BiH Council of Ministers agreed on principles for the third GSM licence issuance

Oslobodjenje pg. 8 'Four disputed principles for new GSM licence', Dnevni Avaz pg. 2 'Principles agreed for issuance of the third GSM licence' –

The BiH Council of Ministers (CoM) adopted on Wednesday the report on the situation in the telecommunications sector in light of the third GSM licence issuance, which was prepared by the BiH Communications and Traffic Ministry. The decision on conditions for issuing the third GSM licence is based on four key principles. It states the need for fulfilling competitive equality and economic value of all other operators in the telecommunications sector, preservation of the stability of the telecommunications system in preparation for the privatisation and a fair and economically justifiable valorisation of compensation for the third GSM licence at the communications market in BiH. The fourth principle calls for support for independent work and activities of the Communications Regulatory Agency (CRA), without any pressures or influences in the field of communications, and especially in implementing decisions of the BiH Council of Ministers on issuing the third GSM licence.

Vecernji List (page 5, by EME, "Decision on issuing of third GSM license by end of June") and Dnevni List (front and page 3, by M. Relota, "4 crucial principles for issuing of third GSM license"), Nezavisne Novine, page 7, 'Four criteria for allocation of GSM licence adopted'; Glas Srpske, page 3, 'Licence to EroNet' also reported on the issue.

FBiH Government ready for dialogue with Trade Unions	Oslobodjenje from page, pg. 6 'Premier Hadzipasic does not accept ultimatums', Dnevni Avaz pg. 11 'Hadzipasic does not give up reduction of salaries in BH Telecom' – The FBiH Government seriously intends to work with the trade unions as a partner in resolving the problems of economic revitalization, employment as well as social issues, said the FBiH Prime Minister, Ahmet Hadzipasic, during the meeting of FBiH Government with the BiH Trade Unions Association leadership held in the Trade Union Building in Sarajevo. According to Hadzipasic, the Government will not agree with any ultimatums, but it will be ready for open talks aimed at resolving all the disputed issues. "The Government does not print money or take the role of managers that need to employ workers, modernise technology and run fabrics", said Hadzipasic, and added that in three months the current government has managed to unblock privatisation, revision and arbitration and propose the laws on bankruptcy and liquidation that will show which companies are productive and profitable. President of BiH Union Edhem Biber said this meeting was organised to seek solutions for certain problems, adding that there is still a great number of unemployed workers in the Federation, that there is no qualitative social programmes and that the workers are still without the right to health protection and possibility for retirement. Dnevni List (page 5, by Ivica Glibusic, "Hadzipasic: I will persist in reduction of salaries in BiH Telecom") and Slobodna Dalmacija (last page, by D.P., "Hadzipasic: Amount of salary is impermissible") also covered the issue also quoting Hadzipasic as saying that he would persist in reduction of the salaries in BiH Telecom saying that it is inappropriate that an average salary in this company amounts to 1230 KMs.

BiH-IC relations
Humphreys: BiH must decide which path to take	Dnevni Avaz pg. 3 'A difficult decision for BiH' – The Head of the European Commission Delegation to BiH, Ambassador Michael Humphreys, stated that one should not expect an immediate action of the European Union towards BiH due to the decision of BiH authorities to sign with the United States the agreement on exclusion of American citizens from extradition to the International Criminal Court. At press conference held Wednesday Ambassador Humphreys said that the EU waits to see weather the BiH State Parliament would ratify the agreement with the United States. He admitted that BiH was facing a difficult decision and, as he said, although it invested much negotiating effort, the country failed to fulfill all the EU guidelines. "It is not our role to force BiH on certain acts. However, BiH must decide which path it wishes to take. If it wishes to take the path of European integration than it must show this by action, and not only words", said the Head of EC Delegation to BiH. The Irish diplomat reminded that not a single EU participating country or a country that will become a member of the Union next year, has signed such an agreement with the United States. Of the countries that participate in the "Stabilisation and Association Programme" only Romania has signed the agreement, but has not yet ratified it. Nezavisne Novine, pages 1 & 3, 'There will be no measures against BiH over the agreement with USA for the time being' – Michael Humphries, Head of EC in BiH, said in an interview for the newspaper that for the time being, the European Union will not be undertaking any measures against BiH, following its signing of the agreement with the USA. However, EU will closely monitor the process of ratification of the agreement at the BiH Parliamentary Assembly. According to Humphries, in spite of all the efforts placed in this matter, BiH authorities failed to fully comply with EU directives. Vecernji List page 2, by D. Jazvic, "Intensive cooperation and faster spreading of EU" also carried the statement.

BiH deal with US on ICC exemption will not block EU road – BiH Deputy Foreign Minister	Oslobodjenje pg. 7 'Eight out of nine EU instructions fulfilled', Dnevni Avaz pg. 4 'BiH is the only country which has put 8 EU instructions in the agreement' -"The reactions from the EU addressed to the BiH Foreign Ministry after BiH's signing of an agreement on exemption of US citizens from the jurisdiction of International Criminal Court (ICC) do not carry the same critical tone as those addressed to Albania," BiH Deputy Foreign Minister Lidija Topic said on Wednesday. "The EU has recognized our need to sign the agreement and our efforts to follow EU guidelines," Topic said at a news conference in Sarajevo and expressed hope that the agreement would not slow down the process of European integration for BiH. With that goal in mind, Topic added, the BiH Foreign Ministry will continue to with active lobbying in European institutions. Out of the nine European guidelines for states aspiring to join the EU, in whose interest it is also to meet the US request for signing of this agreement, BiH has failed to meet only one, which refers to exemption of solely American citizens serving in official missions in BiH. The signed agreement stipulates exemption of all American citizens and everyone serving in the US army, which practically includes other citizens as well. "According to US laws, non-US citizens can also serve the army and we could not intervene or change anything in this respect," Topic said. The remaining eight guidelines have been met, including the one which eliminates exemption from ICC jurisdiction, but retains the provision on the obligation to try persons before national courts. That means that the US judiciary still has the obligation to try its citizens, and there is also a possibility of trying them before BiH courts, unless the US citizens in question enjoy immunity on different grounds. The American side agreed on the provision that the BiH Parliamentary Assembly must ratify the agreement in order to make it valid and the provision that each side retains the right to unilateral renunciation of the agreement, which is one of the key guidelines of the EU. BiH's obligation towards other, non-signatory states to allow transit through its territory for persons extradited to the ICC has not been breached. Topic added that it is in BiH's interest to continue to receive US aid and enjoy the presence of its troops, as well as prepare for membership in the Partnership for Peace and the EU. The text of the agreement, which was signed on May 16 by Justice Minister Slobodan Kovac and US Ambassador Clifford Bond, is pending submission into parliamentary procedure. Vecernji List (page 3, by E. Me., "Eight out of nine EU directions"), Dnevni List (page 4, unsigned, "BiH does not expect worsening of relations with European Union"), Blic pg. 7 'Concession to Americans' also carried Topic's statement. Vecernji List (page 3, by Z. Kresic, "EU forgives BiH after all") reads that instead of condemnations and eventually sanctions, the EU has accepted the signing of a bilateral agreement on non-extradition of US citizens to ICC with a lot of understanding. In that context, VL reports that the ambassadors of EU members in BiH conveyed the concern of the EU to members of the BiH Presidency, but also showed personal understanding for the "case of BiH". The message that the ambassadors delivered at the end of the meeting, reports VL, was that the EU has certain rules of "behaviour" that candidates for accession to the EU has to abide by. In the same time, members of the BiH Presidency told the ambassadors they were ready to continue with reforms and accept EU standards, however they stressed the need to the American stay in the Balkans. On the same issue Slobodna Dalmacija (front and page 17, by Zlatko Tulic, "BiH is closing door of Europe to itself?") carries that in spite of the warning coming from Brussels Sarajevo is ready to sign the aforementioned agreement with the USA. SD carries BiH Minister of Security Barisa Colak as saying: "I am convinced that the agreement will be ratified and we shall have to have talks with EU as soon as possible so that this act does not make our further way towards Europe harder."

The document will be sent to the EU Ministerial Council and European Parliament for consideration. Mladen Ivanic

With regard to the statement of Serbian Prime Minister, Zoran Zivkovic, in which he raised the issue of BiH territorial integrity, Ivanic says: "The BiH Ministry of Foreign Affairs protested because Zivkovic's statement indirectly connected the status of Kosovo with the status of BiH. We did not send a protest note to Belgrade because the statement was not the way it was presented...Zivkovic did not talk about division of BiH, he did not mention annexation to his country etc."

With regard to the speculations of the Sarajevo based media saying that, allegedly, Belgrade is willing to support the abolishment of the RS if BiH gives up a lawsuit against Yugoslavia, Ivanic says: "The RS is a constitutional category and none in Belgrade will be able to trade with it. I hope that I will hear this from Bosniak politicians too some day."

Reactions to Paravac's statement	Vecernje Novosti pg. 4 'Republika Srpska has not been created by Serbia' – BiH officials has reacted on Chairman of BiH Presidency Borislav Paravac's statement that the Republika Srpska has not been created by Serbia and Montenegro, but it was created in a civil war and represents an expression of the will of the Serb people in BiH. Vice-president of the SDA Elmir Jahic claims that one of the proofs that Serbia and Montenegro was actively engaged in aggression is Slobodan Milosevic's signature on the DPA. Member of the Party for BiH Beriz Belkic thinks that with such statements Paravac damages his own people. President of the SDU Miro Lazovic says that Paravac as a member of BiH Presidency should develop unity and work on strengthening the state institutions, and not to create a mythical consciousness and give statements that keep Serbs in isolation. DL's editorial on
HR Ashdown

Dnevni List (page 6, by Bakir Hadziomerovic, "Paddy, then and now") carries an editorial in which the author says the High Representative for BiH, Paddy Ashdown, upon his arrival to BiH, was perceived by the BiH public as a brave and consistent politician who understands and knows recent events in the region, or in a nutshell, as the author puts it, "an ideal solution for many problems because of which BiH citizens who care to live in a normal and democratic state adopted him without a reservation". Hadziomerovic goes on to say that the change in the path of "our lord" happened after the elections when HR Ashdown, according to the author, caused disbelief among progressive forces with his initial comments of good election results by SDA-HDZ-SDS on basis of which the OHR prepared a media strategy on accepting "the new reality in BiH". "It would be wrong to accuse Ashdown for the fact that the people in this country changed some sort of European future of BiH for the nationalistic miserable existence, but one has to establish it was exactly Ashdown who offered enough reasons because of which the nationalistic coalition partners took over the authority again. By aggressively favouring 'the new reality', Ashdown ruled out any possibility of forming of authority without an SDA-HDZ-SDS coalition in which he was helped by the permanently ruling PDP and Party for BiH", says Hadziomerovic. The author adds that Ashdown's decision to side with the nationalists was also influenced by a defeat of "his only true favourite" Haris Silajdzic, who was then defeated by the then underdog Sulejman Tihic.
