BiH/international community
OHR on the ending the current form of international community’s engagement in BiH	Oslobodjenje pg. 2 ‘BiH cannot allow itself to go back’, Dnevni Avaz pg. 2 ‘Ashdown’s course produces results’, FENA – OHR spokesperson in Banja Luka Sonja Pastuovic said on Wednesday that both domestic and international representatives now have the task to ensure that that the engagement of the international community in BiH in its present form is ended in the best possible way. Commenting on the latest International Crisis Group (ICG) report on the situation in BiH, Pastuovic told FENA that OHR welcomes such a debate as an indication that progress is being made in BiH and that the course set by the High Representative is achieving results. She reminded that the High Representative said yesterday that his focus remains on reforms, especially on introducing VAT, reforming the customs and defence. Pastuovic stressed that BiH cannot afford to move backwards.

Oslobodjenje editorial: 'Let Paddy rule'	Oslobodjenje pg. 2 Editorial by Gojko Beric 'Let Paddy rule' – "The ICG advocates for the revision of the BiH constitutional structure meaning for annulling the Dayton's partition of BiH. The hot issue, according to the Group, would first go in hands of the local authorities and only if they fail, it would be taken over by Paddy Ashdown. Speaking otherwise: Gentlemen, either you implement reforms or let Paddy rule," concludes Beric.
Terzic on ICG report	Dnevni Avaz pg. 2, mentioned on the front page 'BiH CoM is for the first time acting as a single team' – "In principle, I cannot fully agree with the ICG assessments. The fact is, however, that the Council of Minister could have been more efficient and operational. This particularly applies for the ministries that has not been established only recently," said BiH Council of Ministers Chairman Adnan Terzic in a statement for the newspaper asked to comment on the ICG assessments related to the insufficient CoM activity and a lack of its self-initiative to launch reforms.

ICG report

Blic pg. 7 'Nationalist parties bother' and 'Ashdown goes beyond limits', Dnevni List (page 7, by De.L., "Paradox of final phase of efforts exerted by International Community") carries that the International Crises Group (ICG) has published the report on the engagement of High Representative Paddy Ashdown in BiH, which says that it is too early to talk about the results of the cooperation that the HR established with the parties in power. Head of the ICG project for BiH Mark Wheeler says that the HR is intending to be the last HR and that his goal is to get rid of that job. Wheeler says that this means that the final stage of late efforts of the International Community to build a self-sustainable BiH will be filled in with paradox.

Wheeler also said that the HR is trying to achieve what should have been done under better circumstances, at the beginning and that is to establish the rule of law, recover economy, strengthen competence of public services and give BiH the attributes necessary for membership in the EU. Wheeler added that the HR cannot implement reforms because domestic authorities have to do it and that is where the HR is involved in the strategy of a high risk.

Vecernji List (page 2, by Milan Sutalo, "Production of reforms and yes-men") – a comment on the ICG's report. The author wonders what would happen during the next elections if the OHR decided to say in the meantime "all right, from now on you are leading the State". Sutalo argues that the IC, embodied in Lord Ashdown, did a disservice to BiH by refusing to let the initiative to local authorities to reform the State, thus making BiH its own prisoner. The author thinks the local politicians have become incapable opportunists who barely read laws let alone make them.

ICG on Dodik	Nezavisne Novine, cover and pg. 6, 'Dodik has no alternative' – ICG report says that SNSD has managed to maintain the level of its success following October elections. However, according to ICG, "those who know Milorad Dodik well say that Dodik is not a nationalist, but he has no alternative, because he speaks what his voters want to hear." On PDP and Party for BiH, ICG says that only one man dominates in each of these two parties. Although they declare to be parties of centre, they are not observed as such in another entity. Namely, PDP is viewed in the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina as more clever and flexible younger brother of SDS, whilst Party for BiH is regarded in Republika Srpska as an SDA clone.

Press conference of IOs in Mostar	Dnevni List (page 16, by D. Kozina, “Medic: Coric supported priorities that international deems important”) – a report from yesterday’s regular press conference of international organizations in Mostar. The daily reports that the Deputy High Representative, Jean-Pierre Bercot, welcomed the verification of the Statute for the joint Employment Bureau of the Herzegovina-Neretva Canton by the Cantonal Government, as stated by the spokesperson of OHR South, Avis Benes. “This was a necessary precondition in order for this Employment Service to start working jointly and properly, providing the same service to all citizens of the Canton. Ambassador Bercot hopes that the other issues on the list of priorities of the Cantonal Government will also be tackled in the very near future”, stated Benes. Spokesperson of the OSCE Mostar, Richard Medic, is quoted as saying that the OSCE welcomes the public support to fast implementation of the eight priorities the IC deems crucial, which was demonstrated by the HNC Prime Minister, Miroslav Coric, on Tuesday. DL goes on to say that the 8th priority is the work on administrative unification of two grammar schools in Mostar, namely the “Fra Dominik Mandic” and “First Grammar School” schools and administrative unification of “two schools under one roof” and carries Medic as calling on the new HNC Minister of Education to issue instructions pertaining to unification of the “two schools under one roof” and start working on unification of the two grammar schools in Mostar. 5c corridor construction	BHTV 1, Oslobođenje pg. 6, mentioned on the front page 'BiH to make profit for sure', Dnevni Avaz front page, pg. 3 'A 120-day deadline given to BOSMAL', Dnevni List front and page 3, by W.R., "Nobody mentions 150 million KM of World Bank for Corridor Vc", Vecernji List front page, "Bosmal get construction of Corridor" and page 2, by Eldina Medunjanin, "Bosmal's offer was also officially accepted", Slobodna Dalmacija last page, by B. Magas, "Green light to Bosmal", Nezavisne Novine, cover and pg. 3, 'BiH CoM is violating Law on concession' Glas Srpske, pg. 2, 'Bosmal bait a hook', FENA – On Wednesday BiH Minister of Traffic and Communications Branko Dokic handed, on behalf of BiH Council of Ministers, to Directors of Bosnian-Malaysian Company Bosmal Nijaz and Edin Sabanovic the response to their preliminary offer for the construction of the 5c corridor through BiH. Malaysian Ambassador to BiH Zakaria bin Sulong and the Deputy Minister of Traffic and Communications, Haris Basic, also attended the ceremony of handing the written response. "With this document an opportunity is given to Bosmal to create conditions so that we could discuss a concession contract in four months. With this document BiH is actually not obligated to do anything, and it just creates a possibility for concluding concession contract if certain conditions are fulfilled," said Dokic. Dokic reiterated that in the next four months Bosmal should provide/pay on the bank account EUR 300 million and create a consortium of banks, which will guaranty their financial ability to realise this significant project, which is estimated at nearly EUR 2.5 billion. Bosmal is obligated to design a feasibility study, which will serve for making the official offer and for activities that will be taken within the BiH institutions with the aim of concluding the contract on concession. Dokic said that there have been certain media speculations on reasons why a public competition was not announced. "At this moment in BiH we are unable to announce a public tender because in line with the Law on Concessions in BiH, we still do not have the necessary elements and projects to make the competition", said Dokic. He claims that Bosmal is engaging in this job with a great responsibility and a dosage of risk. "BiH is not risking anything with this, we will not lose anything even if this job is not successful. We can only gain something. At least we will be able to gain a feasibility study that will serve, if this job is not successful, for conducting further activities on building the Corridor Vc. This is a strategic matter and we will engage in this job regardless of weather this what we have made official today is successful or nor", said Dokic. Director of Bosmal Edin Sabanovic said that a great responsibility now lies on this company. "It is now up to Bosmal to turn talks into deeds and prove that we can do what we talked about so that we all could build a better future in BiH, especially in the economic sense," said Sabanovic.

PDHR Hays visits HNC	BHTV 1, Dnevni Avaz pg. 2 'BiH must ensure economic development', Nezavisne Novine, pg. 6, 'OHR will support acceleration of privatisation', ONASA – BiH imports three KM for every one KM it exports, and thus everyone should contribute to the improvement of economy. The time for strategies, plans and discussions is behind, these things must be changed and everyone's assistance is necessary, Principal Deputy High Representative Donald Hays said on Wednesday in Mostar. Speaking after a meeting with officials of the Herzegovina Neretva Canton and a round-table on privatization, Hays said that BiH needs an "honest and pure government, since the businessmen who work hard should not consider themselves an easy prey for taking away of their money." "The BiH authorities are in a process of comprehensive change of the tax system, in order to make it more transparent and correct. However, the only way to reach adequate tax income is if this country progresses in all segments," Hays said. Commenting on the current situation in BiH, Hays said that the country's domestic debt is more than 100 percent of the GDP, administration costs are around 64 percent of the GDP, while 20 percent of the GDP goes for the services and expenses of politicians. Salaries amount to 40 percent of the total costs of cantons and 35 percent in municipalities. "In March, all prime ministers promised to the PIC that they would launch a reform of public administration, and the goal of that promise is simple – decrease the number of politicians and bureaucrats and spend more on ordinary people," Hays said. Oslobodjenje pg. 10 'Nationalism represent obstacle to privatisation', FENA – Principal Deputy High Representative Donald Hays visited a bolt production company TADIV in Konjic on Wednesday. He discussed production problems with the company management. "We took part in the development of a plan at the level of governments that would help improve the economic situation and one of its segments is aimed at restarting the privatisation process", Hays said after visiting the factory and stressed that TADIV is a company with reputation, good workers, expertise and a strong place at the market. "In order to expand and modernize TADIV needs fresh capital and investments. In such an event the company could double its production and employ new people within a year. The company management did all that was in their power during the past eight years on finding a solution for the pension-disability insurance debt, but their efforts were futile primarily because of the policy of nationalism and also because of a lack of political will", Hays said. TADIV manager Sadik Lepara expressed hope that the Principal Deputy High Representative would inform relevant authorities about problems TADIV is facing and urge them to resolve the debt problem of this company in order to finally create conditions for the sale of this company which is currently employing some 200 workers. Dnevni List (front "Round table on privatization in Mostar" and page 16 "Business people need positive business environment", by D. Kozina) carries a report from yesterday's visit by the Principal Deputy High Representative, Donald Hays, to Mostar when he, together with business persons and Cantonal and Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina officials, took part in a round table dedicated to privatization, boosting of export and problems pertaining to creation of a positive business environment. "This is a unique opportunity that business people point out the politicians problems they are facing during business operations and to tell them what's going on in this area, and politicians are here to hear them out and help you to open to the market", said PDHR Hays stressing that investment into people and labour is all BiH needs. Basic problems that business people in the region are faced with, such as lack of active co-operation between representatives of authority and business people, were discussed during the round table. Slobodna Dalmacija (front and page 19, by Zoran Zekic, "Municipal authorities 'milking' investors") carries the CEO of "Aluminij" Company of Mostar, Mijo Brajkovic, as raising the issue of obstructions in the process of privatization which his company "felt on its skin". "For example, had the privatization process in Aluminij been completed a year ago, today we would have had a foundation stone for a new electrolysis which would employ additional four to five thousand workers", said Brajkovic.

DL on situation in "Aluminij" of Mostar	Dnevni List (front and page 7, by Miso Relota, "Criminal lobbies are trying to destroy Mostar's Aluminij") – says that the focus of domestic public and IC will today be placed on the "Aluminij" Company of Mostar because today there should be meetings between the "Aluminij's" management, led by the CEO Mijo Brajkovic, and delegation of the "DaimlerChrysler" led by Wolker Schmidt. The two delegations are to discuss announcements of increase of price of electricity for the company. Moreover, the President of Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Niko Lozancic, is also visiting "Aluminij" today. Saying that the whole issue about the electricity could endanger the memorandum of understanding signed between the "DaimlerChrysler" and BiH Presidency worth some billion US$, the daily carries the PDHR Donald Hays, as saying: "The interest of Bosnia and Herzegovina is closely related to interest of the Aluminij. Elektroprivreda of BiH is trying to prepare the ground for the talks in order to ensure more financial means for itself. I am sure Mr. Brajkovic will make a reasonable offer within possibilities of the Aluminij d.d. Mostar. But, the obvious political interference into the decision on termination of contract clearly shows that there are still remnants of the nationalistic policy which ruled the country for a long period of time. I believe this will be solved very soon". Slobodna Dalmacija (last page, by Z. Zekic, "Price can always be discussed, however, without ultimatum") carries that the Deputy Speaker of the BiH Parliament's House of Representatives, Martin Raguz, stated that the ultimatum on increase of price of electricity that the Elektroprivreda of BiH sent to "Aluminij" was to put it mildly an absurd and judged that it was extremely damaging not only for "Aluminij" but for the whole of BiH.
New draft Law on Indirect Taxation presented	BHTV 1, Dnevni Avaz pg. 4 'Ashdown has to solve three disputed issues', ONASA – Chairman of the Indirect Taxation Commission Jolly Dixon on Wednesday presented the draft law on the indirect taxation system in BIH to High Representative Paddy Ashdown. According to the draft, the existing inefficient taxation system will be replaced with a modern fiscal system harmonized with the European standards. Dixon said on the occasion that the new law is ambitious and realistic, since it foresees radical changes in accordance to the European principles, which favor a single economic space in BIH. He added that the existing tax administrations are corrupt and politicized, and the new law is to establish new professional body, which will be tasked with collecting of taxes, but in a transparent and professional way.

According to DL, business books reveal some suspicious deals with companies from the Republika Srpska (RS) that are thought to be "fictitious", therefore the FBiH Tax Administration contacted the RS Tax Administration which is also helping out. Inspectors of the FBiH Tax Administration confiscated a big number of documents and computers during the operation that are going to be analysed under supervision of the municipal prosecutor from Vitez.
