Dnevni List, pg 2 'Life and new hope for Mostar', by Vera Soldo – notes that, despite many believing that the opening of the Old Bridge would not change things much in Mostar, one fact remains, it will give an opportunity to all the smart and capable people to use the arrival of world statesmen and present Mostar in the best possible way. "After that, they can tell about Mostar to their friends, they can return to Mostar, bring friends along too. One thing is certain, the Bridge itself, the symbol of Mostar, will not help Mostarians that much unless they want to do it themselves", notes the author.

OHR on internal debt

FTV, Dnevni Avaz pg 8 'Internal debt is not an issue that can be pushed under the carpet' by Fena, Dnevni List pg 17 'Well coordinated action of RS Police' not signed- Resolving the issue of internal debt is of great importance for BiH and OHR hopes that the FBiH House of Representatives will adopt the law regulating that issued, spokesperson for the OHR in Banja Luka Ljiljana Radetic said on Thursday. Reacting to the failure of the FBiH House of Representatives to adopt legislation allowing the implementation of the plan on internal debt prepared in cooperation with the IMF, Radetic said that that issue cannot be simply pushed under the carpet. "The plan prepared by BiH authorities together with IMG is rather realistic. It protects the most endangered ones and ensures that authorities honour their commitments". She said that the IMF would continue with talks and that OHR hopes that the FBiH Parliament will adopt this law in the near future.

Speaker on
internal debt

Dnevni List, pg 4 'Association of savers going to Human Rights Court in Strasbourg!?', by Miso Relota – carries Deputy Speaker of the FBiH Parliament's House of Representatives, Josip Merdzo (HDZ), as saying that the priority is to satisfy as many old savers as possible.

"We are nobody's hostages. The IMF's position is pretty restrictive and that's the whole problem. The OHR and IMF want to pressure the MPs to adopt the law. One has to know that all the parameters of the law are still not defined. One still does not know the exact amount of internal debt, and chances are it is lesser than it was presented (...) We still believe that the old foreign currency savings should be best regulated by a special, separate law", said Merdzo. Merdzo goes on to say that in case there is no agreement soon, the adoption of the law will be postponed for autumn, however he does not rule out a possibility that the law gets adopted in the FBiH HoR through outvoting. Finally, Merdzo notes that European Human Rights Court in Strasbourg will be acting upon requests of associations of savers, regardless of possible solutions in the corresponding law.

Oslobodjenje pg 6 'Political decision to install Chief BiH Auditor?!' by Az. Kalamujic – Daily writes that member of BiH Presidency Dragan Covic and HDZ are determined to bring "a man loyal to them" to the vacant seat of the Chief BiH Auditor. Previously the position was held by Ivan Miletic who resigned "just before the hot report on BiH Presidency for 2003." Author further argues that Covic's intention is to avoid the adoption of the new law on audit [which foresees for the selection process of the chief auditor to be run through publicly advertised vacancy notice] by appointing a person with the five years mandate. The main HDZ candidate for the Chief BiH Audit position is Miljenko Sego, Chief of the Financial police office from Ljubuski. The Presidency is expected to discuss this proposal on 27 July.

Moreover, Ms. Robinson confirms that the Eronet Supervisory Board had a meeting, deciding to contest the decision to award the 3rd GSM licence to HT Mostar. "We, of course, expect Eronet to get the 3rd GSM licence in BiH, because it is the only candidate that can fulfill all the criteria. If professional criteria had been taken into account, we would have got the licence", concludes Robinson.

They also say that new 15 reports will be made public soon, and that the most common irregularities found in the work of state institutions is the lack of internal controls, proper rules and procedures. Asked were these the first report the Audit Office for BiH institutions has compiled since its establishment in 2001, Kulina says: "We have earlier reports which perhaps talked about even more serious crimes, but our decision to go public this time proved to effective."

Namely, SDS voters would turn to radicalism, meaning radicals, as it was the case when Nikola Poplasen was removed and supporters moved their support from radicals onto SDS. He concludes the article by saying: "Power is sweet to everybody, including Ashdown. However, his address to the people results from the construction error. Which should be removed as soon as possible. Because otherwise, Brussels might seem further and further from us."

The first is that now there is a joint effort to solve the issue of an organized crime. Yesterday I attended the meeting, also attended by the representatives of SIPA, and all other important police and security services in BiH, Customs Administration and Interpol. For the first time, all those institutions committed to coordinating their work. Secondly,... there is something I would call generational change. I believe that this new generation of BiH lawyers, judges and prosecutors will make a big change in this country."*

action

Nacional pg 2 'Serb mercenaries chasing Radovan' mentioned on cover 'Serbs in pursuit after Karadzic' by M.N. – The author brings some information related to the most recent police action of search after Radovan Karadzic and Ratko Mladic in the areas of Bileca and Gacko, including confirmation of Radomir Njegus, RS Polcie Director (See yesterday's Preview for more details). Moreover, Nacional journalist refers to a police officer from Gacko, who said that: "We, regular police of RS, have not contacted those commandoes. They came in three Jeep's, they went with us, but were not under our command. A layman would realise they were well-organised. They took positions around Motel "Klinja" early in the morning and have not left their position until action completed. They vanished later on, I do not know whether they went to Bileca." This source also claims that other policemen commented on this as those people were "mercenaries, Serbs, who are ready to clash Karadzic and Mladic, in order to get the promised award."
