BiH House of Peoples passes laws paving way for domestic war crimes trials	Herceg Bosna Radio, BHT, FTV, RTRS, Oslobođenje pg 6 'Bigger authorities to the President of BiH Court', Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Conditions created for war crime trials in BiH, Nezavisne Novine, pg. 2 'Departments for war crimes were established at BiH Court and BiH Prosecutor's Office' by M. C., Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'Trials at home' by Srna, ONASA – The BiH House of Peoples passed on Thursday a set of laws from the field of judiciary which will create possibilities for processing of cases of war crimes before domestic courts but in different texts from those passed by the House of Representatives. A proposal for the law on amendments and addenda to the law on the BiH Court, a proposal for the law on transfer of cases from the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia (ICTY) to the BiH Prosecutor's Office and usage of ICTY evidence in cases before courts in BiH, as well as to a proposal for the law on amendments and addenda to the law on the BiH Prosecutor's Office were passed. The House of Representatives has urgently passed proposals for these laws, namely without amendments. The Constitutional-Legal Commission of the House of Peoples passed 12 amendments to a proposal for the law on amendments and addenda to the law on the BiH Court, six amendments to a proposal for the law on amendments and addenda to the law on the BiH Prosecutor's Office and two amendments to a proposal for the law on transfer of cases from the ICTY to the BiH Prosecutor's Office. These amendments were analysed by the Legal Department of the Office of the High Representative (OHR) and were estimated as acceptable. One of the amendments foresees the separation of the War Crimes Department from the Department for Organized Crime, Economic Crimes and Corruption and from the Department for Other Criminal Acts under the jurisdiction of the BiH Court. One of the essential changes in a proposal for the law on transfer of cases from the ICTY to the BiH Prosecutor's Office and usage of ICTY evidence in cases before courts in BiH was made by the adoption of the amendment related to the issue of a sentence that an accused person served in The Hague and of a detention that could be determined for that person after the transfer of a case to domestic judiciary. Dnevni List, pg 6 'Conditions for transferring of cases from The Hague have been made', mentioned on front, by D. Polovina-Mandic and Ivica Glibusic also reported on the adoption of the set of laws from the area of judiciary in the different text from those adopted by the BiH House of Representatives. Deputy Speaker of BiH HoP, Velimir Jukic, explains that the session was not supposed to address the issue of aforementioned laws, however following the talks with representatives of the OHR, "we felt that the process of adoption of these laws had to speed up maximally", said Jukic. In that context, DL notes that representatives of the HDZ had a meeting with representatives of the OHR before the yesterday's session of the BiH HoP, during which they discussed the aforementioned laws. HDZ representatives denied claims of the High Representative for BiH that the HDZ is obstructing the adoption of the laws that would establish the war crimes department with the BiH Court. Regarding the text of law that was adopted in the BiH HoP, Jukic notes: "I am convinced that the MPs in the House of Representatives are ready to adopt amendments of the House of Peoples because they are only improving the text.". Apparently, one of important changes stipulates the separation of the Department for war crimes at the BiH Court and BiH Prosecution from the Department for organized crimes and corruption. Also, the role of the President of BiH Court is enhanced in sense of having an insight into the work of the Court – he/she will be assigning cases to judges, and the registrar will be running the Registry Office, but in cooperation with the President of the BiH Court. Similar reports in Vecernji List, front pg splash 'War Crimes Court established', and pg 3 'Department for war crimes in BiH being established', by Eldina Medunjanin, Slobodna Dalmacija, back pg 'Trials to war criminals possible in BiH in the future', by B. Effectively this declaration will freeze the assets of the most notorious individuals indicted of war crimes and who remain at large including Radovan Karadzic, Ratko Mladic and Ante Gotovina in these states, OHR said in a press statements issued on Thursday. It is now up to the respective institutions and authorities in these sovereign states to find the mechanisms that will ensure that state policy fully supports and confirms the EU's common position, read the statement. "The European future of BiH depends on its willingness to co-operate with, support and uphold the ICTY. Given BiH's tragic past it is this country that has a special interest in promoting these measures. The OHR hopes that BiH's institutions will consider taking the lead in promoting innovative measures such as this in the future, by for example, extending this asset freeze to all those indicted of war crimes but who fail to turn themselves into the authorities," said the statement.
RS cooperation with ICTY	BHT, RTRS – RS Premier Dragan Mikerevic promised again progress in cooperation with the ICTY after new warnings delivered by the High Representative Paddy Ashdown including possible new sanctions. Day after Ashdown's statement, officials and Ambassadors of the USA, Russia, France and Ireland visited Banjaluka. The High Representative removed at the end of June 59 RS officials because lack of cooperation with the ICTY. Newly appointed RS Minister of Interior Darko Matijasevic stated on the occasion of taking over the duty that he is aware of the responsibility that lays ahead of him. Actions of arresting war criminals followed, but with no results. SNSD President Milorad Dodik said that Ashdown is obviously under pressure regarding this issue commenting on the High representative announcements of sanctions. "His mandate after second failure on the BiH road towards membership in the partnership for Peace. is in question. He will not get positive marks from many of the governments that he represents here. It has to be said that part of blame for failure goes to international community and OHR," stated Dodik.

Medunjanin and Dnevni List pg 4 'Municipalities and towns officially without prefix 'Serb' ' not signed– BiH Constitutional Court decision on temporary names for 13 RS towns and municipalities is in force as of Thursday, after it was published in the official gazette. Hercegovacka Bank case	FTV, RTRS, Nezavisne Novine, pg. 9 ‘Procedure against Ivica Karlovic was separated’ A. Durmo, Oslobodjenje pg 8, mentioned on cover ‘Ante Jelavic left alone on trial’, Dnevni Avaz pg 15, Dnevni List, pg 3 ‘Trials to Ante Jelavic only’, mentioned on front, by Erna Mackic, Vecernji List, pg 3 ‘Prosecutor announces new indictments’, by Dejan Jazvic, Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 7 ‘Jelavic’s defence makes prosecutor angry’, mentioned on front, by Z.L. – The BiH Court’s Panel of Judges decided to separate the trials to Ivica Karlovic in the Hercegovacka bank case following an initiative by Karlovic’s lawyer, Marko Martinovic, who was of opinion that the trials to his client could be over in two sessions and whose initiative was accepted by the Prosecutor in the case, John McNair. As for the trials to Ante Jelavic, second witness in the proceedings, namely Zlatko Bars, the Director of FBiH Banking Agency, was questioned yesterday (Thursday). Among other things, Bars noted that the Hercegovacka bank was established in 1997 with 10 million KMs of initial capital, whilst the only person who was contacting the Banking agency on behalf of the bank was Velimir Lovric. Bars also said that the Agency allowed the additional emission of stocks in 1999, the so-called recapitalization. Asked by Jelavic’s lawyer, Dragan Barbaric, whether the Hercegovacka bank ever put in jeopardy the market in FBiH, Bars said it had not. “The Banking Agency controlled the Hercegovacka bank and some flaws were identified. After that, the Agency issued orders to remove the flaws and everything was all right”, said Bars. VL notes that Prosecutor McNair announced that the BiH Prosecution was preparing new indictments, which will include Karlovic, and that there would be certain ‘overlapping’ in allegations against him. SD notes that questioning of Bars made Prosecutor McNair angry, especially when Bars noted that Jelavic had no role in establishing of the Hercegovacka bank and its recapitalization. Next session is scheduled for October 25.
VL says Christensen denies former HR Petritsch	Vecernji List, pg 4 ‘Petritsch fell for story on 50 secret sub-accounts’, mentioned on front ‘Fabricated reasons for shutting down of Hercegovacka bank’, by Zoran Kresic – The daily claims that “the leader of OHR’s special operation ‘Athens’”, Jaakko Christensen, denied claims outlined in the official decision of the then High Representative for BiH, Wolfgang Petritsch, dated on April 6, 2001, which was used to “forcibly destroy the Hercegovacka bank and big part of the Herzegovinian economy” and which stated that there were 50 secret sub-accounts that were used to transfer HVO’s money onto the HDZ and the so-called Croat self-rule. VL argues that the only issue that the Prosecution is clinging onto is the issue of recapitalization of the bank. VL notes that defence claims that Prosecutor McNair does not even know what the recapitalization represents.
McNair on Covic case	Nezavisne Novine, cover ‘Prosecutor John McNair on investigation against Dragan Covic: It is possible to have several indictments’ and pg. 3 ‘It is possible several indictments against Dragan Covic would be brought’ by A. He said he could give no details in regard to the investigations. According to unconfirmed information, Covic might face indictments for illegal privatisations of Mostar firm “Soko” and illegal privatisation of “Eronet”. Apart from this, the Prosecution is also investigating Covic’s role in “Croat self-rule”, “Hercegovacka Banka” case and several customs embezzlements while he was at the position of the Federation of BiH Minister of finances. NW inset ‘List of suspects’ carries a list of names of persons who are suspected of embezzlement of funds from the budget.

SB op-ed: How Prosecutor McNair has become the top star?!	Slobodna Bosna pgs 4&5 'How Prosecutor McNair has become the top star?!' op-ed by Senad Avdic – SB editorial reads that Head of the BiH Court's Special department for economic crime and corruption, John McNair, would certainly win any possible public survey on popularity of the personalities in the any sphere of life. Stating that Prosecutor McNair certainly has deserved such status, magazine stresses that in the past few months he "has become a certain symbol of justice and righteousness for local non-corrupted population, the last hope that local criminals, murders and mafia will finally be held accountable for their crimes." Author further points to McNair's determination to indicate and prosecute not 'small crooks' but to even detain the former or current highest-ranking politicians. "He is looked at by all those hoping that there is still hope for BiH to be transformed to a legal state," says author adding that this is a big burden for one man to stand, however concluding that the judiciary is no-exist situation as it is ruled by corrupted, non-qualified and/or politically bias officials. Author also adds that the truth is that the quality of McNair's work has yet to be proven – stating that one cannot still estimate whether some decisions of the show his authority to be strengthened or weakened. "You will not find the answer here. However, here it can be concluded that the work of BiH Court and BiH Prosecution to date has produced [so precious] psychological effect: it has been showed that nobody can run away from justice!"
On abolishment of immunity to high-ranked officials	Slobodna Dalmacija pg 7 'Bills of indictment against Covic and Lijanovic as early as next month?', mentioned on cover, by Z. Tulic – SD says that processes against Croat member of the BiH Presidency Dragan Covic, former FBiH Prime Minister Edhem Bicakcic and former Minister of Welfare Sulejman Garib might start before the BiH Court as early as next month and Sarajevo Canton Prosecutor Branko Sljivar confirmed for SD that Prosecutor John McNair has already taken over court material for these cases. SD goes on to say that it was also confirmed from the Cantonal Prosecutor's Office in Mostar that they handed over to the McNair's Department the documents on many cases such as privatization of 'Soko' company, Eronet, tax evasion in 'Lijanovici' company etc. The author stresses that all these cases have been processed before the Cantonal Courts, however, everything has changed when it was approved to the McNair's department to take over processes from local courts without the approval of the BiH Court. SD also says that High Representative Paddy Ashdown has already passed the decision on abolishment of political immunity to high-ranked officials including Bicakcic and Covic, however, the demand for judging of such decision was submitted to the BiH Constitutional Court , which will decide on constitutionality of the HR's decision on October 30. SD also says that McNair is waiting for this decision and then he will decide on issuing of bills of indictment.

SB interview with Dragan Covic on accusations against him	Slobodna Bosna pgs 32-35 ‘Bicakcic and I integrated Federation: Perhaps there was a bit of crime in that!’, mentioned on cover ‘Dragan Covic: I am sure I will not got to jail’, by Senad Avdic – SB brings an interview with member of BiH Presidency, Dragan Covic, following the media speculations that charges will be raised against him soon by Prosecutor John McNair. Commenting to the speculations that he will be removed from the Presidency’ soon, Covic says he believes that he will stay on the position until the end of this mandate and “that there are no chances to see a single indictment raised” against him. On Hercegovacka Bank process, Covic denies any involvement and says it would be an absurd to process him for receiving a present from a private company [commenting to Miroslav Rupcic’s plead of guilt to the charge that he gave Covic 50.000 KM worth car as a gift]. As for accusations related to privatization of Soko company, Covic comments that if there is a single privatization carried out in FBiH in absolutely legal way, it is Soko’s at the time he was director. He also denies accusations of financial frauds of exempting some meat importers from taxes at the time of being FBiH Financial Minister, involvement in hundreds of millions KM worth misuses through FBiH Employment Bureau, illegal privatization of Eronet, etc. As for the Croat Self-Rule case, Covic says he would not be surprised to be charged if one sees ‘a manner these charges are being brought.’
SB interview with Edhem Bicakcic on accusations against him	Slobodna Bosna pgs 36-39 ‘Radoncic is not Avaz’s owner: He is just one of owners, former Lords of money which arrived to BiH?’ by Adnan Burutovic, Mirsad Fazlic – SB also brings an interview with former FBiH Prime Minister Edhem Bicakcic, banned from political life by decision of former High Representative, and also one of the most mentioned personalities to be possibly charged by Prosecutor John McNair. He denies accusations of misusing funds together with Dragan Covic to purchase shares of Seh-in Bank, and misuse of 2.5 million KM transferred from BiH Embassy in Vienna to FBiH Government. As for relation to IC, Bicakcic says that at time of his term “there was a breakdown of nationalist policies in Croatia and Yugoslavia, and only nationalists authorities left were in Bosnia. To breakdown the nationalists parties, the IC used all means, concentrating to bring SDA down from power. As I was the protagonist of that politics, IC which supported me four years earlier [note: when he was appointed] started to mind my presence. That was the essence of political conflict in which dirty media campaign was launched against me” [note: Bicakcic refers to Dnevni Avaz.] He also says that SDA has not supported him at all in 2000 and that he lived through incredible pressures of being accused for all sorts of crimes all presented in Dnevni Avaz. Asked to is the owners of Dnevni Avaz newspaper, Bicakcic responds that Fahrudin Radoncic is one of them, adding that if he knew who were the others many things would be much clearer to him. He concludes commenting to current situation in SDA: “In SDA’s top everybody cares for themselves and their own interests.”
SD on possible verdicts against Kordic and Cerkez	Slobodna Dalmacija cover pg splash and pg 7 ‘Cerkez to be released before Christmas?’ by Z. Cilic –SD says that although it has not been officially announced yet, verdicts to ICTY indicttees Dario Kordic and Mario Cerkez, who have been charged with war crimes committed over Bosniaks in the Central Bosnia in 1993, will be published in mid December. SD goes on to say that it is very hard to predict the sentence that will be pronounced against Kordic having in mind the fact that he was one of leading, Croat, political figures during the war. On the other hand, SD says that most probably Cerkez will be released since he as a Commander of an HVO unit was implementing decisions of Croat General Tihomir Blaskic who was sentenced to 9 years and his responsibility was much smaller than Blaskic’s.

Audit into FBiH Pension-Disability Fund detects irregularities	Dnevni List, pg 8 'Auditors cite regulations as failures', by Anja Vrebac – The Office for audit of FBiH budget has carried out an audit into operations of the FBiH Pension-Disability Fund for the past two years and has detected a series of irregularities. The Chairman of the Fund's Steering Board, Nadir Kovacevic, says the Steering Board has decided, after reviewing the audit report, that measures that should eradicate failures should be determined i.e. that measures that the Office for audit has proposed should be implemented. Kovacevic also notes that some failures have already been eliminated, however a lot of work remains to be done. Furthermore, Kovacevic argues that the Fund cannot prevent enactment of rules and regulations that could have a negative influence on the Fund's operations, since the audit report labels it as a failure. Finally, Kovacevic says the biggest problem is related to establishment of a single IT system.

New session is scheduled for October 26, when the Commission should prepare its report. Apparently, at the yesterday's session, which was attended by Chairman of BiH Council of Ministers, Adnan Terzic, and BiH Finance Minister, Ljerka Maric, an initiative to have one single VAT rate set at 17% was launched again. Commenting on the issue, a member of the Commission, Zlatko Lagumdzija, said that the darkest fears from pre-election period, that the BiH CoM, the IC and domestic authorities will wait for local elections to be over and then re-introduce a single VAT rate, have come to life. "It means that the single rate set at 17% will be applied on bread, milk, medicines, newspapers, textbooks, which were supposed to be taxed at zero percent rate", claims Lagumdzija. Moreover, a letter signed by the Chairman of ITA (Indirect Tax Authority) Steering Board, Joly Dixon, was handed over at the start of the session, in which Dixon proposed that the law on VAT be withdrawn from the parliamentary procedure in order for the Steering Board to discuss worries that have been expressed by the MPs and the public. On top of it, Dixon claims that the advantages of the VAT reform will be put in jeopardy is case the VAT law is complicated from the start with introduction of several rates. NN op-ed: Obstructionists – favourites of the international community	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 ‘Obstructionists – favourites of the international community’ by Mirza Cubro – The author starts the article by saying that although Paddy Ashdown, High Representative, has been, in various time frames, critical of three nationalistic parties in BiH (accusing them of obstruction of processes of extreme importance for BiH), he has not done anything apart from this. The author notes that nationalistic parties are actually the favourite parties of Ashdown. The author further brings examples of Almir Dzuvo and Radomir Njegus. Furthermore, Cubro stresses: “If the international community cares to see BiH as a safe state grounded on democratic principles, the door should then open before those people, IC cannot say what to do, instead of blackmailed heads of politicians. If they cared – but everything points at the fact that various international factors have no intention to carrying out thorough and true reforms.”
