Speaker
Stojicic
schedules
special RSNA
session to discuss no-
confidence
vote in Govt
on Jan 26

PINK – The Speaker of the RS National Assembly Dusan Stojicic scheduled the special RSNA session on confidence to the RS Government on Thursday, January 26. The discussion on vote-of-confidence for the RS Government has been requested by 18 representatives of SNSD, 9 representatives of PDP and an independent representative Radovan Bobic. Stojicic said that the vote-of-confidence is depending on the votes of SDA party. According to Stojicic, without SDA votes, RS NA can't decide on non-confidence for the Government, which raises the issue of election of a new Government.

Stojicic also emphasized that all responsibility for the next step should be taken by the parties which started the initiative for vote-of confidence, and especially by PDP. EuroBlic RSpG 2 'Council of Minister is (not) in jeopardy' – In regard to the issue of confidence to BiH CoM, Stojicic said: "Essentially, it is of no importance whether we would formally raise the issue of a confidence vote in BiH COM if RS Government were overthrown. What is important is that our conduct would be proportional with the conduct of those who make the majority with us at the BH Parliament. Hence, this would open the issue of decision-making at the BH

Parliament." PINK, BHT1, RTRS, Oslobodjenje pg 6-7 'SNSD claims it has 42 votes against the Government of Pero Bukeylovic' by O. Oslobodjenje pgs 4-5 'Details of talks hidden by both BiH and EU' mentioned on cover by M.Kavaz-Sirucic – EU Chief Negotiator Reinhard Priebe would lead six-members team from Brussels that would join members of EC mission to BiH. We also expect BiH not to disclose its negotiating position." Oslobodjenje learns that text of the Agreement is identical with the one signed by Croatia , and that it could be found on a web page of Croatian Foreign Ministry. Author stresses that first round of negotiations are only to set length of SAA implementation period, adding that in terms of economy BiH should favour longer, while political aspect requires shorter period. Readiness for shorter period would tell EU that BiH is a serious partner for joining the Union, comments author. Inset, 'No guarantees' – Daily learns that no guarantees have been given to the BiH Negotiating Team that clause on "European perspective for BiH" will not be included in text of the Agreement.
Busek: BiH could remain a 'black hole' in the Europe if constitutional talks would fail	FTV – Stability Pact Coordinator for South-Eastern Europe Erhard Busek warned on Monday that, if constitutional reforms in BiH would fail, BiH would remain a 'black hole' on the geographic map of the region. In an interview to German radio 'Deutsche Welle', Busek stressed that he is disappointed with the fact that the representatives of eight biggest BiH political parties were not able to reach an agreement on constitutional changes. It is a very bad signal on the eve of negotiations on Stabilisation and Association Agreement, concluded Busek, adding that it shows BiH is unable to carry out reforms necessary for it to become a normal, democratic state. Tihic said he has offered a concession by not insisting on abolishment of the entities, adding he is convinced that an agreement can be reached. However, Tihic underlined that ethnic and entity principles can't dominate the future governmental structure of BiH. SDS stated that there is no reason to continue the talks, since there is no consensus on key issues. SNSD leader Milorad Dodik stated that this party the talks on const. changes are momentarily not a possibility. PDP's Zoran Tesanovic stated that the initiative for continuation is not serious, especially since, as Tesanovic explains, Tihic is the most responsible for the failure of first phase. However, he adds that talks could continue if SDA accepts the rotation in Presidency and entity vote in BiH House of Representatives. HDZ Presidency supports Tihic's initiative and hopes that the next round of talks is going to include talks on middle level of authority, and discussions on establishing of three or more entities. HDZ's Spokesman Miso Relota stated for RTRS that HDZ expects talks to continue soon. Reporter commented that even if the talks continue now, they couldn't be completed before the elections in October, which consequently would be conducted in accordance with present BiH Constitution. BHT1 – "I want the negotiations to continue, and that we once again try to reach an agreement. I think that, this time, mediators should have their own stances", stated Tihic. On the other hand, parties in RS believe that the continuation of talks on constitutional reforms is not possible in this particular moment. "We don't see the possibility to start the negotiations once again, and to once again discuss the same issues, because of which we wasted so much time... And therefore, Sulejman Tihic's attempts to restart negotiating process seem a bit unreal", stated real Krstan Simic from SNSD. Namely, the talks would continue in 10 days or so, when the IC representatives will explain to leaders of BiH parties the position BiH is in. Inset, 'Kosovo will not be part of Serbia' – Petritsch repeated that Contact Group has a clear stance that Kosovo cannot be part of Serbia, while on the other hand unconditional independence would also not be an option.

RS reps do not specify whether they would demand exclusion of Judge Palavric from case of Tihic' motion with BH CC on constitutionality of RS symbols	EuroBlic RSpg 1 'Doubts in objectivity of judge Seada Palavric' by Nedeljka Breberina – Nevenka Trifkovic, PDP delegate, stated after Monday's meeting of the RS NA delegates before BH Constitutional Court that the BH CC should overrule motion filed by Sulejman Tihic, Bosniak member to BH Presidency, regarding assessment on constitutionality of RS coat-of-arms, hymn and flag, since the motion is of political nature and offers no legal arguments. Oslob. op-ed: consistent implementation of human rights would questions Constitution itself	Oslobodjenje pg 9 'Dangerous human rights' op-ed by Zija Dizdarevic – Commenting talks on constitutional changes, author expresses his surprise that BiH political parties leaders easily agreed on the need for pursuing reforms necessary for strengthening the State institutions and protecting human rights. He says that consistent implementation of human rights and freedoms would lead to questioning the BiH Constitution itself, since the Constitution is made for ethnic groups and not based on individual citizen. Author stresses that in spite of fact that all international conventions on human rights have been included in BiH Constitution, it is still discriminatory towards minorities. Author concludes that placing a citizen as a primary constitutional subject would not threat proper exercise of ethnic rights, but a threat to ruling nationalistic structure.

FBiH Investment Bank to administer funds for stimulating employment in 2006	FTV by Azra Pasukan-Buljina – Even though some statistical data show that unemployment rate is about 44 percent, Director of the FBiH Employment Bureau Hasan Musemic believes that the actual unemployment rate in FBiH is not bigger than 26 percent. One possible way to fight this problem is the project of credit stimulus, which has been carried out by the Employment Bureau for the last four years. In 2006, FBiH Investment Bank will administer the funds for stimulating employment, stated its Acting Director Zlatan Jugo. It is expected that those credits would enable the opening of approximately 10,000 new jobs in industry, handicrafts and agriculture. The importance of this project is even bigger when one knows that the Value Added Tax introduction could increase the unemployment rate in BiH; because, according to FTV reporter, employers who have problem with paying VAT will most likely decide to fire employees as the easiest solution.
