Cardzic – In a statement given to the daily on Tuesday, SNSD leader Milorad Dodik says the essence of the agreement reached amongst the RS political parties' representatives at the Monday's meeting at RS President's office is not exactly as presented by Dragan Cavic. "It is obvious that (BiH CoM Chairman Adnan) Terzic has not been informed about the conclusions made at the meeting. He should otherwise be a little bit more concerned about it, since if anything was agreed at the meeting it was for sure about a full agreement that it is not possible to talk about any consolidation of the BiH CoM as long as the body is chaired by Terzic i.e. SDA," said Dodik adding that it was about clear position of all BiH CoM members coming from RS.

In response to the question how will this reflect on the overall situation in BiH, US Ambassador says: "The people from the RS Government should declare on the matter. I consider as very positive that some people are speaking on the need to resume cooperation with the Hague. According to the Dayton Accords, this cooperation is the most important issue for us. If the recent measures help to improve the cooperation of the authorities both with us and the tribunal, then I think the situation will be positive for the entire country because it will eliminate enormous burden carried by BiH citizens." On the current situation he expresses hope that the authorities at all levels in BiH will manage to overcome the present problems and return to resolving of real problems as soon as possible. As a comment to Knauss statement, Mikes says BiH had become a semi-protectorate a long time ago. 'It has really turned into a protectorate by the latest decisions of Paddy Ashdown, however the international community does not want to admit it because, in that case, it would have to take some obligations for BiH', Mikes says. Nevenka Trifkovic (PDP) claims HR Ashdown had, instead of introducing positive processes in BiH, turned BiH three steps backwards. Branislav Lolic (SNS) says there are always certain pressures in politics and international relations, but responsible and serious politicians and diplomats should not give in to these pressures. DL op-ed on political crisis	Dnevni List pg 2 'BiH without diplomacy' by D. Polovina-Mandic carries an editorial on the crisis in the RS and the author says that although Chairman of the BiH Council of Ministers Adnan Terzic claims that calling of early elections only would cause the real crisis, the fact is that the BiH CoM will not have quorum for passing of any decision until the current situation is resolved. The author also argues that if Serb representatives had been more consistent in their stands they would have withdrawn from all positions and then, perhaps, the HR would have realized that he cannot pass decisions and make big changes outside BiH institutions and on the other hand the way for some new and more capable forces would have been opened.
NN op-ed on HR	Nezavisne Novine op-ed pg 7 'Ashdown as PM-designate!' by Aleksandar Sekulic – The author claims that the intention of Paddy Ashdown to completely devastate RS by delivering it demands nobody, including NATO, has ever imposed against it, has surfaced lately. The author is critical of HR, saying that he has turned from the interpreter of the DA into its most severest violator. The author further stresses that owing to his fear that RS might strengthen its position through appointment of Milorad Dodik as RS PM, HR is behind the latest lawsuit against Dodik, along with some SDS officials.
