BiH HoR Deputy
Chair Spiric
invited Serb
representatives
to boycott work
of HoR

BH Radio 1 by Mirsad Bajtarevic –

Following the meeting with the RS PM
Milorad Dodik and Chair of RS Association of missing persons from Eastern Sarajevo, Mirjana Simanic, Deputy Chair of BiH HoR
Nikola Spiric has invited the RS representatives in the HoR to walk out of the session on Wednesday after the plenary session and to boycott the work of the House until the Commission for sufferings of Sarajevo Serbs, Croats, Jews, Bosniaks
and others is established by the Council of Ministers. Spiric stated tension around this issue rose with a reason, considering that the establishment was ordered by the BiH Parliament in January 24, 2004 and the CoM Chair Adnan Terzic doesn't obey this instruction. Dodik said that establishment of the Commission is essential for establishment of the truth, without which there is no progress. *"Sarajevo has a special significance for BiH.
Persistently, it is being presented as city of tolerance, of multiethnic
character and this is a serious opportunity for that claim to be put to the trial"* said Dodik.

Republican Referendum Commission announced that 55.4% voted for the sovereign state, while the election turnout was 86.3%. The head of the pro-independence bloc, Montenegrin PM Milo Djukanovic announced victory two hours after midnight on Sunday; he emphasized Montenegro would now become an independent and sovereign state 'with no bloodshed, or any violence for that matter', in a completely democratic manner, with the full respect of the strictest rules Europe has ever applied. On the other hand, Bloc in favour of preserving the union with Serbia deems it is too early to celebrate: they welcomed the fact that the referendum went without incidents but noted the results were announced too early. Republican Referendum Commission confirmed no major problems occurred; international monitoring mechanisms congratulated citizens on successful referendum. "The referendum was conducted in line with OSCE, Council of Europe's and other international [election] standards," stated Nevzat Yalcintas, Head of OSCE monitoring team in Montenegro. We don’t have all the information as yet, but it seems that entire process took place without any incidents. It is without a doubt a sign of maturity and responsibility of Montenegrin citizens”, stated EU High Representative for the Common Foreign and Security Policy Javier Solana. EU and NATO have already announced that the outcome on referendum in Montenegro will have no effect on other countries in region: BiH, and especially the future of Kosovo. “We should not compare the processes on the Western Balkans. NGO Serb People's Movement 'Choice is ours' organized signing petition for secession of RS from BiH in Prijedor on Monday	Oslobodjenje pg 3 'Call for secession from BiH' by B.Ka, EuroBlic pg RS2 'Petition for separation' by G. S., Glas Srpske pg 5 'Signatures for separation' by P. S., – NGO Serb People's Movement 'Choice is ours' organized signing petition for secession of RS from BiH in Prijedor on Monday. Prior to this, the NGO organized similar events in Doboj, Bijeljina and Gradiska. NGO's President Dane Cankovic said: "it is a time for RS to create independent state... for if certain national minorities like Albanians can do it in Serbia, why we cannot do it, because BiH Serbs are constitutive people that has right to decide on its destiny." Vecernji List pg 4 'Referendum for secession of RS possible' by B. Rogic – Chairman of Serb movement of non-government organizations 'SPONA', Branislav Dukic announced that they would demand from the International Community to organize in the RS a referendum on secession of the RS from BiH.

Oslobodjenje editorial: Unlike Montenegro and Kosovo, RS has no right on independence	Oslobodjenje pg 9 'Right on independence' op-ed by Zija Dizdarevic – Commenting the Montenegrin referendum, the editorial reminds of the recent column published by the former US Ambassador to SCG, William Montgomery, published in Jutarnji list and Dnevni Avaz, in which the author noted that the results would certainly have effect on Bosnian Serbs, who desire union with Serbia. Dizdarevic notes that it would be very dangerous if the RS would be put in the same context with Montenegro, referring to Montgomery's estimates that Serbs now have two options: to cooperate with others in constitutional reform [noting this was the fastest way to Europe], or to treat BiH authorities like Montenegrins did with Serbian with an ultimate goal of organizing referendum. Unlike RS, answers Dizdarevic, Montenegro had such right under the international law. The issue of Kosovo and its possible independence, notes author, on the other hand is a precedent which steps over the legal frameworks which are valid for the rest of the former Yugoslavia. Such solution came as the result of the violence over Albanians, i.e. unwillingness of Belgrade to democratically rule Kosovo. Author concludes that Serbs in BiH were never tortured like Albanians in Kosovo, therefore have no right to call on 'Kosovo model'.
DA op-ed: one of key regional issues now for Montenegro is cooperation with the ICTY; radical forces in Serbia would benefit from Montenegro independence	Dnevni Avaz pg 3 'Montenegro independence' op-ed by Sead Numanovic – Referring to Montenegrin newly gained independence, author notes: "With parting of Montenegro, dream of 'Greater Serbia' definitely dies. Serbia stays to face its recent criminal history, dreary present, and uncertain future. That is an ideal basis for radical options that would benefit from the process of reducing Serbia into realistic frame." Author notes that one of the key regional issues now for Montenegro is cooperation with the ICTY, for the Hague has been repeatedly warning that Radovan Karadzic is hiding somewhere in between RS and Montenegro. Editorial concludes that if the ICTY repeats once more that Karadzic is in Montenegro, its Prime Minister Milo Djukanovic should arrest and extradite him.

VL: Montenegrin independence shatters dreams of 'Great Serbia', strengthens BiH; DL: independence will have no effects on events in BiH	Vecernji List, pg 4 'Montenegrin 'yes' for more stable BiH', by Eldina Medunjanin – commenting on the result of referendum in Montenegro, the author thinks the decision will have many direct and indirect consequence for BiH. Firstly, BiH and the new state will have to organize diplomatic relations, take care of many bilateral issues etc. More significantly, Medunjanin believes the independence will make all those who dream about 'Great Serbia' realize that the dream is over and that there will be no exchange of territories in the Balkans, which will in turn strengthen BiH. Dnevni List, pg 2 'Happy independence', by Sanja Bjelica – also comments on the Montenegrin referendum saying it will not have any effect on events in BiH whatsoever. Bjelica reckons that relations between BiH and Montenegro will be better than the relations between BiH and SCG because the new state wants to have a better cooperation with everyone, especially with its neighbours and present itself in good light.
Die Welt op-ed: If Montenegro was allowed to hold referendum, so should RS	Die Welt 'Chances of small statehoods' by Stefanie Bolzen – Commenting Montenegrin referendum for independence, editorial published in Berlin-based daily reads that Montenegro now buried the last remains of Yugoslavia, adding that, after the wars in the Balkans, the EU HR for the Common Foreign and Security Policy, Javier Solana, wanted to prevent "secessionist Domino-effect through forced partnership between Serbia and Montenegro. Yet the Unionists lost, Solana lost, and the EU has to deal with yet another country who wants to join the club... [Succession] is unquestionable risk to be allowed a propos Serbia, which after the loss of Montenegro and possibly Kosovo, stretches its arms even more strongly towards BiH and demands of the RS. But if Montenegro was entitled to self-determination, this should also have to be applicable in the case of the RS." In its upcoming Presidency over EU, Germany is to inherit large burden of moderation, argues the author, noting the reason for this is disappointing result of Austrian term when it comes to the Balkans. Thus, German Chancellor Angela Merkel, as a EU-Chair in 2007, will have a chance to strongly influence both the EU and the Balkans. Author reminds of the German preference of "privileged partnership" between EU and Western Balkans countries rather than the membership itself, and concludes: "It must remain clear that European integrations are worthwhile for both small countries of the Balkans and the entire Europe."

However, Dodik emphasized that there will be no new negotiations on the content of BiH Constitution. “Some of the partners in FBiH claim that now it might be possible to adopt the constitutional amendments. We have opportunity to adopt that constitution within two years." SDA Secretary General, Amir Zukic, stated: "We think that we should fight for better functioning of BiH state, for in that case Dodik could not get this attention and block police reform." For BiH Foreign Minister Mladen Ivanic [PDP] his party will be represented by PDP Presidency member Vinko Radovanovic. Ivanic told daily from London: "We still think that the agreed amendments should be adopted. The essence of the issue is whether FBiH parties are capable of solving it, for we from RS already secure necessary number of votes." Inset 'Relota: New parliamentary majority after elections will be discussed' – HDZ spokesperson Miso Relota told daily that among other things, issue of new parliamentary majority after elections will be discussed, adding that it is not likely possible to expect adoption of constitutional changes before elections. NN source comments mtg on const. changes: two scenarios possible – either implementation of Agreement after elections or “exerting pressure” on HDZ 1990 to adopt it before elections	Nezavisne Novine pg 6 ‘Search for support to constitutional changes’ by M. Cubro and S. Gojkovic – Anonymous NN’s collocutor says aim of the meeting on constitutional changes to be held today, is to ensure the support of the international community in order to implement the Agreement on the constitutional changes immediately after the elections. The source says there are two possible scenarios to be discussed during the meeting: either to ensure the implementation after elections to launch the second phase or to “exert pressure” on HDZ 1990 for them to change their stances and support the changes in a repeated Parliamentary procedure before the elections. SDA’s Sefik Dzaferovic on Monday stated he does not know which topic will be discussed during the meeting, HDZ’s Miso Relota said HDZ President Dragan Covic will attend the meeting and advocate for continuation of negotiations after elections, SDS’s Dragan Cavic stated that the voting on constitutional amendments can be expected only after elections and PDP’s Mladen Ivanic said Vinko Radovanovic will represent PDP at the meeting and will insist on respecting of solutions that were already agreed upon. EuroBlic pg RS2 ‘Working lunch only an appetiser for agreement’ by Rajna Radosavljevic – SDP assessed it is not likely the story on Constitutional reform would change significantly. He explains that from the legal point of view, 6 months have to pass between discussions in the BiH Parliament about the constitutional changes, whilst politically wise, it is 'a circus' to ask from the MPs to change their position. Musa also says the solution for a just BiH is to have 'mathematically speaking' 1 state, 3 peoples, 3 entities/federal units and 3 levels of authority.
BiH Central Election Commission's findings reveal illegal funding of parties	Dnevni List, pg 9, mentioned on front 'SDP and HDZ getting illegal donations', by Tanja Calic – according to findings of Service for revision of financial operations (of political parties presumably) with the BiH Central Election Commission, a big number of political parties use premises of municipalities free of charge and receive illegal donations that are not properly registered in financial books. The article lists several cases of such illegalities committed by the SDA and SDS, including the case when the SDP received back in 2004 an illegal donation from a legal entity from abroad in amount of 552.953 KMs. The findings also show that back in 2004, the HDZ stated incomes of 1.700.000 KMs, although the party did not have a single mark of incomes from the property the HDZ is in possession of.

Namely, in last few days HDZ has sent a demand for prevention of the verification of HDZ 1990, arguing that two parties under name HDZ could confuse the voters. In a statement for daily, Chair of the BiH CEC Branko Petric confirmed this information and said that decision would be passed in next few days. "For time being, this kind of complaint has only been addressed for HDZ 1990. We still do not know what would be our decision and we would take stance after all members declare" said Petric. If the BiH CEC rules that this could bring confusion, HDZ 1990 would be ordered to change its name in five days if wants to participate October elections.

SD: HDZ's Covic removes Chairman of Mostar Clinic's Steering Board Bagaric because he attended inaugural session of HDZ 1990	Slobodna Dalmacija, front pg splash and pg 13 'Covic removed Bagaric', by Petar Milos – the Chairman of Steering Board of the Mostar Clinic (under construction), Dr. Ivan Bagaric (he is also an MP in the Croatian Parliament representing Croatian Diaspora), was removed from the office in the Steering Board allegedly without an explanation. He goes on to say that the job he had been doing since 2000 had been done in an honest manner, not wanting to make any further comments as to why he got removed. However, the author reckons that Bagaric got removed because the HDZ BiH leader, Dragan Covic, decided to do so after Bagaric was seen as a guest at the inaugural convention of the HDZ 1990, which triggered Covic to have his revenge by ordering to "his (FBiH Healthcare) Minister Mandic to remove him".

SDA and HDZ officials met in Mostar, but agreement on Mostar issue wasn't reached

Dnevni Avaz pg 4 'Mostar issue still without solution' by F.Vele – Meeting of HDZ, SDA and Mostar City representatives dedicated to crisis in functioning of city authorities and Bosniak-Croat relations in general was held in Mostar on Monday night. Meeting, scheduled due to pressures from the International Community for the Mostar budget 2006 to be adopted, was attended by the HDZ and SDA leaders Dragan Covic and Sulejman Tihic respectively, officials of Cantonal Boards of both parties, Cantonal Prime Minister Miroslav Coric, Chair of Cantonal Assembly Omer Cevra, Mostar Major Ljubo Beslic and Chair of City Council Murat Coric. After the meeting, HDZ officials claimed that "solution is on sight", while SDA officials stressed that "there is no solution for Mostar" and it seems that budget will not be passed at Wednesday's session of the Mostar City Council, though Beslic announced otherwise. Author comments that SDA is still trying to use the budget issue to warn at full failure of Mostar integration. "We have talked about seven to eight issues that present Mostar problem. Systematization of city administration employees, budget issue, street names...we exchanged opinions and got our stances closer, but we still have no final agreement" said Tihic. Asked if the agreement was reached on the budget, which OHR insists on, Tihic said that this issue would be solved by City Council. GS op-ed: there are no differences between parties in BiH, these are all in essence nationalistic	Glas Srpske op-ed pg 2 'Factor genocide' by Nenad Kecmanovic – Elaborating on whether genocide had been committed over Bosniak people during the war in BiH, the author says Serbs had not attempted to systematically destroy Muslims in BiH. He also says, although Muslims had the highest number of casualties, it was not because they were sitting tight but because they were fighting on three different battlefields despite to the fact they had not been adequately armed. The author says that, in accordance with statistic data from Sarajevo, the number of victims radically decreased from 200.000 down to 60.000, which is in percentage not much higher number than the number of casualties in other two sides in the war. Therefore, the author concludes the thesis on genocide is only a tool of political manipulation, wondering whether some new politicians might put the end to inter-ethnic conflicts in BiH and concludes by saying there are no differences between parties in BiH because these are all, in their essence, nationalistic parties and he says BiH cannot exist as a democratic state but only as one-party state or personal dictatorship state that controls democracy. He adds: 'now you have a real authority of international protectorate, i.e. of American Ambassador and the HR, along with a decorative democracy.'"

Dispute over Commission for suffering of Sarajevo Serbs

RS reps in CoM demand Comm. on suffering of Sarajevo Serbs; Chair Terzic still believes Comm. should be established for entire country, not separately for each city

RTRS – At next session of the Council of Ministers, the RS representatives will make decision regarding the request of the RS Association of families of fallen and missing soldiers and civilians from East Sarajevo to freeze their activities until Commission on suffering of Serbs in Sarajevo is established. RS reps at CoM will react if establishment of this Commission is not included in the agenda of the next session, and on Monday they strongly criticised the statement of the CoM Chair Adnan Terzic who said on 18 May that as long as he was the Chair there would be no separate Commission for Sarajevo Serbs established, but a Commission that would deal with the entire country. “Normal work of CoM is not possible without establishment of this Commission. Mr. Terzic should know he answers to the Parliament and he should do what Parliament asks him to do”, said Mladen Ivanic, BiH Foreign Minister. Slobodan Kovac, BiH Justice Minister, expressed concern due to disrespect of the BiH Parliament’s decision on establishment of the Commission. “After such brutal statement the only choice for Serb Representatives at CoM is not to show up at CoM sessions until the establishment of this Commission is on the agenda, with defined goal and deadline, the same way it was done at the RS Government in regard to Srebrenica”, said Dragan Cavic, RS President. “Commission has to be established for Sarajevo. Sarajevo is special case, there were many suffering in Sarajevo...”, said Milorad Dodik, RS Prime Minister. SRS called on the RS reps to leave CoM and RS Government to dismiss ministers from SDA. BHT1- Terzic still claims that BiH needs one commission that would cover the area of the entire state, although BiH Parliament recommended the establishment of the commission only for Sarajevo. “I think that we should form a commission that would establish the truth in the whole BiH”, said Terzic. To establish a commission for Sarajevo would mean that similar commission should be formed for every single city in BiH, concluded CoM Chair. “It is not the question of one commission, whatever her name is. It’s the question of relations between BiH CoM and both Houses of BiH Parliament”, stated BiH Minister of Communications and Transport Branko Dokic. Glas srpske pg 5 ‘Chauvinistic stance’ by D. The only right thing to do, as far as I am concerned, is to establish the Commission for entire state. We can task it to deal with sufferings of Sarajevo citizens." Terzic warned that if the establishment of the Commission to deal exclusively for Sarajevo, every town in BiH would have its own Commission. Terzic concluded that RS politicians are using this issue as a tool for their pre-elections campaigns. Nezavisne Novine pg 9 'Terzic: Commission can start its work in Sarajevo' by M. Conference of police chiefs in Sarajevo : necessity of mutual cooperation as precondition to fight crime BHT1- The 28th Conference of Police Chiefs of European Capitals has commenced in Sarajevo. The delegations from 33 European capitals discuss the possibilities for improving mutual cooperation in a fight against organized crime. It was emphasized that new forms of crime – such as abductions, racketeering or extortions – have emerged in BiH and it is not easy to fight those crimes, especially since in BiH there are two state security agencies, two entity Ministries of Interior, ten cantonal polices and the police of Brcko District. Experts claim that such divided police simply cannot adequately fight the most serious forms of organized crime, terrorism, human and drug trafficking. “We have to work together, because organized crime knows no borders. There should be no borders when it come to the police, and that’s the real problem”, stated one of the participants, Deputy Chief of Berlin Police Gerd Neubeck. “Croatian Police and Zagreb Police have to cooperate with Sarajevo, and the Cantons in FBiH... We are a border area in some way, which makes us both very interesting for all sorts of organized crime”, stated Head of Zagreb Police Marijan Tomurad. PINK- Himzo Selimovic, Presiding of the Conference said that BiH has 15 police agencies adding that such security system cannot face the crime. Selimovic reminded of three EU principles that BiH should fulfil in order to achieve European standards. FTV- While opening the conference, BiH Deputy Minister of Security Dragan Mektic stated the security situation in BiH was improving; however, he added that BiH citizens could not be entirely satisfied with the current situation.
