extraordinary
BiH
Presidency's
session to discuss Tihic's recent speeches

RHB, FTV, RTRS, Dnevni Avaz pg 3 'Paravac: Tihic spoke on his behalf' by Fena, Vecernji List pg 2 'Standing for Brussels' BiH caused new crises', mentioned on cover, Tihic is pulling Dayton down', by D. Jazvic, Glas Srpske pg 2 'Tihic in his name' by N. Z. – The press release issued by the Cabinet of the BiH Presidency member, Borislav Paravac, reads that the chairman of the BiH Presidency, Sulejman Tihic, attending the conference "The Future of SEE: BiH, Croati and SCG" again addressed the attendees expressing the stances not agreed in the BiH Presidency. In this way, reads the release, Tihic violates the constitution of his country and ignores the fact that BiH Presidency is in charge of the foreign affairs. Paravac adds that Tihic obviously stresses the transition from 'Dayton' to 'Brussels' BiH without previously having such talk in any of the BiH institutions. "Therefore it is obvious that Mr. Tihic uses high ranking and important gatherings for election campaign," release reads adding that Paravac will demand the extraordinary session of the BiH Presidency to be held in order to seek an explanation from Tihic regarding his address to UN General Assembly. Paravac also announced he will seek an explanation from the Croatian Embassy in BiH regarding the statement by the President Stipe Mesic.

Cavic: There cannot be BiH without RS

Dnevni List pg 2 'Cavic: There is no BiH without RS' by Tanjug – At the SDS pre-election rally held in Banja Luka, RS President Dragan Cavic stated that there is no BiH without the RS. He also said that the RS will know as to how to reply to political initiatives for the change of the BiH constitutional organization by using political means.

Nezavisne Novine pg 14 'Cavic: There can be no BiH without RS' by N.N. – Commenting to the address of Sulejman Tihic at the conference in Zagreb where he announced the possibility of changing the Dayton as of next year, Cavic stated that RS does not want the change of the Dayton Peace Agreement, noting that if political pressures and demands from F BiH regarding constitutional re-composition of BiH continued, SDS would demand from the international community that Serbs in BiH are given the same rights as Albanians in Kosovo and Metohija and Montenegrins in SiCG, referring to the right of self-determination if necessary. He noted: "RS has not resulted from a will of Alija Izetbegovic and his political followers, but instead the will and desire of the Serb people. It should be stated clearly there can be no BiH without RS." According to him, SDS is the "the founder of RS in the ideological and political meaning". He further stressed that SDS wants to have a partnership-like relations with the international community, as well as to have dialogue with their opponents, but also to reject majoritarianism. He sent a message to the Bosnian politicians, saying that "persistent insistence on the change of BiH Constitution, without entities, represents a call for backtracking time to beginning of 90's."

Cavic, Lagumdzija, Ivanic on possible constitutional changes	RTRS – RS President Dragan Cavic estimated the political stances of Sulejman Tihic, Haris Silajdzic and Zlatko Lagumdzija in which they advocate the BiH without entities are utopian and they bring BiH back in time which lead to conflict at the first place. Lagumdzija responds saying that the constitutional changes would bring BiH closer to the Partnership for Peace and EU and at the same time reduce the costs of administrative bodies. “Today, BiH spends over 50% of national income more then some other countries we can compare to for administration.” Lagumdzija said. BiH Foreign Affairs MInister Mladen Ivanic feels that change of the Constitution would not gain support of Serbs, Croats or the International Community. “Few days ago, Mr [Reinhard] Pribe, a key person for association to EU, clearly said that it is necessary to live with Dayton’s Agreement, that this is the reality, which can’t be changed” Ivanic stated.

GS interview with Dragan Cavic	Glas Srpske, pg. 2 'Alija provoked the war' by R. Kupresak – RS President Dragan Cavic said in an interview to GS that the Constitutional Court's decision on names of towns requires expertise, even political analyses. He claims RS NA has changed the Law, part of regulations of which were disputable. Nevertheless, Bosniak delegates at RS NA have brought the issue of protection of vital national interest. Cavic claims this issue could have been resolved if the Council for Protection of Vital National Interests had been established at the Constitutional Court and he says that such a situation might lead to a complete blockade of all decisions of RS NA. As a comment on Sulejman Tihic's speech at UN assembly in New York, Cavic says it is ridiculous that Tihic had complained before UN General assembly that there is a need to change BiH Constitution and had asked for the support of the assembly. Cavic says BiH does not need to have UN support to change the constitution and he added: 'In this way, Sulejman Tihic has once again invoked the situation from 1992 – Give us support from abroad, regardless of whether we have support in the country or not, to change the Constitution against will of one of the peoples. I think this is very dangerous message to RS and Serbs in BiH'. Cavic was also asked to comment as to why everyone is talking about the aggression of Serbs against BiH even nine years after the war ended. As a response, Cavic claims that this and similar perceptions are results of a media campaign and said that the war in BiH could have been avoided.

Mission to BiH
urges reforms
to be accelerated

Ambassador Davidson stressed the importance of civil society organizations and active citizens' participation, stating that effective and accountable government required active and engaged citizens and that addressing the needs of the citizen is one of the most fundamental criteria for any European nation. "Much still remains to be done before Bosnia and Herzegovina is ready for the integration it seeks," said Ambassador Davidson adding that the BiH's commitment to strengthen and improve local democracy represented one of the country's most important undertakings. Polovina-Mandic – In an interview given to DL British Ambassador to BiH Ian Cliff says that it will not be easy for BiH to join Europe with three national parties in power since these parties are not natural partners of the EU. According to Cliff, the biggest problem for BiH at the moment is the fact that there is no a political party accepted by all. Cliff also said: "However, as I said after the elections held in 2002, the EU will be working with those parties that BiH citizens elect as long as these parties work on reforms and approaching the European integration."

Ivanic: BiH
became EU's internal affair

Dnevni Avaz pg 2 'BiH became a part of EU's internal affairs', mentioned on cover, by M. Kukan – In a statement for DA, BiH Foreign Affairs Minister Mladen Ivanic says that all of the New York's meetings, especially the talks with the EU representatives, were very successful. "Very positive message has emerged from the meeting of political dialogue between EU and BiH, and that is that BiH will not longer talk to with the Foreign Affairs Commissioner, but with the Expansion Commissioner," Ivanic says adding that this means that BiH will cease to be a matter of the foreign, and became an internal affairs issue. He further adds that there have been a number of indicators that EU countries are ready to assist BiH on its path to the Partnership for Peace, however that it is also clear that BiH cannot join PfP without solving the issues around the cooperation with the ICTY. "As long as ICTY doesn't say that BiH cooperation with the ICTY, it will be very difficult to join the PfP. The issue of Karadzic and Mladic are the issues of the institutions working on that, meaning RS Interior Ministry and state institutions such as SIPA and OSA. I know that there is political readiness, and it is up to those institutions to see whether there is a realistic possibility for something like that to done on the field," concludes Ivanic.
