remain black hole in the Balkan. The most serious issue is the one related with the fact that BiH should be in charge of the police, and this presents a problem to RS, as well as the maps of future police regions. I cannot tell that I am optimistic, but we have to make the right choice", said the HR. "We expect the state to be in charge of the police, and that there should be no borders when it comes to police regions", said SDA representative, Semsudin Mehmedovic. "We are not going to support the proposal according to which entities' ministries are going to exist, since it would present the real police reform. We are going to support regions, if multiethnic", said Stranka za BiH representative, Ismet Briga. The Chair of Croat Caucus in FBiH House of Peoples, Mate Franjicevic said that the reform was necessary, but that it was not going to happen soon. The HR is going to address RS National Assembly, in order to discuss on police reform.

EUPM Commissioner Carty visits Brcko District	RHB, RTRS, Oslobođenje pg 7 'Either joint police or European door will be closed', Dnevni Avaz pg 5 '10 regions meet professional criteria', Dnevni List pg 9 'Carty: BiH politicians are closing door for Europe by not accepting police re-organization' by T. Bijelic, FENA – The EUPM Commissioner in BiH, Kevin Carty, met on Tuesday in Brcko with the chief of the Brcko District Police, Milenko Milicevic, and members of the EUPM team operating in Brcko. Work of local police in the District and cooperation with EUPM as well as activities on police restructuring in BiH were the topics of the meeting. "Reasons for police reform in BiH are clear. Current police forces in BiH are not functional, and are under strong influence of various political parties, and for this reason their restructuring is necessary if this country is eager to start talks on accession to European Union. Politicians in BiH have two possibilities- either to accept the police restructuring or to close the door to Europe", Carty said. He pointed out that most citizens in BiH want BiH to become a part of EU, as well as that politicians have to take into consideration such stand of the citizens. Speaking on the possibilities for Brcko to become a center of one of police regions, Carty said that the issue is out of EUPM competence, namely that the decision can be taken by politicians. Carty rejected the allegation that organization of police centers –nine plus one region in BiH- reflects in fact division of police according to national regions, pointing out that the most important is that police in BiH has a single administration, financing and law, while the regions should determine professional criteria. In Brcko Carty also met with Brcko Supervisor, Susan Johnson, Mayor, Mirsad Djapo, as well as with delegates of the Brcko District Assembly.

FBiH HoR discussed proposed constitutional changes	RHB, BHT, Hayat, FTV, Oslobođenje pg 6 'Constitutional changes sent to authorize 3d body for further consideration', Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'Administration is spending from 67-70 percent of GDP', Dnevni List pg 4 'On constitutional changes without success' by NINA, FENA – The FBiH House of Representatives on Tuesday did not take a final stand on any of the two initiatives for amending the FBiH Constitution forwarded by FBiH Vice-president Sahbaz Dzihanovic and representative Mirnes Ajanovic. The both initiative are aimed at reducing the administration in Federation BiH and the budgetary expenditures in this segment. Dzihanovic's proposal was considered on Tuesday at the House of Representatives session, but was forwarded to the Constitutional Commission in order to consider this and other initiatives aimed at improving the Constitution, and to forward a relevant conclusion to the House. Mirnes Ajanovic withdrew his initiative from the daily agenda. For the purpose of reducing the administration and budgetary expenditures, Dzihanovic among other things proposes abolishing the institution of FBiH president and two vice-presidents, and reconstruction of the FBiH Government from the current 16 to 10 ministries.
BHT: BiH HoR to discuss election of Croat member of the BiH Presidency on April 21	BHT Boris Grubesić – After Croat member of the BiH Presidency has been removed, this institution is completely blocked. The process of electing the new Presidency member should start at the next BiH House of Representatives (HoR) session, scheduled for Thursday, April 21. BiH Croat Democratic Union (HDZ) will discuss the names of their candidates for this post in the next two days. "I cannot talk about the names – we have to discuss it with the HDZ president first", said Vinko Zoric, HDZ representative in the House of Representatives. Without one of its member, BiH Presidency cannot make any decision, nor it can sign international contracts.
HDZ leader Colak to talk to presidents of ruling parties about Covic replacement issue	Vecernji List, pg 3 'Plenary session of both chambers expected', by Miso Relota – VL reads that the HDZ insists that it will not appoint a person to replace Dragan Covic in the BiH Presidency until both chambers of the BiH Parliament have addressed the issue. In that context, VL says the HDZ Presidency has tasked the HDZ President, Barisa Colak, to carry out talks with presidents of parties that make the ruling majority.

DL on situation within HDZ, Jelavic factor in it	Dnevni List, pg 5 'Who will Jelavic support?', by Zvonimir Jukic – The article is dedicated to the situation within the HDZ ahead of the forthcoming HDZ convention scheduled for mid-May, when a new party president is to be elected. DL stresses there are several factions within the party, all wanting to obtain the power, such as former mayor of Mostar, Ivica Prskalo, who is counting on support of some HDZ members from Mostar. Saying that one should not rule Martin Raguz out, DL however says that Dragan Covic's faction is currently controlling the party and is likely to do so after the convention. This is backed up by frequent media reports that suggest that Covic is to become the new HDZ president. Finally, the author wonders whether Ante Jelavic, who is likely to be released from detention on May 19, can affect the course of the HDZ convention. Inset entitled 'Covic – chancellor of Mostar University' reads that some sources claim that Covic could soon become the chancellor of the University of Mostar and retire from politics.
NN op-ed: HDZ creating image of Covic as protector of Croat people	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'HDZ games' by Mirza Cubro – The author is critically writing about the HDZ activities aimed at creating the picture of Dragan Covic as protector of Croat people. He is critical of HDZ demand for discussion before BiH Parliament on decisions and powers of HR. He notes BiH Parliament has no constitutional authority to discuss these issues. Hence, he concludes the HDZ might be aware of this and the final goal of their campaign is to block the work of the BiH Presidency, which cannot hold sessions without one member.
BiH Presidency member Tihic meets with outgoing SDHR Wnendt: Calls for partnership relations between Balkans, EU	RHB, Dnevni Avaz pg 9 'EU should establish special partnership with Balkans countries', Oslobodjenje pg 4 'BiH needs assistance on its road to EU', Dnevni List pg 5 'BiH needs assistance of International Community' by NINA – Outgoing Senior Deputy High Representative Werner Wnendt said on Tuesday during talks with BiH Presidency member Sulejman Tihic that the European Union should establish special partnership relations with the region of the western Balkans because it is in its interest that those countries join the European Union. In that context, Wnendt notes that while there is a lot yet to be done in this city, he believes that all is going in right direction. Commenting the reform in intelligence sector, Wnendt commented that the BiH Intelligence Agency [OSA] is an agency in growth – trust must be built, professional work ensured, as well as its service to BiH and not again individuals, state of the international community. He concludes that the military structures n BiH will have its intelligence services as every military in the world, which will not act as the separate secret service but a part of the sector.

Cubro, Glas Srpske pg 3 'Traps for criminals' by Srna – Members of the European Union military forces (EUFOR) in Bosnia and Hercegovina and local police have so far carried out 41 joint operations in the fight against organized crime, which has resulted in the arrest of several dozen persons suspected of grave crimes, BiH's Security Minister Barisa Colak said in Sarajevo on Tuesday. The joint operations are the result of the changed mandate of the EUFOR which, unlike SFOR, whose mission ended in December 2004, has the authority to take measures in fighting grave crimes, especially organized crime, Colak said at a news conference held with the EUFOR commander, General David Leaky of Great Britain. The Bosnian police and the EU military forces have together arrested 27 wanted persons, including three persons suspected of war crimes. They have also arrested 44 persons later charged with various criminal acts, as well as more than 1,000 persons who committed petty offences. Colak cited last week's operation at a border crossing near the north-eastern town of Bijeljina, when a shipment of 27 kilograms of pure heroin was seized. General Leakey said the joint operations particularly referred to drug trafficking, oil smuggling, illegal tree-cutting and people trafficking. The US Agency for International Development (USAID) recently published a survey according to which the grey economy in Bosnia-Hercegovina yields an annual turnover of some 3 billion euros. Criminals earn some 45 million euros annually from prostitution alone.

Mandic claims he submitted to OHR documentation proving 100 mil KM spent on financing war criminals	Oslobodjenje cover splash, pgs 4-5 'More than 100 million KM spent in financing war criminals' by Vedrana Zivak – Infamous former RS Justice Minister, Momcilo Mandic, accused by the international community of financing PIFWCs at large, told daily on Tuesday he submitted OHR with the documentation on invasion of the Serbian payment operation system, thus proving 100 million KM was spent to finance war crimes suspects. Mandic did not want to specify as to who exactly was helping PIWFCs at large, but explained that he sent to OHR "a decision by the RS Government signed by Gojko Klinkovic to take the money in an amount equal to today's 100 million KM... from Serbia through Payment Bureau in Sokolac." Mandic denies playing any role in assisting Radovan Karadzic. "I can prove that foreigners invented post-war financial support of Karadzic... Karadzic ensured himself in 1996 and 1997 to be able now to enjoy freedom out of ICTY reach," claims Mandic. Asked about the IC's sanctions against him [accounts blocked, property frozen], Mandic explained he has nothing left in BiH accusing the Privredna Banka Srpsko Sarajevo Administration Toby Robinson of taking all his possession away from him, and of detaining his son. Commenting speculations that his son's release was conditioned with his surrender to BiH judiciary, Mandic said he has a proof in written that judiciary has tried to do this and underlined his lack of trust in judiciary which includes foreign judges and prosecutors.

It doesn't even cross my mind to investigate on whether Mr. Karadzic had taken the money or where he is at the moment, because I thinks there are enough of those who deal with it', Cenik said. Asked to say who is financing the RS Government's campaign on necessity of cooperation with ICTY and how much it costs, Minister Cenik said it would cost approximately 130,000 KM, RS Government would pay 30% of the sum and it is expected from international institutions to finance the other 70%.
SNSD's Dodik believes he will be acquitted	Oslobodjenje pg 3 'I believe in liberating verdict' by O. Vukovic – In a statement to daily, SNSD leader Milorad Dodik comments to the indictment which accuses him of misuse of office by saying he has trust in judiciary expressing belief that he will be liberated of all charges. However, Dodik says that the investigation has excluded a number of facts which would help him, such as the fact that 24 out of 28 accounts of indictment are about allocation of apartments and that almost all individuals mentioned have been cleared of those charges. Wondering how can be held responsible to the all these cases when a court has already determined that the legal procedure was carried out in most of these cases, Dodik says that the judiciary was obviously facing with pressure in his case [without specifying who was pressuring it] concluding that this is a political process against him.
