US and Austrian Ambassadors, EC head of delegation urge BiH parliaments to adopt const. amendments	RTRS – The US Ambassador to BiH, Douglas McElchany, the Austrian Ambassador to BiH, Werner Almhofner, Head of the EC delegation to BiH, Michael Humphreys, today held a joint press conference in Sarajevo commenting Tuesday's session of the BiH HoR on the constitutional changes. McElchany has warned that those opposing to constitutional changes oppose to future of this state and stressed that public poll conducted in BiH shows that a majority of citizens of BiH supports the constitutional reform. He has also voiced out a message to the BiH HoR members, saying that: "There is a package of amendments at the table today – the package represents the first phase. Until this phase completes, there will be no second phase. People at Parliament must take over responsibility – I see no other alternative to this." On behalf of the US Government, he has stressed that the process of constitutional changes will not resume until this phase completes. Humphreys has stated that the EC President Jose Manuel Barosso has addressed a letter to BiH Presidency, stressing that there should be no deviations from constitutional changes, adding: "This is a unique letter, where the top officials of executive authority of EC address to BiH authority." He has underlined that BiH has a clear European perspective, adding he has always stressed the constitutional changes are not of revolutionary, but evolutionary nature, through which BiH must go. RHB – They stressed that the solution regarding the constitutional changes amendments would be, most probably, reached at continuation of the BiH HoR's session that takes place today. McElhaney did not hide a certain dose of disappointment over the course of the yesterday's debate on the constitutional changes issue in the BiH HoR.

EC's Humphreys: This is not time to define focus of second phase	BH Radio 1 – Head of EC in BiH, Michael Humphreys stressed the changes of the constitution are not a process of revolution but evolution, and she he hope politicians would show responsibility by passing the amendments. "In time, the changes have to be made regarding vetoes that exist in entity vote as well as in the clause on vital national interest. BiH Government, Parliament of this country must have an option to, before all other, lead this country i.e. in case of the Parliament pass decision on behalf of this country. Appropriate mechanisms taking into consideration certain entity and regional differences will always exist in the Parliament, but they will need to change, comparing to the way they are now. Package that is considered now has truly pushed things forward, as much as it was really possible at this moment. But, under assumption that phase one is successful the phase two would certainly happen... This is not the time to define what is in the second phase" said Humphreys.
PDP's Ivanic: Expectation of FBiH 'radical' parties for IC to impose amendments not applicable	RTRS – Mladen Ivanic, BH Foreign Minister, has warned FBiH parties (referring to them as radical) that their expectation IC will impose constitutional reform cannot be applied. He has also stated that it is possible BiH may become a black whole in the region unless constitutional amendments as agreed are adopted, adding responsibility for that would rest with those opposing to constitutional reform.

BiH Presidency member Jovic: const. changes are very important for BiH	RHB – Croat member of the BiH Presidency Ivo Miro Jovic stated that the constitutional changes issue is extremely important for BiH and its citizens. He added that the current Constitution can be changed only through a consensus and compromise and that the things that are being offered now are a small step ahead but they are better than the things that we have. Jovic also said that if the changes were not adopted there are political forces that would be held accountable for the future of BiH. He added that if the amendments were adopted there would be responsibility to implement the things that were agreed upon.
OHR: Wednesday is crucial day for BiH; proposed changes are step towards EU integration	SRNA – Commenting BiH Parliament's debate on amendments to the BiH Constitution, OHR stated that this is the crucial day for BiH, underlining that the proposed changes are an important step towards strengthening the State structures, that will help equip BiH better for EU integration. Reflecting the importance of this debate the PDHR Larry Butler will be in Parliament on Wednesday – as an observer, not a participant.

According to Hayat, Avdic said on Tuesday he would accept the alternative solution that would ensure the abolishment of the entity voting at the state level while entity-voting principle can remain at the "divided level". Gutlic noted that Zilic once again resolutely said that he would not support the amendments to the BIH Constitution adding that they were pressurised by the local and international officials. Inset 'Durakovic: Inadmissible moves' – SDU deputy Nijaz Durakovic: "What US Ambassador Douglas McElhaney has been doing during the breaks is something that would put shame on great, really great American democracy and its diplomacy. For during the breaks, he was 'processing' deputies, drilling them and tries to convince them to vote in favour of offered amendments to the BiH Constitution. It is unimaginable, it is unadmissible." PINK commented that the session presents classic trade of votes, lobbying and rise of tensions. It noticed that the US Ambassador Douglas McElhaney and Tihic talked to deputies individually and stressed the importance of adoption of the amendments.

SDS Cavic, SDA Tihic, HDZ Covic, SDP Lagumdzija, SNSD Spiric are in favour of constitutional changes

BHT1 by Vanja Filipovic – Commenting the session of the BiH House of Representatives on the constitutional amendments, MPs from parties which signed the Agreement deem the debate in the Parliament is nothing more than an ordinary pre-election campaigning. SDS leader Dragan Cavic said: "I have a feeling many questions are being raised for a purpose of pre-election campaign, for needs of daily politics... I am convinced that all those who opposed constitutional amendments would not be able to find any kind of solution themselves." BiH Presidency Chair Sulejman Tihic emphasized that the failure to adopt changes to the BiH Constitution would be a step backwards: "Many IC representatives would begin to wonder whether we are able to agree on anything, and some of them would probably begin to doubt the perspective of this country." RTRS – Talking about the stressed that there was no consensus regarding certain constitutional issues and that those issues would be solved after October elections: "Amendments to BiH Constitution complete one entirety and make hypothesis for continuation of reforms". Cavic underlined during the break: "I have message for those that want good for this country. You have to work together on solving all issues on improving this country and all that you agree would make you more independent. Contrary, you would have international community representatives present forever to make decisions instead of you." BiH HoR Deputy Chair Nikola Spiric argued in favour of the amendments: "I have to stress out that there are more talks regarding procedures than constitutional amendments. Many understood this as pre-election campaign..." SDP leader Zlatko Lagumdzija, who strongly argued adoption of the changes was the only option for BiH's future, said: "It is obvious that this all is a number of people representing minority and who would do all in order to get one more vote at the upcoming elections". HDZ leader Dragan Covic "I believe this (endorsing amendments) is less evil than [situation we live in] today". PDP leader Mladen Ivanic said: "I believe that constitutional amendments would be adopted". Hayat, FTV – also reported.

Sead Avdic int. w/ BHT1 [denying pressure was made]; HoR Deputy Speaker Spiric comment session	BHT late news broadcasts: BHT broadcasted two live interviews with independent deputy in the BiH House of Representatives Sead Avdic, and BiH HoR Deputy Chair Nikola Spiric at the time the session was still on going. Avdic said that after 13 hours of discussion, MPs were in the stage where further discussion was almost physically impossible. He explained that numerous breaks during the session were caused by the fact that there was no majority necessary to adopt the constitutional amendments; therefore, according to Avdic, parties who support amendments are trying to use those breaks to collect more votes in favour of amendments to the BiH constitution. Avdic confirmed that he held numerous talks with various political officials, but added he was under no pressure, even though many considered his vote a crucial one. Spiric deems that certain representatives and political parties are deliberately trying to get those constitutional amendments rejected in a first reading. "They don't want to vote in favour of the constitutional amendments until somebody promises them in advance that their amendments will be accepted during the second phase... That is absolute nonsense", stated Spiric. He emphasized that it will be hard to convince two thirds of representatives from FBiH to vote in favour of constitutional amendments, while in the same time two thirds of representatives from RS are ready to vote for those amendments. Spiric was not able to say when would the representatives vote on the constitutional amendments.

RTRS, Hayat – Two letters, namely from US Under Secretary for Political Affairs Nicolas Burns and Barroso, were read to the deputies, regarding the importance of the adoption of the amendments. In his letter, Burns stressed that US Government has been supporting the process of constitutional changes, while Barroso stated that the adoption of the amendments would send a positive signal to EU that BiH is ready for the integration process. FTV, Oslobodjenje cover splash, pgs 4-5 ‘Second phase disputable, while the first one is not adopted’ by Aldijana Omeragic and Almir Terzic, Inset ‘Support of US Government and European Commission’, EuroBlic pg RS2 ‘Letters of support’, Nezavisne Novine pg 3 ‘Burns: US Government is with BiH’, Glas Srpske cover pg splash ‘Pauses instead of voting’ Inset ‘Burns’ letter’ – also covered. Dnevni Avaz pg 2 ‘USA are by your side at this historic moment’ by A.M. – carries Burns’ letter.
Osl. op-ed: BiH politicians prove that they always think one thing and do the other	Oslobodjenje pg 9 ‘The discussion’ op-ed by Senka Kurtovic– Commenting the Tuesday’s discussion in BiH House of Representatives on proposed amendments to BiH Constitution, Kurtovic referred to behavior of BiH politician, underlining that BiH gains and loses with constitutional reform were discussed least of all. “And so many times in last few months we have heard that constitutional changes aren’t in the interest of one people or one politician, but citizens and this country’s better future. All refers to the conclusion that politicians [as always] think one thing and do the other” , concluded the author.

BH Human Rights Minister Kebo: Washington meetings confirmed second phase of const. reforms is being prepared in Washington	Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'Second phase is being prepared in Washington' By S.S.– During the conversation with BiH Human Right Minister Mirsad Kebo, Director of Department for Southeastern Europe within US National Security Council Bertram Brown emphasized that concepts for the second phase of constitutional reforms are being prepared in Washington. "But, as Brown underlined, condition above all conditions to even come to the second phase, is that the first set of constitutional changes is accepted" said Kebo from Washington for DA. Kebo should Wednesday meet assistants to US State Secretary Condoleezza Rice, after which he would depart for New York to meet Chief of UN Peace Keeping Operations (DPKO) Jean-Marie Guehenno to discuss the issue of decertified police officers.
Cardinal Puljic repeats entity division is unjust, says some Croat politicians are blackmailed, corrupt	Oslobodjenje pg 2 'There are blackmailed and bought among Croat politicians' by VoA, Nezavisne Novine pg 3 'Some Croat politicians have been bought' by VOA, Vecernji List, pg 3 'There are blackmailed and corrupted people in Croat policy', by M. V., Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'There are blackmailed and those who are bought among Croat politicians' by Onasa – The Archbishop of Vrhbosnia, Cardinal Vinko Puljic, warned on Tuesday that there were blackmailed and corrupted Croat politicians. "That was present during the time of Mr. Petritsch (Wolfgang, former HR). He knows well what he did with some politicians. Current politicians are doing the same", said Puljic in an interview for 'Voice of America', adding that he will not be naming the corrupt politicians and that he has enough 'elements' for his statement. The cardinal again opposed the proposed constitutional changes, arguing that the entity division of country was "unjust because it legalized wartime successes". Also in Dnevni List, pg 2 'Some Croat politicians are bought', not signed

SD comment: Croats will end up 'empty handed' after entity division of BiH gets legalized	Slobodna Dalmacija , pg 17, mentioned on front 'Bosniaks and Serbs get half of BiH each, Croats get tickets for The Hague', by Petar Milos – the author notes that the two most prominent issues in BiH in last few days have been the start of trials to 'Prlic and others' and constitutional changes, which are both, claims Milos , related to division of BiH. Milos notes it is absurd that 'Prlic and others' are charged with 'criminal endeavour the aim of which is to divide BiH', claiming that everyone knows the war was started by Belgrade and continued by forces of what is today called the RS. As for constitutional changes, Milos argues they fortify the entity division of BiH and that the Croats will end up 'empty handed' because BiH will be divided into two, not three entities, with assistance of the IC.
VL comment: Const. changes amendments might cause disappearance of Croat people	Vecernji List pg 6 'Blind leaders' by I. Bagaric brings into connection the beginning of the trial to 'Prlic and others' and adoption of the constitutional changes amendments. The author says that it is hard to understand as to why on one side the IC tries to blame Croats for ethnic cleansing, while on the other side the IC awards Serbs for the same thing. According to the author, it is also hard to understand that doubt exists among Croat MPs at all when accepting uncertain future of the Croat people and perhaps their disappearance is in question.
