Troops raided the parish building and the Uspenja Presvete Bogorodice [Orthodox] church in Pale, injuring orthodox priest Jeremija Starovlah and his son Aleksander. The wounded were transferred by SFOR helicopter to the University Clinic Centre in Tuzla where they underwent surgeries. The two were in their family house which SFOR members were searching last night, looking for the accused for war crimes, Radovan Kardzic, it was stated at the press conference by SFOR spokesperson, but no data were presented on the shooting in which the two were wounded.

SFOR: Priest's home raided on "very reliable" tip off	FTV – About forty soldiers from US and UK took place in the action. "Approximately 01.15 [Thursday] morning SFOR performed focused operation in Pale attempting to arrest war crimes suspects. SFOR has sent 40 soldiers from US, UK and SFOR multinational brigade's special unit to search marked facility in Pale, but they didn't locate the suspects", said spokesman of SFOR, Jarrod Krull, adding that entire activity was performed according to their mandate. FTV, Oslobođenje pg 5 'In capturing Karadzic, priest and his son hurt', 'Fire arms were not used', Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'In midnight action, priest Jeremija Starovlah and his son injured'- SFOR were in possession of very reliable information on Bosnian Serb wartime leader Radovan Karadzic being in Pale outside Sarajevo on the night between Wednesday and Thursday, which is why they launched an operation to search the house of a local Serb Orthodox priest, SFOR spokesman Dave Sullivan said in Sarajevo on Thursday. Although Karadzic was not found, the latest operation accomplished its objective because SFOR is now a step closer to the former Bosnian Serb leader, indicted by the ICTY, Sullivan said. He expressed regret at the wounding of two civilians during the operation, adding that two sustained injuries in an explosion that occurred when SFOR troops used explosive to blow up the door to the priest's house. The operation would not have been launched if the local authorities adequately cooperated with the Hague tribunal, Sullivan said. [Note: Starovlah allegedly said in an interview with a Montenegrin paper last week that "it is the duty of every Serb to help Karadzic". The statement was carried by Sarajevo media after which the priest denied having made it and claimed that he had last seen Karadzic in 1997.] BHTV 1 – "I would like to correct you. There was no shooting or use of grenades, those are only speculations," said Sullivan.
Ashdown on SFOR action	Oslobođenje pg 5 'RS Authorities are responsible for injuring priest' – High Representative Paddy Ashdown said on Thursday that the injuries that occurred in SFOR operation in Pale are highly regrettable. He added that, however, this incident would not have occurred if the BiH authorities had fulfilled their international obligations to cooperate fully with ICTY. Ashdown also demanded from all those reacting to these events "to reflect on that fact and to respond in a responsible and measured way." High Representatives stressed that the international community has been determined to see those indicted for war crimes brought to justice. "BiH's will not be able to become a member of Partnership for Peace if this country doesn't stop breaking the international law... [BiH's] future in Europe is being held hostage by the unwillingness of the authorities, particularly in the RS, to show a similar determination.," Ashdown said. FTV, BHTV – Paddy Ashdown stressed this was not an attack on the Orthodox church but on the war crimes suspects and the network of their supporters. "If the members of the Orthodox church claim that every Orthodox church is obliged to protect Radovn Karadzic, then this statement is an obvious violation of the international right", said HR. HR invited BiH politicians to invite all citizens to a peaceful reactions. RHB, RTRS – "SFOR has a right, an obligation and mandate to pursuit war criminals and to follow any lead, to which they come to, and whenever and however they consider is necessary to act", said HR. Also covered in Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'It is legal to use force in such situations', Dnevni List pg 7 'Attack on criminals, not Church', Vecernji List pg 3 "Ashdown feels sorry for civilians'

In the action, prosecutor at the Srpsko Sarajevo District Prosecutor's Office, Stanko Nujic has told SRNA, SFOR members inflicted life-threatening injuries on priest and his son with blunt instruments. He said that a doctor from the clinical centre in Tuzla confirmed to him that the injuries were not inflicted with firearms, and that no traces of bullets were found during the on-the-spot investigation. RTRS, Glas Srpske pg 4 'Assault against the innocent', Vecernji List front splash, pgs 2&amp;3 'Pale: SFOR 'on a hunt' for Karadzic, priest and son wounded', Slobodna Dalmacija front splash, pg 2 'Whilst in hunt for Karadzic, SFOR heavily wounds Orthodox priest and his son' – RTRS carries that eyewitnesses saying that following a very loud explosion they heard several shots. Soon after that, the helicopters had priest Starovlah and his son Aleksandar taken to Tuzla clinic. Priest's wife, Vitorka Starovlah said: "My husband and son were in underwear with no weapons. I don't know why soldiers shot them. SFOR soldiers didn't allow me to come near wounded husband and son who were laying on the floor. One soldier pointed gun at me and forbade me moving." Pale priest, Slobodan Lubarda, addressed the journalist claiming that SFOR troops broken in through balcony, adding that SFOR also tried to shoot another priest, but missed him.

They both thanked to the hospital staff for their efforts. During the visit to Tuzla hospital, Mladen Ivanic commented: "I think that this entire event starts many, many issues. I am [very aware of] fact that there must be a cooperation with ICTY, but just the same I believe that not even SFOR has unlimited mandate, that civilians [can] be hurt and no one to take responsible for that. As a member of CoM, I will truly insist for full investigation to be conducted.. and those responsible for civilian victims to take that responsibility." Oslobodjenje pg 4 'Presidency of BiH is not behind the statements', Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Ivanic angry that civilians were hurt' – BiH presidency stated that it was not behind the statements of Minister Ivanic.
Cavic: IC right to say RS has obligations; but SFOR has to respect human rights	RHB, FTV, RTRS – RS President Dragan Cavic believes that SFOR action in Pale was a brutal show of force. RS president expects a comprehensive explanation from the SFOR commander and calls on SFOR and other international organizations to establish the responsibility of the soldiers. Cavic was categorical that, "in the brutal and blatant attack on RS citizens", SFOR exceeded the limits of its mandate and violated a series of international conventions. "Evidently, they cannot be held accountable by anyone in this country but they should have to answer to somebody, be it the Peace Implementation Council, NATO Command or some other organization. They must be held responsible for their actions to somebody... Representatives of international organizations will tomorrow most probably say the following: We are doing this because you are not doing it. If you were doing it, we would not be doing it. And they are right in saying that. However, if we were doing it and if we were applying force in this way without providing any arguments required by the law, if we were not sticking to the conventions valid for this country, we would be held doubly accountable," commented Cavic. Also covered in Glas Srpske cover page story 'Force without reason'.

DA int with Cavic: As of now, things will be different	Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Citizens attitude to SFOR will probably be different' – RS President Dragan Cavic commented fro DA that following SFOR action many things will be different. "It is probable that the attitude of public and citizens in RS will be very different... How can one be welcome if they are shooting citizens? I would react the same if SFOR would raised an apartment in Kalesija and shot down a Bosniak and killed innocent people... Who has a mandate to kill?... I don't think that such mandate exists nowhere, and not here," stated Cavic in a short interview.

Mikerevic said that the RS Government will decide on its attitude on the event at the Govt extraordinary session. “International standard is a cooperation with the ICTY and the arrest of war crimes suspects, but the international norm is also for no one to have a right to violate basic human rights and freedom, to endanger lives of civilians, their property and not to respond to anyone”, said Dragan Kalenic. You know approximately what it will be like,” said Borislav Paravac to those gathered. “It is more than clear that nothing is sacral or untouchable, not our Orthodox Church, not our homes here, especially not in Pale, not the peace of our families and our children. As of tonight, truly, we will ask questions and we will give answer. We know about our international obligations. There is no need for them [IC] to warn us on them twenty-four hours a day, because we – as responsible people – know that by not fulfilling [obligations] we are playing with the future of this land and of our people,” said Dragan Kalinic. “With peaceful protest we say NO to this kind of democracy and in that way I want to assure you that RS Government will do everything that the investigation is conducted and all those responsible for this, what has happened tonight in Pale, properly punished,” said Dragan Mikerevic. Srpsko Sarajevo Mayor Milivoje Gatalj said he was shocked following an action by SFOR, in which priest Starovlah and his son were badly injured. “No-one could expect such vandalism in such a peaceful community,” Gatalj said adding that this was an attack against Serb people in general. Dnevni List front splash, pg 7 ‘Search: Priest and his son heavily wounded’ – covers Mikerevic, Paravac and Kalinic statements. Dnevni Avaz pg 3 ‘Citizens claim it was a real strike’, ‘Kalinic welcomed with shouting: Fascist!’ – DA carries that there were about 3000 of citizens gathered in Pale.

But this is another warning for citizens that when they choose authorities, they will have international forces becoming more arrogant as [local] authorities do not carry out their obligations”, commented Speaker of the BiH House of Representatives Nikola Spiric. FENA – “This speaks about the tragic climate of the BiH State in which the official institutions are not informed about what is going on”, said Spiric.
Djeric: If RS MoI participated, this wouldn't happen	FTV, RTRS – After they searched the Parish Home SFOR soldiers have retrieved and members of Centre of Public Safety- Srpsko Sarajevo have taken over. “If the RS Ministry of Interior have participated in this along with SFOR members, as it was case in several other times, there would be no tragic consequences as these are”- said Zoran Djeric, RS Minister of Interior.

DL editorial on SFOR action	Dnevni List pg 2 ‘Collateral damage’ by M. Musa – DL carries on the same issue an editorial saying that even if the SFOR's action in Pale had been successful it would have been very difficult to justify what SFOR did, referring to wounding of the Orthodox priest and his son. The author also says: “Let's be realistic – the Army must perform exercises, SFOR as well, journalists should write about them at least so that Radovan Karadzic and Ratko Mladic can follow from the ‘first’ hand how the search, in which they are the main prey, progresses. The catching of the prey has not been in the first plan for a long time and this time it was overshadowed by so-called collateral damage.”
VL: ‘Tihic and SFOR help preservation of RS’	Vecernji List pg 2 ‘Tihic and SFOR help preservation of RS’ by Zdenko Jurilj – Author believes that the Chairman of BiH Presidency, Sulejman Tihic, Bosniak MPs in the BiH Parliament, international officials and SFOR troops have contributed a lot to the preservation of the Republika Srpska with their recent statements and actions, which resulted in both the ruling structures and opposition in the RS joining ranks which could fortify the RS as the entity with competences of a proper state.

Political developments

PIC urges BiH authorities to speed up
reforms

RHB – Despite the successes BiH authorities have achieved in fulfilling the recommendations from the EC Feasibility Study, they need to greatly accelerate the pace of reform if they do not wish to undermine BiH's chances for joining the Euro-Atlantic structures, is a conclusion of the Communiqué that was issued following the two-day meeting of the Political Directors of the Peace Implementation Council (PIC) in Sarajevo. At a press conference held after the meeting, the High Representative, Paddy Ashdown, said that as the greatest successes of BiH authorities, the PIC welcomed the adoption of the laws on the Indirect Taxation Authority and the Intelligence-Security Service, establishment of the BiH defence ministry, and actions towards creation of a BiH High Judicial and Prosecutorial Council. However, Ashdown warned that implementation is yet behind the plan and that without a significant change in the approach, BiH could lose the chance for introducing VAT in mid 2005. The Steering Board raised concerns about the inability of BiH authorities to provide budgetary funds for the growing state competencies, which threaten the future of BiH as a functional state, said Ashdown, and added that the budgetary funds must be harmonized with priorities. The BiH bodies were clearly told that they are risking the country's future due to absence of cooperation with the ICTY, which particularly refers to RS, warned the High Representative.

Spiric added that current names of streets in Sarajevo, such are streets of Patriotske Lige, Mladih Muslimana, Zelenih Beretki and similar, offend Serbs and are one of the reasons because which more then 130.000 of Serbs still haven't returned to Sarajevo, and most probably will not if the names aren't changed. He pointed that 100 names of streets were changed in Municipality Old Town and 85 in Centre and Novi Grad, without consent of other peoples, as if Sarajevo is the city of only one people, Bosniaks.

Namely, unless tempo of reforms changed, the precious opportunity for Bosnia and Herzegovina may be lost. He assigns the responsibility for the failure to implement reforms to the inability to acknowledge the importance of reforms. He then writes about the reform at the State Office for Veterinary. Furthermore, he writes about the establishment of the Sanitary Administration of BiH, which would resolve main problems of BiH farmers.
NN: 'SDS and PDP will not support removal of Council of Ministers'	Nezavisne Novine pg 6 'SDS and PDP will not support removal of Council of Ministers' – Momcilo Novakovic, Head of SDS Caucus at BiH House of Representatives, said that SDS would not support the request of the opposition for the removal of BiH Council of Ministers. He said that the opposition took advantage over the moment, in order to make such a request. Sinisa Djordjevic, Head of Cabinet of PDP President, said that this party would not demand removal of BiH Council of Ministers, noting it would re-examine its further participation in authority, following most recent initiative by Sulejman Tihic. Nikola Kragulj, SNSD delegate, said that the opposition would try to remove BiH CoM by all means possible. Tihomir Gligoric, SPRS delegate, said that SDS must leave the authority it assumes with the people demanding abolishment of Republika Srpska, or to demand from Sulejman Tihic to withdraw his initiative.

NN editorial on SDA, SDS

Nezavisne Novine pg 7 'SDS and SDA launched pre-election campaigns' op-ed by Josip Blazevic – The author starts the op-ed with reference to the most recent initiative by Sulejman Tihic (regarding assessment into constitutionality of the term Republika Srpska), saying that it was launched at the worst time possible, because it may result in parliamentary crisis. Also, the most recent SDS announcement on its withdrawal of support to BiH Parliament aggravates the situation, as well as the recently published report of European Commission delegation to BiH. He concludes the article by saying that all these activities by SDS and SDA observed in pair may represent launch of pre-election campaign. Accordingly, no special attention should be paid to either initiative by Tihic or severe statements by Kalinic.

Spiric against FBiH Govt proposed housing laws	RHB, FENA – BiH House of Representatives Speaker Nikola Spiric commented the package of housing laws, which FBiH Urban Planning Minister Ramiz Mehmedagic has forwarded to parliamentary procedure: “It is almost unbelievable that even one year after submitting my request, the BiH Constitutional Court has not yet assessed the constitutionality of Article 3a of this discriminatory law, and yet attempts are still being made to avoid implementation of the Human Rights Chamber’s decisions from 1997.”
Syndicate demands cancelling of Bankruptcy Law	RHB, Oslobodjenje pg 6 ‘Withdrawal of the Bankruptcy Law or social unrest’ – The Union of BiH Independent Syndicates announced that they would demand replacement of FBiH Government if the Government doesn’t withdraw adopted changes and addenda to the Law on Bankruptcy, approved by both Houses of FBiH Parliament. Dani criticizes Toby Robinson, Patrice Dreiski	Dani pg. 3 'Anti-corruption team for OHR' op-ed by Vildana Selimbegovic – Selimbegovic fiercely criticized Deputy High Representative and Head of OHR Economic Department Patrice Dreiski for the alleged support he was providing to illegal activities/illegal business operations and deals of Mostar-based Aluminij Company and its Director Mijo Brajkovic (note that for a long time now, Dani considers almost all Aluminij/Brajkovic's operations illegal). "Names of Toby Robinson (Hercegovacka Bank Provisional Administrator) and Patrice Dreiski do not complete list of high representatives of the international community in BiH, who probably came here with serious intentions to work on the creation of a legal state and establishment of Rule of Law, but who then decided not to waste time when they realized they could earn more money in a few years of serving in BiH than in a few decades of service in their own countries," concludes Selimbegovic. Dani pgs. 24-26 'Gangster in skirt' By Emir Suljagic – The author says that Toby Robinson, the Provisional Administrator of Hercegovacka Bank, has become one of the key figures in robbing BiH's telecommunication treasury. Suljagic refers to sale of 4.8 percent of Eronet shares to the Grude municipality, which allowed the state to become major Eronet's owner.

Ljiljan says
Bulldozer Committee works in favor of Croatia

Ljiljan pgs. 28-29 'Bulldozer Committee works in favor of Croatia!?' By Anes Dzunuzovic – "Given that BiH has introduced visa-free regime for the EU countries, the citizens of the 10 new EU members will also soon be able to exercise this right, which will bring major financial losses to our country. On one side, BiH will lose almost 10 million KM, which was the sum it was previously collecting from the citizens of these countries for issuing visas to them, as, on the other side, BiH citizens will continue paying approximately 20 million KM annually for getting visas to enter the new EU countries. In addition, it will be economic/industrial losses as well because the BiH businessmen/producer will be even in more difficult position when it comes to placement of BiH products at the markets of the new EU countries as the import from these countries will increase due to a number of new benefits," read the article.

Reis Ceric
on linking BiH Muslims with terrorism

Ljiljan pgs. 18-22, announced on the front page 'Yassin was proud of my award' – Interview with Mustafa Ceric, the Head of the BiH Islamic Community, mainly with regard the UNESCO peace award for 2003 he had recently received. "Linking BiH primarily of course its Muslims with international terrorism is ill-intentioned. The West, particularly Europe, has no right to deliver moral lectures to us, the Muslims in BiH, following the genocide in Srebrenica. They can teach us something else. They can learn us about how to be inconsistent when it is about Srebrenica for example i.e. they can teach us how to practice a policy that allowed Sarajevo to bleed for four years in front of their eyes. The nowadays intentions to impose guiltiness on us over the international terrorism is just a continuation of policy of some circles in Europe, which want to wash their dirty consciousness," said Ceric.
