(NB: the article does not mention anything about the (Croat) entity in BiH despite the headline of the article)

SDP leader
Lagumdzija
on VAT: BiH
to face economic crisis

RHB, Hayat, FTV, Oslobodjenje pg 6, mentioned on cover 'BiH to face economic crisis next year', Nezavisne Novine pg 2 'Adnan Terzic should be removed over false presentation before UN' by D.Muminovic – Participants at the regular Circle 99 session in Sarajevo on Sunday disagreed with allegations that a single VAT rate was the best solution for BiH. They believe that VAT will make the year of 2006 much harder than anyone can imagine.
Professor at the Sarajevo University's School of Economics and SDP BiH leader Zlatko Lagumdzija criticized the work of the BiH Council of Ministers, which, according to him, three years after it was elected was still not functioning properly. The unique VAT rate is not the best solution, but members of BiH CoM are not capable of even thinking about a better but more complicated solution, stated Lagumdzija. "I believe that all the illusions should be dispelled during next year. A man who came to this country four years ago (referring to HR Ashdown) said that it is not important who carries out the reforms, it is important that reforms are carried out. Well, nationalist parties and reforms – it is just a wrong concept", concluded Lagumdzija.

Dnevni Avaz pg 5 'Basic consumer goods should be exempted from VAT', mentioned on cover 'EU is against VAT on information' carries interview with Tokic, in which he presented his views on VAT.

SDS' Botic says
HR measures might prevent party from participating in next
elections; SDS Presidency to hold session
today

RHB, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni Avaz pg 3 'Blocking of accounts creates conditions for banning SDS from participating in elections', Vecernji List, pg 3 'SDS will not be able to participate in elections', not signed – Deputy SDS Chair Mladen Botic confirmed that the High Representative's decision to ban SDS from any kind of financial transactions had been submitted to the SDS Main Board, and municipal/city SDS' boards. He added that this decision was not abolishing SDS but it could easily prevent the party from taking part in the next elections since SDS cannot pay its financial obligations for participation in the election process.

Nezavisne Novine pg 5, announced on cover 'SDS possibly to leave authority' by V. Popovic – Dragan Cavic, SDS President, has scheduled session of the SDS Presidency for today (Monday), noting that the party has been exposed to "all sorts of pressures" and that the party would discuss possible forms of political fight and "defend itself with all means possible from the international community".

Mladen Botic, SDS Vice President, stated: "The situation is much harder than it seems from the surface and all possibilities are open, including the one that SDS may leave authority. We must discuss whether it is possible to survive in this manner or we will reach for more drastic measures, which are – in my view, very likely." He stressed that latest HR's decision related to SDS do not create pre-requisites for the abolishment of the party, but does create pre-requisites for banning the party from participating at the next elections. Momcilo Novakovic, member of the SDS Presidency, stated that following latest HR's decision, "it can be expected that pressures will be exerted against RS Elektroprivreda and RS Telekom to cut off phone and electricity supplies to SDS over debts", since latest HR's decision has disabled payment of any sort of money transaction.

EuroBlic RSpg 2 'They expect power cut' by SRNA – carries statements of Novakovic and Botic

Glas Srpske pg 5 'Silence and dark' – carries statement of Novakovic Vecernje Novosti pg 2 'Concessions in Governments' proposal?' by Sl. Pesevic – Apart from carrying Botic's statement, daily questions whether the RS citizens will be the last to find out that police reform in BiH has already been agreed within the narrow circle of political officials in BiH.

Kunic on police reform	Glas Srpske pg 5 'A struggle for survival' by Sv.Pecic – Petar Kunic, President of the Democratic Forum and delegate at the BiH HoR, has stated in Derventa that strong pressures against RS over police reform have forced us to deal with the issue of its survival instead of focusing on economic development. He stated it would be very hard to preserve RS in the manner done at the moment., stressing: "If we preserve police, for which we should all pledge, we will be able to preserve RS."
Vecernje Novosti on HR's measures	Vecernje Novosti pg 6 'He still does not use execution by a firing squad', announced on cover 'About to execute them before firing squad' by Radoje Andric – Writing about HR's, Paddy Ashdown, measures, the author notes that the only measure HR has not reached for (regarding removal of 59 officials in RS last year) is an execution by a firing squad, moving onto extracts from Venice Commission's Report that are actually not supportive of HR's measures. It carries statement of Radomir Lukic, Dean at East Sarajevo Law Faculty, reiterates he will not act upon HR's decision on his removal, stressing: "Besides abusing rights entrusted to him... Ashdown is demanding from RS to violate Law and undermine rights of Faculties."

Oslobodjenje: Only removals produce results	Oslobodjenje pgs 4-5 'Too mild OHR's punishments did not stop obstructions' by A. Omeragic – Daily comments that the HR Paddy Ashdown has let down public expectations last week when instead of sanctions he only gave warning to the SDS and RS for obstructing the police reform. Examining the influence of different sorts of pressures, author notes that the IC believes that the RS, and BiH along with it, will be punished if it stays outside of the Europe. "The practice demonstrates that this sort of the pressure on BiH officials, especially SDS gives no results," comments the author. She further examines the removals, especially in 2003 when a main reason was an illegal use of property. Next were removals of officials related to Radovan Karadzic, and than those obstructing deference reform. On the latter, in 2004 the HR removed Mirko Sarovic from a position in the BiH Presidency. Sarovic comments that since his removal defence reform has marked a progress, but underlines the question is what is to happen when IC leaves and there is no one to push and threat for solutions. Daily comments that the similar situation is with police reform today, and Sarovic comments that he believes the sanctions will not change much. On the other hand, daily believes that "mild decisions" would not help, giving an example of unsuccessful fines against HDZ for obstructions in education. "Based on all this, it seems that fines did not give results. Neither did warnings. It seems politicians can only be influenced by what they fear the most – losing chair and privileges," concludes the article.

Oslobodjenje op-ed concludes only hope in police reform are Americans	Oslobodjenje 'Anti-climax' op-ed by Ibrahim Prohic – "Paddy Ashdown is on his knees. The collapse of negotiations on police reform confirms the mistakes of the HR's strategy," comments the author noting that HR is now making the mistakes such as lack of consistency, applies double standards, etc. "He warns RS authorities it is not '92, but he acts as it is. The worst, he calls on Belgrade to active its patronage and make pressure on RS leadership. It derogates BiH's autonomy and confirms its dependency on outside factions, and protects RS authorities from responsibility... It seems that even Ashdown is aware of is lack of power," says the author commenting the press conference held last week to warn RS authorities to actions to follow in case of continuous obstruction of police reform. The only hopes, reckons the author, is the interest of the Americans who want to make sure that Dayton Peace Agreement is marked as successful at its 10th anniversary.
VL interview: British ambassador Rycroft on police reform	Vecernji List, pg 4 'Brussels threatening authorities in Banja Luka over police', mentioned on front 'Brussels threatening with sanctions against RS', by Dejan Jazvic – In an interview for VL, the UK Ambassador to BiH, Matthew Rycroft, whilst speaking about the police reform in BiH, notes that Europe will not give up its principles and requests. Asked as to what measures the UK, as the country presiding the EU at the moment, proposes in order to solve the situation, whether to punish political leaders or parties in RS or to apply some sort of isolation, Ambassador Rycroft says: "The solution to the situation is meeting of all conditions set by the EC in order to start with the SAA talks. As we know, the police reform is the only obstacle standing in the path. Reaching an agreement on police reform, abiding by the all three EC's principles, is the solution". Dnevni List, pg 7 'Encouragement to British investors in BiH', not signed – Ambassador Rycroft visited Gorazde (article does not say when) where he was informed about political and economic situation in the canton. On isolation measures against the RS, he said: "(...) Some of them have already started, and they will continue unless in case the RS changes its position regarding the police reform".

EC's Humphreys: Agreement on police reform to be reached in few weeks	Nezavisne Novine pg 8, announced on cover 'Agreement on police reform in few weeks' by N.Krsman – In an interview to daily, Michael Humphreys, Head of EC delegation to BiH, expresses expectation that agreement on police reform in BiH will be reached in few weeks, claiming that EU will not give up on its demands based on three EC principles for police reform. On this he notes: "These three principles have been devised to establish a police force once and for all – force that will be professional, freed of political interference and force to respect the needs of population." He expresses expectation that if agreement on police reform is reached in coming weeks, BiH would be able to launch talks on SAA at the beginning of next year. He stresses everything now rests in the hands of politicians from RS, who should either reach decision or be prepare to face with sanctions.
Filipovic (HDZ): Croat MPs will vote against PBS law	Dnevni List, pg 4 'Croat will appeal to Strasbourg court', by Anja Vrebac – According to an MP in BiH House of Peoples, Ilija Filipovic (HDZ), the Croat MPs in the BiH HoP will vote against the proposed Law on PBS, as instructed by the HDZ's Main Board and National Council. Filipovic announces other measures too: "After the law gets published in the Official gazette, it will be subjected to assessment regarding its constitutionality. If we are happy with declaration of the Constitutional Court, our job is finished, otherwise the next instance is the European Court for Human Rights".
SD on PBS law: Constitutional Court 's judges were wrong	Slobodna Dalmacija, pg 13 'Stop Constitutional Court's judges', by Petar Milos– The author argues that the BiH Constitutional Court's judges were wrong in deciding that the Law on PBS is not endangering the Croats' vital national interests. Milos argues that the judges should know that BiH is also a multi-ethnic country, made of three constituent peoples, in which the Croats want what the other two peoples have in the area of public information. On top of it, Milos claims majority of Croats and their officials are supporting the idea of having a Croat channel.

Comments on upcoming voting on PBS Law in NN: It is possible to adopt the Law, but it will be hard to implement it	Nezavisne Novine pg 4 'It is possible to adopt the Law, but it will be hard to implement it' by R.Cengic – Bosko Siljegovic, Serb delegate at the BiH HoP, claims that the Law on PSB will be adopted, in spite of opposition of HDZ delegates, noting that the fact one people opposes to this points out that it will be hard to implement the Law. He adds: "There were examples so far to see Laws passed hastily and against the will of one people, but problems come to the surface later on during implementation of such Laws." Ante Spajic, Head of Croat Caucus at BiH HoP, says that BiH Constitutional Court initially decided to reject the Law on PBS, but later on altered decision under "somebody's pressure". Tomislav Limov, SDP delegate, expresses his opposition to the Amendment to Law on PBS, refusing to say whether he would vote for adoption of the Law or not.

Cardinal Puljic on position of Catholic Church and Croats in
BiH

Dnevni List, front pg splash and pgs 8-9
'Cardinal Puljic: Property of Catholic Church being taken away even today', by Ivica Glibusic – In an interview for DL, the Archbishop of Vrhbosnia, Cardinal Vinko Puljic, complains that the Catholic Church in BiH is not only having problems in regaining possession of its property, it is also having problems to hold on to what it owns. (NB: he is mostly referring to issue of nationalized property). Asked to assess the position of the Croats – Catholics in BiH, Cardinal Puljic argues that they are not equal in political and any other sense, complaining that the Croats cannot achieve their identity through the schooling system, language equality and media presence. In that context, he notes that international representatives are applying double standards by acknowledging the strong and acting aggressively against the weak.
