Inset entitled 'Even the state top is responsible' carries a member of SNSD Executive Board, Nikola Spiric, as saying that the problem lies in the fact that BiH authorities are not doing their job. Spiric says it is impermissible that the SBS has no leadership after all the funds have been invested into the SBS, pointing the finger at the BiH Council of Ministers and BiH Presidency. Another inset entitled 'Establish facts' carries the President of HDZ Caucus in FBiH Parliament, Josip Merdzo, as saying that many things are being politicized in BiH, even those that should not be politicized. guilty before the ICTY for the crime,

executing those Bosniaks and Croats,
but only Mrdja was indicted so far. “I participated in killing those innocent people. I’m truly sorry, and I want to apologize to all the victims and their families”, stated Mrdja before the Hague Tribunal. Other persons who are responsible for the crime on Koricanske Stijene should be processed
in BiH, but so far there were no indications that it is really going to happen.

DA int with Ashdown: Only
whole BiH can
enter EU

Dnevni Avaz pg 5 'Only entire BiH can enter EU', mentioned on cover 'I don't believe that the meeting in Mostar will take only one day' by Sead Numanovic – In an interview to DA, the HR Paddy Ashdown denies report by Nezavine novine [Saturday, 20 August] according to which he warned SDS officials that EU would consider accepting BiH without RS if police reform fails, whereas RS could become an isolated part of Cyprus: "I have never even thought of Cyprus model for BiH's admittance to EU. BiH is one state, and as such it will join EU." He further underlines it is necessary to achieve some progress on police reform at tomorrow's meeting in Mostar. "I don't believe the meeting can end in one day," HR added. Ashdown stressed there was no change in policy on entities' MoIs: "Some phases are possible in the course of reform implementation, but it is clear the state will have exclusive competencies over police." The HR also underlined that all sides must realize that if they obstruct the process, measures will follow: "If some Bosniak politicians still desire to play their games when it comes to appointment of directors of the BiH security agencies... than I don't have a choice but to be very thought. Same thing goes for HDZ which tries to use law for its political goals, like the Law on pardoning. Also, if SDS – which makes up RS Government – continues to isolate that entity from rest of the Balkans..., they will have to pay for that." Ashdown at the end strongly criticised "irresponsible statements" by some politicians who used the murder of SBS officer near Cajnice to destabilize other reforms, calling such politicians "pathetic".

DL on police reform: It is safe to say Mostar meeting will not produce results	Dnevni List, pg 5 ‘Serbs do not give up their requests’, by Dario Pusic – Prior to tomorrow’s continuation of talks on police reform in Mostar, the author argues it is safe to say that a solution will not be found because the RS representatives will not be giving up their positions even after the last warning coming from the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown. In that context, DL carries a member of the SDS Main Board and president of SDS Caucus in BiH Parliament, Momcilo Novakovic, who confirmed that senior SDS officials talked to the HR at Jahorina last Thursday, and that topics of the meeting included reforms to defence and police. “What I have to say is that there were no threats or warnings”, said Novakovic. He also notes that there is enough width in the EC’s principles to reach a quality solution, and Novakovic believes that a solution will be indeed reached.
SDS source: Bukejlovic walked out from Jahorina meeting over dispute with Cavic	Nezavisne Novine pg 3, announced on cover ‘Bukejlovic and Cavic got into an argument over different stances on police reform’ by V. Popovic – A high official of SDS, who attended the most recent Jahorina meeting, claims RS PM Pero Bukejlovic had walked out from the meeting after he got in a conflict with RS President Dragan Cavic, whom he had accused of having agreed on the possibility of crossing inter-entity boundary lines by the police with HR Paddy Ashdown and, by doing so, he had failed to respect RS NA conclusions. The source further claims ‘RS Government, with Bukejlovic at the head, does not accept the concept Cavic had agreed upon with Ashdown. Therefore, it is not excluded Bukejlovic would be removed from the executive authority’.

Tokic: Cypriot model in BiH undermines BiH's territorial integrity	FTV, Dnevni List, pg 3 'Endangering of territorial integrity of BiH', not signed, Oslobodjenje pg 2 'HR advocates dividing BiH' – The President of SDU, Sejfudin Tokic, assessed the possibility to apply the Cypriot model in BiH and accept only the FBiH, not the RS, to the EU, as the gravest disruption of BiH's territorial integrity and constitutional order. Tokic made the assessment after the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown's, statement on only one part of BiH (FBiH) joining the EU, without the RS. Tokic says that Ashdown should be punishing politicians and national oligarchies because the reforms are late, noting that the HR's behaviour reminds of political activities of Lord David Owen from the times of aggression on BiH saying that HR Ashdown advocates division of BiH.
Ashdown: After police reform, priority lobbying for visa regimes abolishment	Dnevni Avaz pg 5 'I am starting action to abolish visas' not signed – Asked what would be his priority if the police reform is agreed, the HR Paddy Ashdown says: "As soon as BiH gets green light to launch negotiations on Stabilisation and Accession Agreement with EU I will launch an action of lobbying for abolishment of visa regime. I think that PM Adnan Terzic will join me in that mission." Ashdown adds he would travel in European capitals to lobby for this, however strongly underlines all this is impossible without an agreement on police reform.

VL interview: Lozancic on pardoning Prce, pardon was legal	Vecernji List, pg 7, mentioned on front ‘Lozancic: Nobody will be above the law’, by Zoran Kresic – Carries a lengthy interview with the FBiH President, Niko Lozancic, in which he mostly talks about the recent decision to pardon the former FBiH Defence Minister, Miroslav Prce. Lozancic insists that the decision abided by the laws and regulations and that the procedure was carried out accordingly. President Lozancic also says that he explained everything to the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, in a letter that was sent the other day. Asked by the journalist to comment on the OHR’s statement that the time of such decisions and politicians is over, “probably thinking about you”, commented the journalist, Lozancic noted that the time of those who are above the law in running out.
DL interview: Lovrinovic says education reform unclear, BiH experts should be included	Dnevni List, pgs 8-9, mentioned on front ‘BiH needs its own education system’, by Ivica Glibusic – Carries a lengthy interview with Nikola Lovrinovic, a recently removed Education Minister of Central Bosnia Canton (removed by HR Ashdown). Lovrinovic argues that the whole education reform in BiH is unclear, namely who is running the reform, what is the aim of the reform and loads of other issues that need sorting out. Lovrinovic is of opinion that BiH experts should be more involved in the process and create an education system that will be custom made for BiH, given the country’s features and the fact that there are three constituent peoples in it.

Dokic replies to Terzic, claims he had removed Bajrambasic because other Vc corridor project managers have asked him to do so	Nezavisne Novine pg 4 'He removed Bajrambasic because project managers had asked for it' announced on cover 'He removed Bajrambasic because four project managers had asked for it' by V. Popovic and M. Cubro – Outgoing BiH Minister of Traffic and Communications Branko Dokic replied to CoM Chairman he had removed Izet Bajrambasic from the position of the Coordinator of Vc corridor project because the project managers had asked him to do so. A source close to CoM Chairman claims Dokic was trying to ensure his advisor Bozo Blagojevic to overtake leading of this project. Dokic, on the other hand, denies such claims and says other project managers had asked for the removal because Bajrambasic did not fit in teamwork, therefore he claims he was trying to protect interests of the project.
VL on current political picture of Gornji Vakuf-Uskoplje	Vecernji List, pg 9 'People of Uskoplje are hostages of political crisis', by Vesna Leto – Features a story on the current political situation in Gornji Vakuf-Uskoplje, claiming that the 'marriage' between the two separate administrations (Croat and Bosniak one), which was formed under auspices of the OHR, has collapsed. According to the president of local HDZ, Zrinko Topic, the key is the issue of outvoting, and Topic claims that the HDZ will never agree to the concept of state of citizens, a requested by the Bosniaks, not in the state of three peoples in which the three peoples are equal in the Constitution. VL also notes that the municipality is yet to adopt the 2005 budget and on top of this, the Head of Municipality, Vahid Busatlic (SDA), resigned from the post.

VL op-ed on
future of BiH
Croats

Vecernji List, pg 8 'Is Croat ship in BiH sinking?', by Friar Iko Skoko – Following the statement by Cardinal Vinko Puljic that the number of BiH Croats (Catholics) has halved from the pre-war figures, friar Skoko says it is high time Croats did something to stop the negative trend. Skoko notes that if some political circles want to have less Croats in BiH, the Croats should not be helping them.
