On his behalf, HR Paddy Ashdown, Michael Humphrey, Chief of EC delegation in BiH and Mihail Koukakis, Chairman of the EU Presidency, yesterday said that unless the entity governments and Com reach an agreement on principles of the establishment of single customs and VAT by 19 February, BiH sill be deprived of any further international help. Koukakis stated that that VAT and single customs had to be on the state level even though the revenues would go to entities. Humphrey made it very clear that if the deadline was not met they would not agree to any negotiations. "Sanctions are painful, but the patience has run out," said Humphrey. The article carries a short insert entitled 'Federation government slowing it down'. It reads that the federation government might be slowing down the process due to problems with the constituting of the FBiH HoP.

SDA supporting HR	Avaz pg. 4 ‘Stop tolerating obstructions by Serb politicians and parties’ – an announcement from the SDA saying they support HR’s initiative to adopt the laws on VAT and single customs by mid-February this year. “Having in mind that customs and VAT are pre-conditions for BiH to enter $European integration we think insufficient efforts by HR on the matter. It is about time that the IC stops tolerating obstructions by Serb political parties in adopting and implementing reformist laws. The SDA insists that VAT and customs entirely become state revenues, which will, in accordance with needs, be directed to different levels of authority. Any further postponements and possible compromises would be detrimental to BiH state and its citizens.”
SRS against VAT and SC	Nezavisne Novine pg. 7 ‘Single customs and VAT lead towards centralisation of BiH’ – President of the Serb Radical Party, Milanko Mihajlica, stated yesterday that his party would not support the project of single customs and VAT. According to the SRS, VAT should be collected at the entity level, as it was one of the major sources of income for both entities. Mihajlica believes that introduction of single customs administration and VAT at the state level leads towards centralisation of BiH.

Grabovac's letter to Hrhdown	Vecernji List pg. 3 by 'You prevented development of domestic production' Dejan Jazvic – claims to be in possession of a letter that former Federation Finance Minister, Nikola Grabovac, who was removed by the HR Paddy Ashdown, had allegedly sent to HR Ashdown last month. In it, Grabovac accuses the HR of decreasing collection of customs related revenues. Furthermore, Grabovac allegedly shows concrete figures that show a decrease in the collection of the revenues since the outburst of the 'AM Sped' affair, which resulted in his removal, which in turn, according to Grabovac, encouraged criminals to go ahead with their actions. Regarding the figures, Grabovac says that in the first ten months of 2002 the collection of customs revenues went down by 121,8 million KM when compared to 2001. "The Federation budget has 200 million KMs less than in the same period last year. You like to say it is the money for the schools, invalids, hospital, pensioners and similar, but you and your policy are at fault (…) You did not enable development of our production. You prevented it. I will write you a special letter about your role in stopping of macro-economic renewal of BiH," says Grabovac.

Eronet	Dnevni List pg. 1 and 7 by V. Soldo – an interview with President of the Union of Employees of HT (Croat telecommunications) and HP (Croat posts), Ante Orsolic. He talks about the Eronet issue. Orsolic reiterates statements that are being heard in the past few days about the plunder of BiH property and about the alleged back-stage games by the IC. He says the Union expects the BiH Council of Ministers and competent institutions to tackle the issue and stop all the back-stage games, thus showing there's justice and sovereignty in BiH. Orsolic also expects an answer from HR Paddy Ashdown whom they allegedly contacted on a few occasions. DL says Orsolic announces an organized march of HT and HP employees in front of the OHR building. "We will protect our national interest, otherwise, this would be an additional exodus of Croats from these areas," says Orsolic. According to DL knowledge, the Union hopes HR Ashdown will request his advisors to present him a more complete picture about the case because the Union believes HR Ashdown has not been comprehensively informed about the case.

SDU on ‘Aluminij’	FENA – the SDU calls on the new FBiH government, which will soon be formed, to urgently re-evaluate a project of the international arbitration of the ‘Aluminij’ Mostar combine. “We think,” said SDU Acting President Sead Avdic, “that this is a bogus project and that ‘Aluminij’ should not have been extracted from domestic legislation and the constitutional-legal system in BiH. We request returning of ‘Aluminij’ under the local jurisdiction from the aspect of arbitration on participation of state capital in this company,” said Acting President of SDU.

Bankruptcy Law	Dnevni List pg. 9 ‘In principle the bankruptcy always means liquidation’ – a statement by Enver Hogic, Judge at the Tuzla Cantonal Court, in charge of the bankruptcy issues. “The estimations of HR Paddy Ashdown about a number of workers who will lose job due to the bankruptcy procedures are not realistic and they are exaggerated. We expect the passing of the new Law on Bankruptcy, which will allow for the increased efficiency in settling debts of companies that have gone bankrupt,” said Hogic.

SB magazine on single customs	"Although the RS leaders still resolutely reject even to think about a single customs administration in BiH, it is quite clear that the international community, i.e. OHR, will not take into account too much these objections and protests," Mirsad Fazlic and Adnan Buturovic wrote in this week's Slobodna Bosna ('Entity customs administrations should be abolished ASAP, and a single customs service should be introduced'). "It is possible to increase the budgetary income by raising tax rates, but the tax burdens are almost unbearable for the tax payers. The only possible alternative is an enormous increase in efficiency of the customs administration that will lead to a the significant widening of the tax basis. The efficiency of the tax administration can be improved by improving the work of the existing customs administrations or by creating a single customs administration at the state level," read a confidential report prepared by a special task force. According to Slobodna Bosna, the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, has on the basis of this document made a decision on the formation of a single customs administration at the BiH level.

"If the RS authorities fail to co-operate we will not consider them as partners in the process." They discussed the need of establishing BiH institutions for trying war criminals. They all agrees that both local and international bodies have to jointly ensure conditions for the establishment of local capacities for arresting and processing cases of persons indicted for war crimes in BiH. “The local courts can not currently give guarantees for processing war criminals in BiH. That takes the implementation of judiciary reform, of making it independent,” said Terzic. Prosper said the Us government was ready to financially support the project. Commentary in Oslobodjenje	Oslobodjenje pg. 2 by Zija Dizdarevic 'Suspicious' – on the election of officials in the new government and the vetting process. Dizdarevic thinks it's incredible how easy it is for people to agree to be nominated in the authority bodies, and how easy it for them to give it up too. Twice in the text Dizdarevic points out that standards and principles of the vetting process are not known to anyone. "It is not accessible to us how un(suitable) candidates are established, who is behind the procedure and with what sort of intentions." He goes on to say that we are witnessing again the usage of secret dossiers – always convenient for manipulating people. "The international authorities insist on the establishment of the police and judiciary dignity, and at the same time they use methods from police states. We are all simply 'apriori' suspects."

CoM session	Oslobodjenje pg. 8 ‘Terzic requested from entities information on security’, Avaz pg. 8 ‘Terzic: legal aspect of the Eronet privatisation determined by relevant institutions, not me’, Dnevni List pg. 1 and 3, Nezavisne Novine pg. 7 ‘Still without Justice Minister’ – the CoM did not, as planned, hold its first session due to the lack of quorum (absence of a number of Serb reps). As for the Eronet case, Terzic stated he was not authorised to say whether something was or was not done legally. He said that relevant institutions could only make such assessments. HNZ on new Federation leadership	FENA – the Croat National Alliance (HNZ) does not support a list of candidates for the FBiH leadership – presidents and the two vice presidents. HNZ on Thursday stated that they have nothing against Desnica Radivojevic, but that formal and true obstacles for his nomination as the Serb Vice President of the Federation do exist. "Even tough he is a Serb it is difficult to get the impression that he has the support of Serbs in the Federation and their representatives in the legislative authorities. HNZ thinks that the position of any of the constitutive peoples should not depend on anybody's good will, but on the democratic will of members of that people and their legitimate representatives in the authorities," HNZ stated.

In today's issue, NN brings a short interview with Tomljanovic, who explains the reasons why his candidacy was not supported either by the opposition or the ruling parties. Regardless of his failure to be elected at the 2nd session of the RS NA, Tomljanovic is certain that he will be appointed eventually, as any other solution (i.e. the appointment of a Serb to the post, as suggested by SDS, would not be in line with the constitutional changes) may result in political consequences.

First being the winning of the Peronsality of the Year award. "This is the truth and not what Slobodna Bosna is writing. Those reading Slobodna Bosna are fools," said Paddy Ashdown to young politicians in Sarajevo last Friday, according to an article published in this week's issue of the magazine ('Ashdown is right: Only in the country of fools he can be the High Representative'). Interview with Tihic	"I am positively assessing the engagement of the High Representative (Paddy Ashdown) so far. Moves he has made are useful for BiH and in BiH interest, unlike his predecessor who was waiting for parties to reach agreement and who was accepting compromises at the cost of BiH," the Bosniak member of the BiH Presidency and SDA leader, Sulejman Tihic, said in an interview for this week's BH Dani ('We can fight for BiH only with SDS').

DANI on Ashdown	Ivan Lovrenovic wrote in this week's DANI opening editorial that Dnevni Avaz needed only six months to declare Paddy Ashdown the Personality of the Year. In exchange, according to Lovrenovic, Ashdown needed just the recognition to say that the newspaper was an example how the life in this country should look like in the future. "It would be ridiculous to presume that Ashdown does not posses enough knowledge on the role and importance of media, as well as on the situation in our country. He very well knows both. And when we have this in mind, and know that the Avaz-like practice represents all the opposite of what Ashdown claims, and then his compliments to Avaz represent a very dangerous sign. A sign that something is deeply empty and false in his loud verbal commitment against the enrichment based on crime, and for reforms, democracy, 'jobs and justice'," Lovrenovic wrote. DANI Editor-in-Chief Senad Pecanin wrote in this week's edition of the magazine an article entitled 'The voice of the Bosnian darkness'. "The existence of such Dnevni Avaz (primarily having in mind not its political orientation but its professional quality) in the situation in which the public broadcasters are occupied by small thieves and amateurs sitting in the editorial and managerial chairs, represents one of the key obstacles to the creation of a normal, democratic and legal state."

So the discussion was postponed for the next session of the Assembly.
