gather intelligence

on front 'German soldiers in BiH presented themselves as journalists', by H – The German soldiers in BiH posed as journalists in order to obtain information on persons who are suspected of being linked with terrorism, German TV station ARD reported on Thursday. According to the in the mission in BiH in 2003 presented themselves as journalists to the family the attacks on the embassies of western countries in Sarajevo, Bensajah Belkacem, and used the information they collected during the "interview" for intelligence purposes. Belkacem, who is detained at U.S. camp Guantanamo since 2001, is held accountable by the United States for preparing the attacks on the U.S. and British embassies in Sarajevo together with another five alleged members of Al Qa'ida. The German Association of Journalists (DJV) reacted sharply to the news on the alleged abuse of the journalist profession. "If the soldiers posed as journalists, they did not only violate the Bundeswehr procedures, but they have also jeopardized the security of journalists in war areas", said DJV President Michael Konken.

CSS interview for SB: I was nominated for HR by German
Chancellor
Angela Merkel

Slobodna Bosna, pgs 30-34 'I was nominated for this duty by German Chancellor Angela Merkel', by Snjezana Mulic – carries an interview with the next High Representative for BiH, Christian Schwarz-Schilling, in which he notes that the German Chancellor, Angela Merkel, contributed a lot for his candidacy by nominating him for the post, however Schwarz-Schilling underlines that he lobbied for himself in world capitol cities where he presented his vision of the future role of the HR. Asked to present his future concept of work, Schwarz-Schilling says he is at the moment reluctant to do so because he plans to do it on February 1, 2006, when he is to take over the office in Sarajevo. Asked to comment on the constitutional changes, he argues it is not the issue whether the BiH Constitution needs changing, it is more of an issue how much the Constitution contributes to BiH becoming a part of the EU. "What the new constitution will look like, we shall see, but more changes reached by consensus means, it will be better for BiH", says CSS. Questioned whether he will request the abolishment of the three ruling 'nationalistic parties', CSS says if parties work in accordance with democratic principles, they should not be abolished, adding that according to information at his disposal, there are no reasons to abolish any party. "However, now I will be 'on the spot', I'll have direct information and will know how parties work and whether certain interventions are necessary", added CSS. Finally, CSS denies he will be doing the HR's job as a volunteer, saying he had been working for 10 years as a volunteer when he was the mediator for BiH. Inset 'People who claim that genocide was not committed in BiH are dangerous' carries CSS as saying that a genocide was committed in BiH and that people who claim the opposite are dangerous and are trying to change the history. On arrest of Karadzic and Mladic, inset 'EU must not blackmail BiH over Karadzic and Mladic' carries CSS as saying that it would be unfair if BiH was given a condition to arrest the two prior to joining the EU, claiming it is the task for all authorities of BiH, SCG and foreign intelligence.

When asked how long could this phase of negotiations last, Ambassador McElhaney said that politicians have set the deadline alone and that is March of the next year.
